FACTS, FABLES & FOIBLES. . . .

Somebody had better come to postal clerk Johnny Waterfall's rescue or he is out $11.00. Last Thursday, (May 24th) he took a cheque, made out to the Postmaster for that amount. Unfortunately, the cheque writer forgot to sign it and the bank bounced it and poor Johnny can't remember who gave it to him. . . . .

A tip of the hat to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moat and Mr. and Mrs. Jack James who have put in two days of hard work re-planting the flower boxes in Ganges. 'Tis wunnerful to see someone trying to give a little beauty to the village. And Turner's store is looking bright and cheery with its new paint job. . . . .

For some persons, one consolation of old age is that they can whistle while they brush their teeth. . . .

. . . . Congratulations to the Road Dept. on their fast action in putting up a "Slow to 30" danger sign at the intersection of Baker Rd. and the Vesuvius-Ganges Rd. . . . .

. . . Three S.S.I. ardent fishermen, including one ex-navy type, who have been plying these waters for many a moon, left Vesuvius last Sunday morning for a bit of fishing in Polier Pass. It was foggy and after groping around for a couple of hours, they sighted land and a couple of men on the shore. They pulled over and asked him what Island it was. He answered "Salt Spring". It seems they were somewhere near Fernwood. We hear they finally made it to Polier and caught their limit. . . . .

Speaking of fishing Mr. J.S. West at Weston Lake reports that last week a woman caught a 4 lb. 15 oz. trout with a fly, and her husband caught one weighing 3 lbs. 12 oz. with a spinner. . . . The fiery meteor of last Mon. night was spotted going over Fulford Valley by Mrs. Dave Slingsby and Mr. & Mrs. Al House. It (Cont'd to P.2)

HIGH HONOUR TO ISLANDER

Sgt.-Major Kenneth Byron, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Byron of Ganges, and of the 2nd Black Watch, the Royal Highland Regiment of Canada, has written home from Germany where the regiment is stationed, to say he has been honored by the regiment in being selected to be the Warrant Officer in charge of the color party that will receive the regimental colors from Her Majesty, the Queen Mother, Elizabeth, at a ceremony to be held in Montreal on June 9.

He left Germany on May 21st and traveled to Camp Gagetown to organize and train the color party for the ceremony. He will not be able to visit Salt Spring Island, for he will return immediately to Germany to escort the colors back to the regiment.

The B.C. Toll Ferry Authority has announced that the "City of Vancouver" and the "City of Victoria" will now sail on the odd hours from Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay, connecting with the Gulf Islands ferries. This change should eliminate all the missed connections that have been so prevalent since the two old Black Ball ferries began sailing in these waters.

SPRING GOLF TOURNAMENT

The Spring Golf Tournament will get under way on June 9th and 10th when qualifying rounds will be played. The tournament will be for members and non-members of the S.S.I. Golf & Country Club. The open competition will vie for the Matson Cup (men's) and the Carmichael Rose Bowl (Ladies'). Club members will also compete for the handicapped cups.

HOWARD GREEN SPEAKS IN GANGES

In a speech at Mahon Hall Tuesday night, the Hon. Howard Green, Minister of External Affairs, defended the present Government's action and outlined the action the Progressive Conservatives would take in foreign affairs if returned to office on June 18th. Over 125 people turned out to hear Mr. Green stress the important role that Canada is playing in the world today.

In his opinion, the vital issue of Canada and the world is the tension between East and West and that Canada has and must take an important part in relieving these tensions. "If nations do not learn to live together, civilization will perish", he stated. He went on to say that Canada, under the Conservatives has put more time and energy into the disarmament question than any other country in the world.

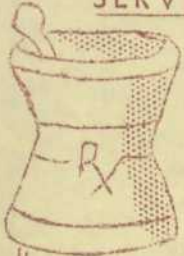

He stressed the growing importance of Canada in the diplomatic field and how many of the new emerging nations look to Canada for leadership and guidance. "Canada is one of the major leaders of the so-called Middle Powers" he said, "and as such Canada must continue to attempt to restore sanity in this crazy old world."

He spoke of the large group of friends that Canada has throughout the world. Nations such as the Scandinavian countries, the new emerging countries, the Commonwealth countries, the NATO countries and the uncommitted countries that trust Canada and believe in her fairness.

He was highly critical of the Liberal's assertion that the present Government had lowered Canada's prestige abroad. He was amazed (Cont'd. to p. 12)

Then the rains came, our pitcher's arm tightened up and the "Salties" blew their lead and lost the game 17-16. . . . And a dispatch from Ipswich, England (sent by a friend in Ottawa) states "Erwarton Hall, official home of HMS Ganges, the Royal Navy's training school in Suffolk, is up for sale. It is owned by Oxford University. The hall was built in 1175."

Whether young or old, alone or in a family group, there is a lot of fun awaiting the people of Salt Spring Island on the archery range of the Rod & Gun Club.

Every Saturday afternoon there are classes and informal competitions for anyone interested in this fine sport. The club, with the cooperation of the Recreation Commission, has purchased the necessary equipment including targets, bows and arrows. This equipment and the range is available to you at a very low cost. For juniors (under the age of 18) the total cost is $1.00 per year; for adults the cost $2.00 per year. This fee, which is a year's membership in the Rod & Club, also covers the cost of insurance. There is NO additional charge for the use of the range or equipment.

If you want to join in the fun or just want to watch the archers come out to the range on Scott Rd. on a Saturday afternoon, or you may phone Vic Jackson or Louis Lorentsen if you desire more information.

The Rod & Gun Club, one of the most active clubs on the Island, are in the process of completing their new club house. The club house, built mostly with donated labour and material is monument to a lot of hard-working people.

The Rod & Gun Club also has a shooting program and for sometime now has been giving instructions to Juniors and ladies in the art of handling a gun. A trap shooting range will be installed shortly and it is hoped to give pistol shooting instruction soon.

Other endeavours by the Rod & Gun club includes their fishing and hunting competitions and the building of fishing floats in the various lakes on Salt Spring Island.

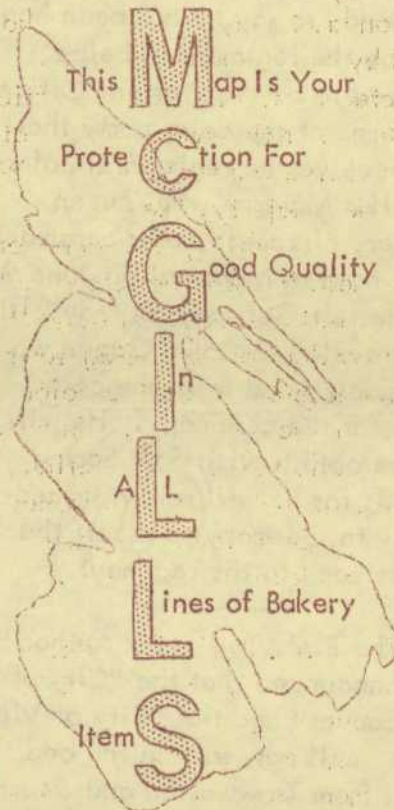

Booth Bay Resort (formerly Aclands) is having Open House this coming Saturday, June 2nd, 1-5 p.m., and the people of Salt Spring Island are cordially invited to inspect the recently-completed modern tourist accommodations.

Mr. & Mrs. Tommy Portlock, who have been residents of S.S.I. since last March, have erected three new buildings containing six complete up-to-date housekeeping units. The buildings located on the waterfront just south of the lodge take full advantage of the view across Booth Bay, and offers the vacationer a pleasant and memorable holiday.

Each unit is completely self-contained with a modern bathroom, electric stove and hot water, fridge, dishes, linen, etc. and has two rooms, a bed-sittingroom overlooking the water and another bedroom.

The new owners expect to complete six more units this coming winter.

Frances & Tommy Portlock, long-time residents of the Yukon and Skagway, Alaska, have been coming to Salt Spring Island since 1959. The Portlocks have one son, Franklin, who is attending the University of Oregon. In Skagway, Mr. Portlock was (cont'd to P. 3)

PRODUCING TURNIPS AND RUTABAGAS

Turnip and rutabaga are essentially cool-season crops and make their most vigorous root growth at relatively low temperatures.

Rutabagas, since they occupy the land longer, may need to be fertilized somewhat more heavily than turnips. Neither of them needs so much potash as most other root crops, but both require as much nitrogen and phosphorus. Manure should usually be applied before seeding, preferably in autumn, and it is often advisable to supplement it with fertilizer. Where no manure is used a complete high-grade fertilizer is desirable. Dark center or brownheart also known as water-core, blackheart, waterheart, mottledheart, raan, and punky core is detected, if present, by cutting into the root, and is manifested particularly in rutabagas, by definite brownish or watersoaked areas at irregular intervals in the tissue. Finely powdered borax is a remedy applied along the row before planting. Thinning is important in turnip and rutabaga growing. The best thinning distance depends on the type and purpose for which the crop is grown. If small growing varieties are grown for bunching, the thinning need not be so severe as when the roots are to be allowed to develop to larger size. Turnips should stand 3 - 5 inches apart, and rutabagas 6 - 8 inches apart in the row. Turnip should be harvested soon after reaching suitable size as the quality rapidly deteriorates. Rutabagas will stand considerable frost, but it is important that the roots be harvested before they freeze. For control of root-maggot apply 2 1/2 % aldrin dust along the row.

Commonwealth and Citizenship Day was observed May 24 when students of Ganges School assembled in Mahon Hall for a special ceremony arranged by H.M. S. Ganges chapter I.O.D.E.

Mrs. B. Earl Hardie, Regent, in welcoming the students said the program had been arranged to help them understand and appreciate their Canadian heritage. Rev. Norah Hughes D.D. gave the prayer for the Queen and Commonwealth. J.M. Evans, principal, paid tribute to the I.O.D.E. and expressed appreciation of the interest shown by the Order in the field of education.

Archdeacon G.H. Holmes introduced the guest speaker, Wm. Storey, a new resident on Salt Spring Island. Mr. Storey, who is blind, chose "Radar" as his subject, and spoke of its importance to this country. He said radar is not a mystery, it is a scientific means of detecting and locating objects on land, sea and air. Radar came into use in World War 2, he said, as a means of detecting enemy attacks. Since the war, its use has become invaluable for shipping, aircraft, and commercial fishing, and is now used for land survey work he said.

Mr. Storey spoke of the hazards faced by mariners before the advent of radar. Research on radar is continuing he said, to make it still more useful in overcoming dangers of darkness and fog.

Mr. Storey urged the students to learn as much as possible, to have confidence in themselves, and to remember that life is what we make it.

Bruce Murakami, in thanking Mr. Storey, spoke from the floor below the platform, as a mark of esteem held by the students for Mr. Storey. Mr. Storey in reply thanked the Islanders for their kindness to him, saying that people here take time to be kind.

After the singing of "The Maple Leaf", a costumed play, "The People of Canada", was staged by grade four pupils under direction of Mrs. G. Burge and Mrs. H. Carlin. Taking part were the following: fisherman, Teddy Mollet; fur trader, John Godlewski; squaw, Fiona Seward; voyageur, Mike Wallace; soldier, Pat Kelly; pioneer, Angela Brigden; citizen, Dawn Kyler; farmer, Danny Akerman; lumberjack, Leonard Fraser; immigrant, Andolie Williams; fireman, Colin Horel; policeman, David Beech; miner, Fleming Villadsen; factory worker, Elaine Young; railroader, Michael Jarman; Women of Canada, Glenna Kaye; children of Canada, Marie Hughes, who also gave the epilogue. Heather Anderson was pianist.

Following the program, which was arranged by Mrs. H. Carlin, I.O.D.E. educational secretary, the teachers were guests of I.O.D.E. members at afternoon tea served in United Church Hall. Mrs. Gavin Mouat was convener, assisted by Mrs. E. Gear and Mrs. Mary Fellows.

What was good enough for us in the way of an education is certainly not good enough for our children, Mr. J. Sharples, Supervisor of Special Services in the National Employment Service, told the Salt Spring Island P.T.A. last Tuesday night. One hundred years ago, 80% of Canada's population lived on farms and required little schooling; but the percentage of farm labourers is now under 17% and Canada's increasing industrialization means that the educational requirements are rising too. The close correlation between employment and education is now recognized by governments in Canada which are pouring millions of dollars into the construction or improvement of 236 advanced technical training schools. Up to March of 1962, the estimated costs of these facilities was over $275,000,000, of which the Federal (Cont. to p. 5)

(Cont'd. from page 4) . . . government's contribution was over $180,000,000. Mr. Sharples discussed the training now available at the B.C. Vocational School in Burnaby, at the Vancouver Vocational Institute, and at the Nanaimo Vocational School and outlined plans for the new B.C. Institute of Technology to be completed in Vancouver by September of 1963. This information is now available at the Ganges school, from Mr. J. Evans. Financial assistance may be provided when such assistance is needed, both to high school graduates or to older men or women wishing to take further training. The scope of available vocational training is exceedingly broad and anyone interested should certainly have a talk with Mr. J. Sharples at the National Employment Service office at 1039 Johnson St. in Victoria. Mr. Sharples also spoke to the students in Grades 10, 11 and 12. It's a wonderful thing when you are young to have a dream, he said, but a dream is not enough. You've got to do some hard work to make the dream a reality.

Back when they raised the Salt Spring Island youngsters to be rather tough, a local man, accompanied by his twelve year-old son, was out hunting down a marauding cougar with his single shot rifle. They spotted the cougar on a large windfall and when the father shot it, it fell off the far side into a salal patch.

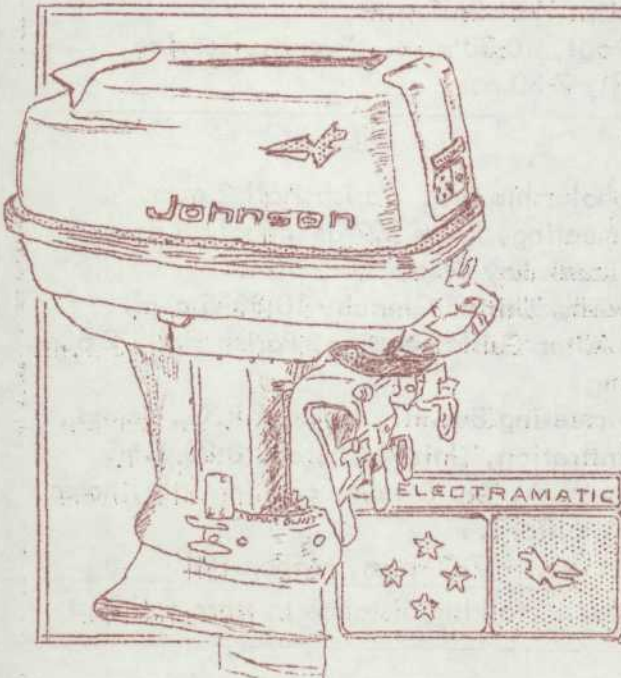

"Now son," the father said, "while I'm re-loading, you climb over and see if that cat's dead".

This week marks the 60th anniversary of the signing of the Peace of Vereeniging which ended the South African War. To honor the men who served in that war and who are resident on Salt Spring, a small informal dinner will be held next Monday at Harbour House. Hosts will be the executive of the Royal Canadian Legion. After dinner the Boer War veterans will attend a Legion meeting and smoker at the Legion Hall, where they will be further honored. Invitations have gone out to the following South African veterans: F. Ball, R.T. Britton, A. Davis, L.B.D. Drummond, W.D. McLean, J. Mitchell, J.N. Snape, and E.G. Moore. Another Island veteran H.C. Carter is presently in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jebson will be celebrating their 50th Golden Wedding anniversary in June, and they are holding an open house at the Fulford Hall on June 9th, at 7 p.m. Bob and Norah expect to meet old friends and new and are anticipating a happy evening for everyone. A special wedding cake is being made by Mrs. Stan Fox in Victoria, and friends and relations from out of town are hoping to be present to add their good wishes and congratulations.

The great problem of today, as it has been for all time, is the inability of man to adjust his life and his society as rapidly as his technological advances. In the very beginning, man had only animalistic problems, with survival as the main, all-consuming problem. He had no moral codes, no hierarchy, no social structure of any kind, except the instinct to herd together for survival. The strongest man had the best diet, the most respect and had more women than the weakest who died out by starvation or a bashed-in head. There was no need for a leader, for there was nothing to lead. There was no need for a social organization for there was nothing to organize.

But one day, in that dim, dark past, a man used his intelligence. He harnessed fire, or built the wheel or invented a superior weapon. These harrowing discoveries and inventions had the result of upsetting the animal existence of the physical strong being the dominate force. Now the weak, under-muscled "egghead" of his day could survive and even conquer the physical strong by the use of his intelligence. This, of course, caused utter chaos. To over-simplify, a social order was inevitable. Moral codes, taboos, religious rituals and a social pecking order was instigated to gain, retain or re-gain power.

Unfortunately, man at that time, was more physical than intelligent. His first thoughts, his first intelligent thinking was to use his intelligence to gain or insure a physical advantage over his fellow man. This meant wars.

Intellectual advancement continued, but man's adjustment continued to lag. As long as there was a lag, his intelligence was used, in the main, to secure a physical advantage. Through history the balance of power shifted, i.e. From the Greeks to the Romans to the Huns. As intelligence grew, armies got bigger, and man, this inheritor of the earth, had advanced himself from tribal fights, through national wars to the present day where the world is divided between two war-like camps. Our intelligence tells us that having the world divided into two atomic forces capable of destroying civilization, is crazy, unthinkable and nutty as a fruitcake-- but our heritage from the cave-man will not let us do away with the physical domination that hangs over our heads.

Today we live in an age where we talk of landing on the moon, of cutting through steel with an instantaneous flash of light, of automation, of mechanical brains, of technical achievements that, for all intent and purposes, should eliminate the need for physical action and re-actions. But in spite of our centuries of (Cont'd to Page 8)

LETTER-TO-THE-EDITOR. . . . . "Dear Sir: On behalf of the Fulford Hall Committee I would like to express our appreciation to the various organizations and individuals who cooperated so willingly with us to make our Victoria Day Celebration a success. Although it is primarily a Fulford project, we are grateful for the help of people from other parts of the Island.

We would particularly like to thank the members of the S.S.I. Lions Club for all the help they have given us and especially Mr. Bill Trelford who so ably replaced Mr. Doug Dane as M.C. at the May Queen Ceremony and at the dance. Also special mention to Miss Elizabeth Dane who "pinch-hitted" for her father in providing music for the ceremonies. Mr. Dane has been doing this job for many years but, owing to illness was unable to be with us this year and we were fortunate to have his daughter to take over for him.

Thanks are due also to DRIFTWOOD for his news coverage of this event. (Signed) Ruth I. House, Secretary, Fulford Community Hall Association."

S.S.I. PHATHOM PHANTOMS. . . . . The S.S.I. diving club attended the V.I.C.D. dive at Port Alberni on the weekend of May 21. The hosts, the Port Alberni Club, held the dive for four hours by boat on the Alberni Canal. At that point some 60 divers from all over Vancouver Island investigated the sunken wreck, the Theipval. The Theipval was a 125 ft. steam driven vessel, 32 years in 50 feet of water. Our club members enjoyed the dive and the boat ride. We hope to receive some of the divers of the Port Alberni club in the future for a dive in our waters.

On May 27 our divers arrived at Portland Island where a dive and then a beach party was held. The divers wives also entered the water to see and enjoy the underworld. The sport of skin and scuba diving is one which everyone can enjoy and should. The club arrived back at Ganges at 4 p.m.

(By Correspondent). . . . . Our wonderful world of animals which so closely parallels that of the humans has been under observation by yours truly lately and has proven amusing to say the least. In a field nearby were some cows and half a dozen sheep. Head of the sheep family being a "mean wittle ram" who looked as if butter could not melt in his mouth. He was forever seeking trouble and finding it. He bullied the cows incessantly and they being young cows were quite evidently unused to fleecy fiends. He was seen going over to one and butting at her and tormenting her, while she was to say the least bewildered. She tried to avoid him but he persisted in following her around and tormenting her. A second young cow came to offer assistance but she too was at a loss as to how to handle the "mean wittle ram". He was really enjoying himself at their expense. But wait! Help was in sight. A matronly type cow with long slightly curved horns showed up. Walking ever (Cont'd to P. 9)

so slowly and deliberately she advanced upon Mr. Ram and lowering her head picked him up and tossed him in what might best be described as a 'flying mare'. Wrestling fans take note! He landed flat on his back; nothing was hurt but his dignity. Arising slowly he meandered off to a far corner of the field looking even more sheepish than a sheep. And from that time on the "mean wittle ram" was never seen bullying inoffensive cows. The moral is obvious.

"LIFE AT PEACE" by Tom Power

Church bells sweetly chiming,
Songbirds lowly rhyming,
Sunset o'er the vale declining
The old at Peace reclining
One day of life unwinding.

A new day again rejoicing
Songs of love enticing
The young at heart romancing
Again the daffodil is dancing
Ah, peaceful life, most enchanting.

A FAIRY TALE. . . . . Once upon a time, long, long ago, in this fairy land of ours, there lived a Logger, a Fisherman, a Tourist, and a Little Fellow who did nothing. For many, many years they lived in harmony, and loved each other as only fairies can. The Logger logged, the Fisherman fished, the Tourist toured, and the Little Fellow did nothing.

The Little Fellow was a source of good-natured amusement for the Logger, the Fisherman, the Tourist. But the Little Fellow did not mind, for he was happy and was doing nothing. Oh, the Logger laughed, the Tourist tittered, and the Fisherman found it fun.

"Look at me," said the Logger. "I'm busy. I cut down trees, and people can build things from the lumber. I am doing good. But look at you, Little Fellow, you do nothing but play and sing and run through the woods and scramble on the beaches. What I do is good"

"Look at me," said the Fisherman. "I am busy with my nets and my hooks and I feed many, many people. I am doing good. But look at you, Little Fellow, you do nothing but sit in your tiny boat, with your tiny hooks, and doze in the sun, and don't really care whether you catch a fish or not.

What I do is good."

"Look at me," said the Tourist. "I come to this fairy land as fast as I can, and I rush about and fill myself with all this beauty, and I spend lots of money. But look at you, Little Fellow, you do nothing. You cannot fill yourself with this beauty, because you live here and do not really see it. And you spend no money. What I do is good."

So, for many, many years, all were happy and life was serene. The Logger logged, the Fisherman fished, the Tourist toured, and the Little Fellow did nothing. But after awhile, the Little Fellow was finding it harder and harder to do nothing. He had to walk further and further to find a forest, in which to play and sing and do nothing. He had to row further and further to find a place to fish with his tiny hook, and doze in the sun. And with so many tourists, he was finding it harder and harder to do nothing on the beaches. He became very unhappy.

Unhappy, sitting in his tiny cabin, he thought and brooded and brooded and thought. For days he never went out to do nothing. Then he had a happy thought. He decided to do something! He wrote a letter to his queen and poured out his heart and told her how hard it was for him to do nothing. The queen, wanting all her fairies to be happy, wrote to the Logger, the Fisherman, the Tourist and asked, "Why are you causing so much trouble for the Little Fellow? He finds it very hard to do nothing."

The Logger wrote his queen, "It is not I, it must be the Fisherman." The Fisherman wrote, "It is not I, it must be the Tourist." The Tourist wrote, "It is not I, it must be the Logger." Naturally, the queen was dismayed at the answers, and not being the wisest of queens, she did not know what to do. Finally she wrote to the Little Fellow, "Perhaps if you did something instead of nothing, everyone would be happy."

And the Little Fellow did something. He divided his land, sold the trees to the Logger, the lots to the Tourists, and hired the Fisherman to take him to another fairy land.

And none were really happy ever after.

While most of the names of our islands, mountains, bays and points may be traced back to the Spanish explorers or the English ships that plied these waters, very little is known of the origin of Trincomali Channel. Many think that it is derived from some West Coast Indian tribe.

However, Lt. (R.C.N.) Pat Crofton recently discovered a Trincomalee in Ceylon while cruising in that area on a destroyer escort. It is quite possible, therefore, our Trincomali Channel was named by an English sailor who was reminded of a similarity with this far off place in Ceylon.

Mrs. W.D. Stewart wishes to announce the marriage of her eldest daughter, Margaret, to Mr. John S. Duncan, youngest son of Mrs. Donald L. Stewart of Galiano Island, B.C.

According to information received, the re-location of the North End Rd. will be finished in June.

As it is nearing the "Month of brides", we hasten to quote from our ancient cook book, concerning the problems of setting up a household.

"Before any steps are taken, the income or pecuniary means of the parties about to commence housekeeping, should be well considered. It is not well to rush into matrimony without due attention to such sublunary matters as dollars and cents; for the notion that when once a couple is married, all will go right, is a foolish one. A young man with an income of four or five hundred dollars, every cent of which has been annually swallowed up by his own expenses, falls in love with a young lady who can sing and play well, speak French and produce marvels in the way of crochet or ornamental work, who loves sentimental poetry and romance, and can trim herself a neat bonnet; but knows little of the realities of life. Having never known what it is to want any thing - she has no idea that any thing can be wanted. The young man feels certain in his own mind that a wife will be an actual saving to him; and makes an eloquent declaration of his affection. The prospect for the future is but slender; for he ignores the fact that he has been accustomed to spend half his income on clothes and amusements, which he does not think of doing without; and she forgets how much she is in the habit of spending on gloves, ribbons, perfumes, et cetera. When they are married - the bridal dress and entertainment not being reckoned among their expenses - they find themselves fettered by a thousand inconveniences, and obliged to deny themselves (Cont'd. to p. 12)

 that a former Minister of External Affairs could say such a thing and accused the Liberals of copying the facts of the Democratic party, used against the Republicans in the last U.S.A. election. He asserted that this irresponsible political attack was "bad business and Pearson's worst mistake".

He outlined the difficulties the Commonwealth countries will face when Great Britain becomes a member of the European Common Market. He said that our $900,000,000 trade will be seriously affected and the political ramifications will be great. He spoke highly of the Commonwealth and what a wonderful link it was between races and nations. He said the British deserve much credit for the way they prepared the new nations to govern themselves.

Point by point, he attacked Liberal criticisms of the present Government. He stated that the Liberal policy on nuclear weapons was no different than the Conservatives', and that is "not to expand the neu-clear club". In 1960 the Liberals were advocating devaluation of the dollar and that now the P.C.'s have done so, the Liberals are yelling "blue ruin".
 On deficit spending, he claims the Liberals are promising to spend more and more money. "If we have to go to jail for spending, the Liberals will have to go to jail twice as long", he contended.

He concluded that a Government lead by John Diefenbaker will be a humanitarian Government with a great interest in the individual Canadian. He cited the Bill of Rights, progress in Indian Affairs, housing, penal reforms, winter work programs, etc.
 "Do you want a government which has done these things and is prepared to drive ahead with faith and optimism or do you want a group that is preaching blue ruin — the same men who are the relics of that closure action taken in the pipe-line debate?" he asked.

Preceding Mr. Green, W.F.
 Matthews, M.P. for this riding, seeking re-election, stated that the present government has done more than any other government has ever done in such a short time.

Mr. Maurice Atkins, President of the local Progressive Conservative association, chaired the meeting. He introduced Mr. Matthews, and Mr.
 Des. Crofton introduced Mr. Green. A question and answer period followed.

(Cont'd. from page 11). . . . travelling and many other kinds of recreation; more than that, they discover that the etiquette of this enlightened age, imp-eriously demands reckless expenditure, when common sense would advise more than usual economy; and without losing the social position they aim to preserve, they can do nothing but submit. What an effect on the success of after-life must be such a beginning!

However, we do not consider it our mission to enter on Quixotic quarrels with the ways of the world. It is, as our young people soon find — "A very good world to live in,
 To lend, to spend, or to give in;
 But to beg, or borrow, or get one's own,
 'Tis the very worst world that ever was known."

In taking a house, the first matters to be considered, are the rent we can afford to give, or the money that can be devoted to its purchase, and the locality that suits us best.

A dwelling in town affords many opportunities for social intercourse, amusement, and the acquisition of general knowledge; a suburban residence offers some advantages in healthiness of location and convenience. The remote country has a distinct class of enjoyments, though want of society often makes time pass slowly.
 From $150 to $400 a year will pay for part of a house in a city, and much less in a village. (to be cont'd)
