WATERWORKS ANNUAL MEETING

North Salt Spring Waterworks District is now solvent for the first time in several years, reported C.R. Horel, chairman, in presenting the trustee report at the annual meeting, held Feb. 26 in Mahon Hall. All due bonds, defaulted bonds, and other costs have been met, he said.

Superintendent Peter Cartwright's report, incorporated in the trustees report, reviewed work done during 1963. The last wood in the system - on Rainbow Road - was replaced with 1,000 feet of 4 - inch transite pipeline. At Vesuvius the existing 1,000 feet of 1 1/4 inch pipe was replaced with 4 inch transite. A total of 26 new services were installed; other services were overhauled and renewed. Storage tanks were cleaned and mains flushed. A daily check-including Sundays was carried out to assure proper operation. The Board praised Mr. Cartwright's work in maintaining a high standard of efficiency in the system.

The trustees' report anticipated a major renewal program in the outline of replacement work scheduled for 1964. A 100,000 gallon tank is planned to replace the present Ganges storage tank; 1,000 feet of transite will be laid in Vesuvius and another 4,000 on Sunset Drive.

Trustees expressed the belief that some modification of rates should be possible in 1965.

Douglas Cavaye was re-elected to the Board. G.S.

SCOTT ROAD LOTS PROTESTED

About 15 delegates from Old Scott Road were present at the Chamber of Commerce meeting last Thursday to protest a new subdivision of the old Abbott property.

LOCAL DOCTOR DIES OF INJURIES

Dr. Frederick Brodie, aged 82 was fatally injured February 28th in Stockton, California when he was hit by a car. The police report said Dr. Brodie was walking across a busy street, when he apparently became confused and stepped in front of a car.

Dr. Brodie had resided on Salt Spring Island since his retirement from practice in Vancouver about 15 years ago. For the past several years he has spent each winter travelling in the West Indies, returning to his home on Douglas Road for summers.

Some years ago, Mrs. Brodie died in a car accident on Vancouver Island.

Following cremation in California, the remains were returned to Vancouver.

Nephew of Dr. Brodie, Mr. M. Gordon Brodie and his wife were island visitors this week.

Humphreys was chosen to replace retiring trustee T.A. Millner. C.W. Harrison was appointed auditor.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Millner who has served as trustee since 1948.

C.R. Horel explained to the meeting that the subdividers had maintained the legally required 1/3 acre lots and that they are not required to provide an adequate water supply system.

The property, consisting of about 900 feet water frontage has been subdivided into 75 foot lots. It is located on steep ground which seemingly does not lend itself to such narrow lots. The steepness of the land from the road makes access to likely building sites very difficult.

Delegates questioned aspects of sanitation and water supply.

It was recommended that Chamber of Commerce executive appoint a committee to investigate the feasibility of establishing a Local Planning Committee under auspices of B.C. Statutes to undertake a measure of control in subdividing properties.

FERRY EMPLOYEE RE-EMPLOYED

Mr. Herb Chubb, B.C. Ferry Authority employee who recently resigned on request, went back to work this week with B.C. Ferries.

Mr. R. Worley, of B.C. Ferries stated that Mr. Chubb would be re-employed following a hearing in Victoria Feb. 25th. Mr. Worley asserted that there will be no prejudice toward Mr. Chubb by the Ferry Authority.

DRIFTWOOD wants to thank those persons who have continued to send letters and express concern verbally over this employee's experience.

WEATHER REPORT

Precipitation for February measured 2.44 inches, exactly the same as recorded for Feb. 1963; but last year's figure included snow - 1.59 inches of rain and .85 inches of snow made up the total moisture deposited on SSI during February a year ago.

Last month was warmer than Feb. 1963. This year's high of 54 degrees on the 22nd and low of 31 degrees on the 6th, 7th and 13th compares favourably with last year's figures showing high of 57 degrees on the 3rd, and low of 24 degrees on the 24th and 25th.

Maximum and minimum mean temperatures for last month were recorded at 47.0 and 35.04 degrees respectively.

Howard Carlin, Ganges weather observer, said rain in February has been much heavier in some years and cited 9.09 inches in 1961 and 4.39 inches in 1960 as examples.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

To observe Education Week, the P.T.A. will sponsor an Oratorical Contest in Mahon Hall tonight at 7 p.m. Two children from each class grades 1 through 12 will speak on a subject of their choice.

An added feature this year will be an art display. Work of the students of Mr. Dave Anderson, Adult Education program will be shown. Mr. Anderson, a well-known Victoria artist, says that two of his students, Ike Bennett and Ginny Horel show more promise than any work of children in his previous classes. Charcoal sketches and oils will be featured.

RED CROSS DRIVE

In conjunction with the Victoria District Red Cross fund raising campaign, Islanders will be canvassed between March 4th to 28th. Mrs. P. Lazenby is in charge of the drive from Cranberry and Beddis roads to the north end.

This year's campaign objective is $80,500 for the Victoria District. The local campaigners have planned a door to door canvass starting yesterday and to continue to March 28th.

"Your Red Cross Serves You every Step of the Way", says campaign headquarters. You can help by giving, when the canvasser knocks at your door.

BAD NEWS FOR HUNGRY

Word came in late Wed. from Miss Gwen Ruckle, that the now famous Beaver Point Bean Supper will have to be postponed indefinitely.

Illness is rampant down thataway, & Beaver Point ladies, who for the past ten years have arranged to feed us all the goodies have been hard hit with flu.

Mr. & Mrs. Chas. Hougén, Santa Rosa, Calif. spent several days with Mrs. Hougén's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. Goodman, Ganges. Mr. & Mrs. Hougén were former owners of the White Elephant Cafe in Ganges.

FIFTY YEARS WITH GANGES WATERWORKS

A salute to Mr. Vernon Case Morris who has completed 50 years with the Ganges water system, was made by chairman C.R. Horel on behalf of North Salt Spring Water District trustees at the annual meeting, Feb. 26.

Mr. Morris saw the laying of the first water line from Maxwell Lake to Ganges in 1914. At that time he was employed by the old Ganges Water Company, and is still associated with its successor, the public-owned water system.

UNITED CHURCH WOMEN

February meeting of Naalight Unit UCW was held on the 24th at Miss Emily Smith's Vesuvius Bay home, with Mrs. N. Vodden in the chair. Pastor Dr. Norah Hughes and 12 members were present.

Mrs. S. Rogers took the mission study and Miss Zella Manning gave the devotional talk.

Officers chosen for the coming year include: president, Mrs. Vodden, vice-president, Mrs. M. Sober; sec.-treas. Mrs. J. Mollison. The new officers will be installed at a church service.

Following presentation of the secretary's report by Mrs. Mollison, members discussed present and future business.

Church literature, available to those desiring it, will shortly be placed in the church vestibule by the Noralight Unit.

Tea hostesses for the evening were Miss Mary Corbett and Mrs. J. Netterfield.

WHAT IS AN ISLAND?

An island is a bit of land surrounded by water—smaller than a continent and larger than a reef. An island is a place people dream about and romanticize about. An island is what we live on. An island has a spirit and an aura that is different from a continent. Part of its spirit comes from the beauty of beaches and woods. Part of its spirit comes from the mystery of isolation. But most of its spirit comes from the people who choose to live on an island. Such a spirit can be maintained so long as its residents continue to want an island to live on.

But ambivalence creeps in. We want to live on an island but we also want all the advantages of urban life. We want to be progressive without changing. We tend to want the 'good life' without paying the price.

What is the answer? Perhaps careful and thoughtful planning and forethought by all interested persons may help to preserve our dream island and still bring us those things that are necessary to modern life.

Ferry service is excellent. We agree with our M.L.A. Mr. Stupich that present fares can sometimes work a hardship on families. But we cannot agree that we should ever want free ferries. This essential would make us a part of the mainland and Vancouver Island and could break the spirit of our island. It could become a whimpering, sickly suburb of Victoria. Worse yet, it could become a decrepit whining, 'well-lit' resort area with amusement parks, screaming litter-bugs and broken down unpainted hot dog stands.

What is an island? An island is our home and where our heart is. Shall we nurture its precious island spirit or shall we go all out for progress?

LETTERS - TO - THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: "No doubt you saw the "Gulf Island" series in the Times. However, the writer overlooked one important fact—a fact I have been telling my fellow islanders for years—these islands have no real name. They have never been titled by the province. Also, the odd paradox—there are no gulfs in British Columbia. . .not since the Gulf of Georgia was changed to the Straits of Georgia way back in the 19th century. This disturbing fact was pointed out by Robert Froman in his book titled ONE MILLION ISLANDS FOR SALE, saying—"none of the waters in the area is named the gulf of anything." No wonder people outside the area cannot find them on the map!!!

Besides—why should we hang onto an "old-time handle" that is now inaccurate, misleading and devoid of any color (islands are synonymous with romance . . . escape, etc.), that neither this generation or future generations are likely to understand or appreciate?

I am sick of Americans referring to our islands as the "Canadian San Juans." Yet, what else can they call them? They aren't on the map and they have no official name like their own. Let's give our islands an official title, a title that means something, a title that people in the States and eastern Canada can find on the map or chart—above all, a title that does justice to their incomparable beauty. For what else have they? Think of the Thousand Islands! What beauty and romance they conjure! The Hawaiian Islands . . . the Bahamas . . . the Canaries . . . all designate a definite place, all the names have "color" and all can be found on any good map. Our islands—the crown jewels of British Columbia deserve a better fate than obscurity. They are the last island group in the western hemisphere—possibly the world, that remain untitled. What a challenge it would be to put them "on the map"! Let's get the ball rolling and give them a proper and official name!

The "Gulf Islands" do not officially exist—so there is no name to change and according to the Dept. of Lands and Forests, the procedure for the province to name them is quite simple. Why don't we call them the PRINCESS ISLANDS? It ties in geographically (Princess Margaret's Island) and historically (Princessship era) and the name has beauty, dignity and color. What more can you ask?"

NOTES FROM WOODY . . . (Fisher that is) dated Jan. 24 - delayed mailing to Feb. 26th.

Seeing how my old friend, Mr. H.B. Dickens (friend, I say, although we never met except on paper with pens unsheathed) has been reduced to writing poetry, it is time I wrote something for DRIFTWOOD, still my favorite newspaper.

At present, I am sitting home slightly improved and almost on the brink of recovery from the effects of a deadly species of flu.

This particular strain (Chilliwackian Veddercanalitis) coarsing through my bloodstream is unique because it skips every fifth person, making it ideal for playing bridge. This way you are always assured a fourth ill or not. However, loaded with germs and a high fever does add a certain recklessness to the bidding which may run the cost of your illness to a higher amount than if you had gone to the hospital.

Now that I have mentioned bridge, I will take it upon myself to explain the game to the uninitiated.

Bridge is the second most popular indoor sport—the first being a game invented by the first being, which gives his game a whale of a head start over bridge.

Bridge is a game played for fun and joy by wives & husbands against other wives and husbands. It is a co-operative adventure which brings out the higher, finer instincts of man and his mate as they face and conquer a challenging team from across the street.

As you can well see, bridge is a team game. Here you will notice, time after time after time, husbands making brilliant superior plays and the wives sharing their mates load by making all the mistakes. Two-timing in perfect rhythm, husbands lead aces and wives promptly trump them -- to show their true love for the man and the game. The man, strong and stalwart no matter the odds, silently forges ahead in the bidding, ever-mindful that the yelps and prattles of his help-mate are creating a marvelous delaying action which confuses the enemy and the bidders.

Bridge is not only delightful to play, but delightful to talk about. One of the most delightful moments of the game is the post-mortem. Post-mortems are usually held, in loud clearly enunciated words of precise thought, right after a wife succeeds, against great odds, in going down five, doubled, redoubled and vulnerable. The husband's beet-red face, at this time, clearly denotes his utter surprise—that his wife could do the impossible.

"Go down five on that hand?" he asks incredulously, as he tips over the card table in sheer delight.

"It was easy," she replies sweetly, "You gave me a lot of help with that one club opener, with only 14 points."

"But it was just a simple opener," he says humbly. "I had no idea you would think it anything else."

"Added to my ten points and the ace of hearts I had mistakenly put in with my diamonds, I figured we had enough for a grand slam," she replied, still smiling sweetly.

"Your bidding of the hand was only exceeded by your playing," the husband said, as he bowed toward her with a great flourish, barely missing with a judo chop to the neck.

"Please, enough of praise. Let us not mention the hand again," she asked modestly.

In fact, they did not say much to each other, about bridge or anything, for the next three days for they were filled with the wonder of it all.

Well, enough of bridge, and I hope all the great lady bridge players on SSI will know that I am really joking --- really, I am.

What I wanted to do was to take this enforced leisure time to say hello to all of Salt Spring Island. It is still my favorite place.

In case anyone has been wondering who is being inflicted by my presence, I am at present working for three newspapers in the Fraser Valley - the Abbotsford News, Chilliwack Progress and Mission Herald.

The Progress, a great newspaper, was until a year or so ago, owned by Les Barber, who retired at a young age to a lovely home on Echo Ridge at Vesuvius.

Proving that it is a small old world, especially between SSI and the Fraser Valley, Ex-Cpl. Smith (RCMP police boat commander in Ganges about three years ago) who left SSI to return to New Zealand, now lives in Chilliwack and works at the Agassiz prison camp.

Same small world has Bill Mouat, brother of Mac and Laurie, being school supt. at Abbotsford, where Robin Harrison, chip off the Chuck Harrison block, now works in the research division of a brick plant.

Also saw two dogs loping along the Trans-Canada Highway looking like Moby Stanton of Old Scott Road and Lucky Anderson of Fulford, but surely, that is impossible, even for those two!

However, pink seagulls have not been sighted here yet. Keep up the good work -- see you all about Eastertime.

THE HUNDRED HILLS

A start on a (major new) land development project (was announced by Salt Spring Lands Ltd. this week) in the area above Ganges Harbour, (adjacent to the paved road) to Fulford.

The 300-acre development has been initiated by H. & P. Holdings Ltd., a local company associated with Salt Spring Lands, and the project will be known as The Hundred Hills in reference to the series of hills rising back from the Beddis Road to the Old Divide Road, which will enable each home-site to have a panoramic view over Ganges Harbour and the Gulf Islands.

Approximately 175 lots will be created, ranging from around one acre to three acres each, with the intent of preserving the privacy and seclusion of a rural estate.

A water supply system is being designed by consultant

*engineers, W.A. Ker and Associates of Victoria, and clearing of road right-of-way has already been started by I.W. Bradley, contractor. The main Ganges-Fulford road will be treated as a limited access highway with access to all lots being provided from the rear by new roads, so no private driveways will come by David Stupich, M.L.A.

The fifth week of the first session of the Twenty-Seventh Legislative Assembly has come to an end. Two weeks to deal with the Throne Speech, two and a half weeks to approve the Budget. Once we get into Estimates we are bound to confine our discussions to the item being considered. However since the Premier is responsible for general Government policy and also for the various Crown Corporations it sometimes seems as though we are discussing the Budget all over again. As a matter of fact, the Chairman of the Committee (we are now sitting as a Committee of the Whole) had to draw the attention of several members to the fact that we had dealt with the Budget and members' remarks should be more explicitly directed to the Premier's Department.

During this discussion we have the only opportunity afforded to us to ask specific questions and to insist on answers. I thought this would be an excellent opportunity to ask the Premier, in his capacity as the representative of the Crown Corporations, certain questions dealing with my riding. With respect to the Nanaimo end, I enquired into the possibility of instituting midnight sailings between Nanaimo and Vancouver and also of making some fare adjustments that would tend to spread the load out so that people would travel during the week where possible and avoid weekend overloads.

With respect to the Gulf Islands, I asked whether extension of electricity had proceeded as far as it was likely to do under the present formula and whether any consideration had been given to relaxing the formula. I also asked if the Ferry Authority was considering resumption of the inter-island service on some sort of a basis, and whether the Premier had anything to report on the projected ferry landing for North Pender.

The Premier gave the same answer to all of my questions -- "I have nothing to say at this time." I remarked that at least this was encouraging because on previous occasions he has always answered "no".

On Wednesday the Premier was again in the line of fire but this time in his capacity as Minister of Finance. I took this opportunity to discuss the matter of assessments in the rural areas around Nanaimo City and on the Gulf Islands. I noted that a good deal of work had been done in recent years in an attempt to equalize assessments but suggested that a good deal remained to be done. I drew attention to property on one island that was serviced by a ferry, had roads, electricity and telephone communications and where the assessment ran from $50.00 to $200.00 an acre. Within a stone's throw of this island is a small island with no services of any kind, one that has been owned by a fisherman for some 15 years, which is assessed at approximately $1,000.00 an acre. I suggested to the Minister that if the purpose was to tax people who were buying the smaller Gult Islands with a mind to selling them at a high return, then a more proper way to deal with this problem would be to tax their income rather than institute a policy which would force landowners to dispose of their property at fire-sale prices in order to avoid having them sold at tax sale.

The Premier objected strenuously to any suggestion that there was anything out of order in the assessment equalization program. However, by a strange coincidence, the report from the Assessment Appeal Board was tabled in the House on the following day after it was too late for us to use it in connection with the Finance Minister's estimates. This report told of appeals that are being heard against assessments and, as evidence that these appeals are justified, also told how many assessments were being amended. The report taken as a whole certainly denies the Premier's reassurances and it was unfortunate, though not surprising, that we did not have this report in our hands earlier.

One of the problems that the Government is trying to meet is that absentee landlords, often American, are buying up our best islands and simply holding them without any development, with a view to selling them at some later date or possibly retiring on them. In the meantime, however, the Canadian people are being deprived of the use of these most desirable areas.

I agree that something should be done about this situation but do not agree with a solution that works hardships on some of our own people, particularly pioneers who have held small acreages or islands for many years and want to be able to continue living on them. High taxes might have the opposite effect to what the Government desires in that it may force those people to sell to absentee landlords even faster than they are now doing.

The Liberal Member for Point Grey took it on himself to organize a keep fit program. He made arrangements for bicycles to be delivered at the Parliament Buildings last Friday morning for all the M. L. A.'s who were prepared to join him in a bike ride around the Park. It was a lovely morning for a bike ride & I thoroughly enjoyed it. I must admit that bicycling around Beacon Hill Park is a much easier form of exercise than bike riding around the Gulf Islands - as I learned to my sorrow during the recent campaign.

LODE BRIDGE WINNERS

Col. & Mrs. M.F. Peiler emerged as champions in the hard-fought HMS Ganges Chapter current bridge tournament. Group B players contending for second & third places include Mr. & Mrs. J.H. Laurie, W.M. Mout & Cyril Wagg, Mr. & Mrs. F.I. Atkins, & Mr. & Mrs. Grant Cruickshank.

If you happened to notice one or more little girls in Brownie uniform moving excitedly around Ganges last week, compass in hand, you may be interested to know that she, or they, were part of the local Brownie Pack out on a treasure hunt which took them over a considerable part of the village area before the "loot" was found.

A tea party honouring Mrs. F.L. Jackson, who will shortly be leaving on a trip to England, was held at Roseneath Farm on Thursday, February 27th. Mrs. Jackson, who this year retired as president of St. Mary's Guild, was honored by the members in appreciation for all she had done for the Church during the many years in which she held office.

Welcomed by the singing of 'For she's a jolly good fellow', Mrs. Jackson was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and white heather by Mrs. A. Davis. Mrs. W.Y. Stewart, vice-president of the Guild, then presented the guest of honor with a white travelling case. She wished her a happy voyage on behalf of all present, and said how deeply Mrs.

Jackson's efforts on behalf of the Church were appreciated. Mrs. Jackson thanked everyone for her gift - "You'll never know how much I needed this!" she said, "I was wondering how I could scrounge another suitcase."

A delicious tea was served by members of the Guild, Misses Gladys and Cree Shaw had decorated the rooms with lovely Spring blossoms, and they received a vote of thanks for their ever welcoming hospitality.

PICTURES OF THE ORIENT

Canadian Girls in Training, with their parents and friends, enjoyed coloured slides of Jaban and Bangkok, shown in Ganges United Church Hall by Mrs. K. Hilton, Victoria, member of a goodwill tour to the Far East some time ago.

Also shown was a film-strip of Nepal, portraying the work of the United Mission, which forms part of the current CGIT mission study.

A sing-song was enjoyed between the two sets of pictures. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.
