P.G. JAMES, PANELIST AT AGRICULTURE MEET

P.G. James, well-known local horticulturist, is to participate on a panel at the annual meeting of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture to be held in Victoria December 10th and 11th.

Mr. James is to appear with Mr. H. Westwick of Cowichan Station to debate the problem of uncontrolled dog packs running wild and endangering children and livestock.

Key speakers at the convention will include the Honorable Harry Hays, Federal Minister of Agriculture and the Honorable Frank Richter, Provincial Minister of Agriculture.

T. Everard Clarke of Vernon will be guest speaker at the annual banquet on December 10th. Mr. Clarke has recently returned from India where he was a United Nations F.A.O. Representative, aiding in the development and modernization of that country's gigantic dairy industry.

Lyll Currie, BCFA president, emphasized that the convention is open to all, and he urges all farmers and others interested in agriculture to attend and take part in the discussions.

One day last week, before the weather broke, we noticed the shores around the harbour crowded with sea gulls. They were a lovely sight in the bright sunlight so we put the views on this page on film.

ISLAND FARMERS INSTITUTE OFFERS COUGAR BOUNTY

Since the government gives no recognition to private hunters for the destruction of cougar predators, the local branch of the Farmer's Institute has incorporated a bounty of $50.00 to be paid to local hunters who are successful in shooting cougar on the Island. Outside donations toward this project will be gratefully received by the Island Farmers Institute.

A cheque from the Institute was sent to Mr. Bob Akerman at Fulford, in recognition of the time and expense spent in his very successful hunting ventures recently, resulting in the killing of three cougars. This donation is to be divided among Mr. Akerman's hunting partners at his own discretion.

MONTHLY WEATHER . . .

Below average rainfall for this month of November was reported by Mr. J.J. Carlin, official weather observer.

CAMPBELL WINS RIGHT TO ARBITRATE NANAIMO TEACHER'S SALARY QUESTION

An attempt on the part of the Nanaimo Teachers Association to have J.M. Campbell, local School Board chairman, barred from accepting the position of arbitrator of salary agreement for the Nanaimo School Board failed last Friday.

Mr. Justice Nemetz failed to agree with the teachers that Mr. Campbell was biased in that he had interested himself in salary questions of his own and other school districts.

Similar actions to bar other arbitrators on the grounds of bias have been started by the teachers at Keremeos and Kitimat.

4.43 inches of rain fell during the month, including the snowfall of 2 1/4 inches on November 28th.

High temperature for the month was 54 degrees on the second and the thirtieth. The low was 30 degrees on

GOLF CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL DINNER

A highly enjoyable dinner party attended by a capacity crowd was held by the local Golf Club at the Club House on Saturday evening, November 28th.

A delicious smorgasbord dinner was served buffet style from tastefully decorated tables set up in one corner of the lounge.

The only sombre note was struck at the presentation of the annual awards which was to have been done by the late Mr. Reg Price, who died suddenly while on the course three days previously. Mr. Ed Richardson, in making the presentations, offered a moving tribute to Mr. Price, expressing the loss felt by all those who knew him and especially his fellow club members at this time. He mentioned Mr. Price's untiring enthusiasm for golf and his ready offers of assistance at any time it was needed.

Mr. Richardson announced Mr. Price had won one of the awards, the Jensen Cup for Senior Tournament competition over 70's.

Other winners were the following: Mac Mouat won the Spring Tournament and the Morris Cup. Mark Crofton won the Matson Cup with D.K. Crofton as the runner-up.

First Flight winner was Douge Sapte, Second Flight winner was Pete Cartwright and the Third Flight winner

A THOUGHT

TO REG PRICE
by Bea Hamilton

We seem to have known Reg Price such a long time and now that he has gone, he is going to be sadly missed by not only his loving family, but by his many friends on Saltspring Island and elsewhere. But what a wonderful way to go -- out on the open green, enjoying his favourite pastime, golf, and then to slip away over the hills and into a new life

Most of us know that there is more to life than just struggling through this worldly existence, and we should rejoice that our loved ones and friends are free and away from earthly illnesses and trials. When we shed tears, I think it is because we miss them so, how can we help it? But with each tear that falls, one should send a loving message to help them on their way. After all they have passed the test and made the great crossing....and their's is the Victory.

ty christening ceremony at the United Church on Sunday. Rev. Norah Hughes officiated and god-parents were Mr. Will Lau of Duncan and Miss Charmaine Armstrong of Victoria. The party then went to the home of Mr and Mrs. Irl Bradley for afternoon tea.

Christmas? My goodness it's nearly here! Bob Akerman is going to cut his tree this week. I heard someone worrying the other day because they could not see any trees lying around the Akerman yard, so this is to cheer them up. Up to now, they have been pretty busy with cougars - three in a week is quite a record.

The little Lacy's had a wonderful time in the snow before it melted, they made snowmen all over the place and enjoyed every little snow flake. It is nice to know someone appreciated the snow.

We noticed a fire burning brightly on Reginald Hill last Saturday night. Everyone's a little puzzled. A little worried and trying to figure out who would want to light a fire to camp in weather like this - unless he needed help? It is very baffling.

It was quite a party at St. George's Hall, on Wednesday night, when the people went to meet the new Rector, Rev. Dr. D. Horsefield and Mrs. Horsefield. His Reverence, Father Wm. Robert Ryder, Ganges, was fined $5.00 and costs for driving with inadequate muffler.

Mrs. Gertrude Snyder was fined $5.00 and costs for speeding in a school zone.

Paul Benedictson was fined $50.00 and costs for driving while his license was under suspension.

John Scoones reported $35.00 worth of liquor stolen from his car at Vesuvius last Sunday morning.

The case of Harold Francis Jones, charged with criminal negligence has been set over until December 15th.

Apparently there is some confusion about driving regulations with respect to the new lines on our main highways. We are sorry we weren't clear in this matter last week. We are not alone though, as we found the Motor Vehicle Act also has some points of confusion in this respect.

We did learn though that it is definitely against the law to pass or cross a solid double line wherever it appears on the highway. It is also illegal to pass when the solid line, appearing beside the dotted line, is in your lane.

What the legality is with respect to the single solid line appears to be unclear. However, the interpretation at present is that you pass only at your own risk and discretion.

When we get further clarification we shall pass it on to our readers.

EDITORIAL

LET'S GET TOGETHER

We reported in this paper last week the concern now being felt by the Salt Spring Island Centennial Committee over the choice of and support for a suitable Island Centennial project. We know the committee is not alone in this concern.

After all the very image of Canada's Centennial is to mark the anniversary of the historical event when the peoples then making their homes in Canada came together in one united nation. We imagine there were, at that time, many suspicions and misunderstandings that had to be dealt with and compromises found before Confederation was finalized.

It would seem we face the same kind of challenge here in our tight little island.

The Committee has chosen a project that could prove to be a proud and worthy addition to the long list a community memorial that will be unveiled across the country during the Centennial year...the Boat Basin Park. Another group on South Salt Spring has indicated they would prefer to have their own project and have suggested an improvement to the Community Hall.

It is this paper's opinion that it would be a great mistake for a community as small as ours to split off into two centennial groups, each more or less going its own way with the extremely limited resources that are at our disposal.

Our argument is not based on the possibility of draining our small financial resources on two projects. It seems to us this is a minor consideration.

The important question is whether or not this island community can put aside its small local desires and join in one larger and more significant effort.

Also it is not that any one idea in the community is the best. We have heard a number of excellent suggestions including the improvement to the hall at Fulford, but none, we think, offers as much to all the island as the Boat Basin Park suggested by the Committee. It is clearly significant, appropos, and completely feasible.

This is not to say the suggestion to improve facilities at the Fulford Hall is not important and necessary. It just seems to us that this project might better be undertaken by the South Saltspring community, quite apart from the idea of centennial, and with the support of the whole island, be completed before Centennial year. We are sure such a campaign would be supported. So it should be as this social facility is a necessity and fills an important need for the whole island.

Don't you agree that our Centennial celebration here on Salt Spring would be less meaningful if we find we cannot get together and actively support one project that would reflect an "all island" effort?

ARE YOU A SAFE DRIVER?

This is National Safety Week, sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Council across the country. Always on the same date each year, the object of the campaign is to bring vividly to the attention of drivers that, in their vehicles on the road, the lives of many other people rest in their hands.

We have just received a release from this group who make a study of highway accidents and their causes each year.

This year's report is a dismal and alarming picture according to the following facts. The report states that traffic accidents are up 28% over last year. Injuries to people are up 25% and property damage figures are increased by 29%. The above figures represent only the first eight months of this year!

There are as many suggested causes for this sad state of affairs as there are so-called "experts" in the field. One such expert, the Honorable Phil Gaglardi, Minister of Highways, took up considerable time on TV Monday evening to rail against the liquor advertisers as the cause of all our troubles here. I'm glad he couldn't see me feeling sicker by the minute as he, of all people, suggested you should not 'over-drive' (whatever that means) the highway you're travelling or your driving skill.

Just to participate on the "expert" band wagon, it is rather astonishing to us that so many of these analysts seem to ignore an important aspect of this increasingly alarming problem.

One is the fact that comparatively little has either been said or even suggested that the present trend toward bigger, longer cars with multiplying carburetors delivering frightening instant power might just be one important cause. Stir into this lethal mixture dozens of emotionally immature or inexperienced drivers and the fuse is lit for greater and more shocking highway tragedies.

Who has ever suggested that the modern automobile manufacturer and his advertising department might share a small bit of responsibility for the present sad record on our highways? Witness the increasing trend in such advertising to pressure people into believing the automobile supplies a host of human needs running the gamut from sex to success. One such advertiser blatantly suggests that, "You can drive this car as though you hate it!" This, after a one-minute TV demonstration of a classic example of reckless and stupid driving down a narrow dusty road.

And we haven't said anything yet about liquor. Not that we think it has no bearing but only because we think it provides a handy smoke screen behind which some of the above important trends can be largely ignored.

Maybe a current experiment now being conducted using IBM computers to test potential dangerous drivers may shed some light on it.

I hope we may be forgiven if we suggest the automobile ought not to be our God but our servant; to be sold purely as a means of transportation . . . nothing more.

Dear Editor - "Whilst we are agog at the World-shaking news, garnered by Driftwood's indefatigable newshounds, that Billy Buster braved the billows to visit Vancouver, or That Winnie Winkle wandered among the wild woods of Beaver Point, we seem to be left unmoved at the prospect of losing our heritage.

If we can believe Senator Arthur Roebuck, whom I knew in Toronto years ago, as a mere young lawyer with a fondness for a good story; should the Senate turn down the Bank Charter desired by a certain "Cec" Bennett, then he, in umbrage, might separate us from Confederation and hand us holus bolus to our neighbours across the line.

Well, well! So the idea that B.C. belongs to Bennett seems to be gaining ground in Ottawa. There may be a certain amount of excuse for their belief, but I suggest that we, the residents of this fair Province, might find it worth while to point out that we are not merely pawns in any man's political games, and that the time comes when any solution has to be admonished 'Hold! Enough!'

BEAVERS IN THE

by F.H.A. Collins

During a month or so spent this past summer in the Laurentians I saw plenty of signs of beaver life. Lac aux Castors (Beaver Lake) is appropriately names. There is not a stream in the surrounding forests that has not been dammed by beavers. "Exploring" trails to distant lakes I was constantly cut off by beaver swamps and the only way across was over a dam. These dams snaked back and forth anchored from point to point and some were as far as I could judge, up to two hundred yards long.

I had already seen a beaver lake gradually silting up and in this area I stumbled across a meadow far advanced in the long process of conversion from beaver swamp to fertile field. It was spongy and wet but solid enough to walk upon, consisting mainly of thick moss and laurel. It also contained the insect devouring pitcher-plant and there were spruce and tamarack springing up.

The area consists of sand fine grey clay and rock much of it on gently sloping ground but farther back there are steep cliffs. Sugar maples predominate. There are also beech, white pine, fir silver birch, mountain ash, (rowan), red maple, basswood, black ash and many others.

But I didn't see a single beaver. I guess I'm too clumsy.

Older people require proteins for the maintenance of the body. The variety of foods that provide these nutrients include meat, cheese, fish, poultry, eggs

From the summit of the new school site grounds, a view of the harbour over the roof of the Anglican Church. Since the brush has been cleared, preparing the site, this location augurs a beautiful new school.

Looking south east from the site of the new high school gives this beautiful view of the length of Ganges Harbour. According to one plan, this would be looking out from the Library.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Reynolds have recently returned from a visit to Kimberley and Calgary. Mr. Reynolds went hunting and bagged two deer, one a white tail and the other a mule deer. He states he was actually after elk but the majority of the herds are still high up on the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were visiting Mrs. Reynolds family at Kimberley.

DR HORSEFIELD TO OPEN BAZAAR
 Anglican W.A. Christmas Bazaar, to be held this coming Saturday, December 5th at 2 p.m. in the Parish Hall will be formally opened by the new rector, Dr. R.B. Horsefield. Mrs. Horsefield will assist the president, Mrs. E. Worthington, in welcoming the guests. Mrs. George Laundry is general convener; Mrs. Wm. Palmer will take charge of the tea room. Stalls will feature Christmas gifts and novelties, home cooking, needlework, plants and garden produce.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT
 The final match of B. Group, HMS Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E. bridge marathon was played last week. The winners were Mrs. A. Jobin and Mrs. D. Cavaye who defeated Mrs. J. Hawksworth and Mr. P.C. Lawrence. A great deal of thanks is due to Mrs. Ed. Richardson, who organized the successful tournament. She was assisted by Mrs. Earl Hardie.

WINTER

Cover the still beauty of the dead summer, Love, Chant the last litany, cease now your weeping; The wind has arisen to welcome the snow harlots Cresting the hilltop

See how their white garments flutter around them, Snaring the innocent song of the wind, Love; How can the wind know the ice of their loveliness, Slow to destruction?

Weep for the wind, Love, ensnared by the harlots, Ice underneath their white garments of snow; Weep for the wind lying still on the mountain, Broken - his lyre.

SÖCCER TEAM SNOWS OPPONENTS UNDER

The local senior High School Soccer team received their worst defeat of the season in their 4-game stand in the Fraser Valley. They were soundly clobbered in three of their games by the unexpected snowfall. However, in the one game played against Newton Secondary School, Salt Spring battled falling snow and a sharp team to come up with a 3-1 victory.

The N. Surrey team, who were the semi-finalists in the large Valley district, controlled the play for the first period of play, but were unable to penetrate the defensive work of Brian Rogers & Chuck Byron. In the second half, Chuck Davis, dead-eye sharpshooter potted two goals in early minutes of play, but the Surrey team came back to score once and test several times the net minding of the S.S. goalie. Denis Howard kept his skis well waxed and robbed the Surrey sharpshooters of almost sure goals. In the final minutes of the game, Henning Satermo added to his season goal total by driving the ball from well out, which spun in the goal and was insured by Ferg Foulis, on the job for Dennis Beech who was taken off to rest his injured ankle.

The Salt Spring players had nothing but praise for the host team, their coach Mr. Don Ennis and the Newton principal, Mr. Vern Ardiel. The local boys were entertained during the day by the Newton Staff and the mixed boys and girls Home Ec class, who with the help of their friendly teacher, provided the boys with delicious hamburgers and soft drinks in an atmosphere of friendship and good spirit.

As the soccer games with the upper Fraser Valley were cancelled, the Newton School challenged the Islanders to a volley ball game. The hosts had the edge, defeating one team 3-1 and splitting with the other 2-2.

On Friday evening the boys were billeted and entertained at the homes of the host team. Saturday they were invited to the home of Surrey principal, Mr. and Mrs. George Headland to watch the Grey Cup game. Mrs. Headland served refreshments. In return, the boys changed tires for Mr. Headland, as he had suffered a recent illness. Mr. Headland, as did all who came in contact with the players, complimented them on their mature attitude and friendly nature.

To add to the enjoyment of the trip the boys were invited to the bridge of the Queen of the Islands, by Captain N. Fiander where they were shown the uses of radar and navigational equipment in action.

The team members, and coach Mike Byron, wish to express thanks to the local School Board, the student council and all who made the trip so enjoyable.

The best place to look for a helping hand is at the end of your own arm.

He has just returned from nine weeks holiday, saved up from his term of office and required to be taken before retirement. He spent it near Kamloops where he says he gets much relief from a chronic asthmatic condition. He says he may go back there to live but has no definite plans as yet as to how or where he will be spending his retirement years.

eventually burned down, as did its predecessor on the same site. The original first hotel at this point, Pop recalls, was the "toughest pub on earth", and was known from San Francisco to Alaska.

He served originally as an Assistant Postmaster to Mrs. Jane Mouat who was postmistress prior to 1936. He succeeded this lady as postmaster during that year. He received his 25 year long-service badge three years ago. At one time he was supervisor of all Gulf Islands offices for six years. In that capacity he visited all the Islands regularly.

A.J. "POP" EATON RETIRES AFTER 41 YEARS

A.J. "Pop" Eaton goes to work as Postmaster at the local post office for the last time today.

After some 41 years of service to this community in the post office he leaves his position with a great deal of nostalgia and many memories of the development of postal service on the Island over almost four decades.

He remembers, for example, when the old Princess Mary used to bring the mail in once a week. Sometimes she didn't arrive until after 10 p.m. Then the mail would have to be sorted and delivered to various small offices around the Island. Often the work didn't finish until after 3 a.m. Many times, he says, he has put in 16 to 18 hours steady work without a break.

Pop has seen many changes come and go in the postal service. He started in on postal work away back in 1923 in the hotel-store and small post office, once located at the head of Fulford Harbour. This building ev-
