Dormitory

Dormitory accommodation is not the ideal setting for youngsters, commented J. M. Campbell at last week's board meeting of Gulf Islands School District.

"Compromise between the home environment and an institutional environment that we strive for is very difficult," he told fellow trustees, "but I am confident that it will operate smoothly this year."

WATCH FOR GULLS!

"Drive carefully and avoid the seagulls."

This sign may yet be erected on the road from Sturdies Bay. Galiano bird-watcher, D. A. New reports that gulls on Galiano are becoming increasingly careless of cars.

On two occasions recently he has been obliged to slow down and drive around the birds, says Mr. New.

CHAIRMAN ONCE AGAIN

HEINEKEY IS NAMED TO HEAD BOARD

New chairman of the board of trustees of Gulf Islands School District is George M. Heinekey

Salt Spring Island farmer. Mr. Heinekey was named to the chair on Thursday evening last week.

The office is not a new one to Mr. Heinekey. He served more than three years as chairman of the district before the board introduced legislation whereby the chairman may not serve more than two years in succession.

The new chairman expressed his appreciation of the confidence shown by his colleagues. He also expressed confidence that the district would get the green light from the provincial government on the new school building projects.

"We are facing a heavy year," he warned board members.

Concluding his introductory address, Mr. Heinekey also urged full participation by trustees in the board's deliberations.

"I like a majority vote," he observed.

Mr. Heinekey has been a trustee for 10 years and has served on every committee of the board as well as holding the chair.

The new chairman is also well-known in two other fields. He is a prominent member of the Royal Canadian Legion on Salt Spring Island and is a past-president. He has also taken an active part in the affairs of the Salt Spring Island Farmers' Institute for many years, and currently heads the farmers' group.

During the recent presentations of school-building referenda, Mr. Heinekey was head of the committee making plans for the needed facilities. He was re-elected to board of trustees at the school district elections last month.

Mr. Heinekey lives at Vesuvius Bay.

FLAG FUND

C. R. Horel, of Salt Spring Lands and W. F. Thorburn, of Salt Spring Insurance Agencies are tired of looking at a bare Centennial Park.

The poles have made the first contributions to a fund to acquire new flags for the unclotted flag staffs.

The poles are bare after the second theft of flags from the park.

Flags are worth about $50 the set. If more money is contributed, a second set may be purchased.

Fred Morris is heading up the collection and contributions will be accepted at Mout's Sotre, Salt Spring Lands or Driftwood.

HE ADOPTED FAMILY

Tame park swan has adopted a family on St. Mary Lake.

The swan decided to make its home on the lake recently and it is so tame that it will walk up the beach to take food from the family.

GULF ISLANDS SCHOOL TRUSTEES AT BOARD TABLE

HE IS HOPPING MAD!

 with rescue service

Ken Whyte, of Sunset Drive, is hopping mad. And he is mad with the air-sea rescue service. Here is his tale of trouble.

On Sunday, Mr. Whyte went to the rescue of five near-drowning men near Wallace Island. He tore back across the wild waters of the strait and dashed into his home. Following the instructions in the telephone directory, he called the operator and asked for "Marine Distress".

Then his troubles started. A female voice answered and explained that she could only accept the call in cases of marine disaster.

The Salt Spring Islander said in as strong terms as he could muster that it was a matter of disaster for five men drowning off Wallace Island. After some deliberation, the emergency service agreed to accept the call, reports Mr. Whyte.

He then spoke to a senior army officer who agreed that it might well be a matter for the emergency services, but whereabouts was Wallace Island?

Mr. Whyte identified the island by reference to Active Pass and Porlier Pass both of which were familiar to the emergency service.

The marine distress service then explained that they did not handle calls from the island, but that Capt. V. C. Best would take the call.

"Did Mr. Whyte know Capt.

Best?" enquired the distress service.

"No, Mr. Whyte did not." In that case they would give him the number.

By this time, explains the Salt Spring Island amateur rescuer, he was thinking only of the unfortunate five men whose destiny was being thus casually debated.

He replied that he would find an alternative means of rescue and rang off.

A call to the RCMP brought immediate help and the five men were taken off the spar buoy.

Mr. Whyte is still mad. "A man could be dead by the time the rescue service took action," he told DRIFTWOOD afterwards.

FIRST WAR VETERAN IS CALLED BY DEATH IN CITY HOSPITAL

Resident of Salt Spring Island for nearly half a century, James Warner, 80, of St. Mary Lake, passed away in St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, on January 12.

He is survived by a nephew, Don Jones, of Ottawa. Mr. Warner was a First War veteran and he was also a member of Unity Masonic Lodge, of Edmonton.

Last rites will be observed on Thursday, Jan. 18 at 1:30 p.m. in St. Mark's Anglican Church. Archdeacon R. B. Horsefield will officiate.

SKIN DIVERS RESCUED

Five skin divers in a 14 ft. boat came to grief on Sunday afternoon when they were dumped into the sea for four hours. Ken Whyte, of Sunset Drive and his neighbor, Walter Young were responsible for rescuing the five shipwrecked submarine swimmers.

Mr. Young had been watching the group of divers through his binoculars when he became alerted to the danger. He rushed to his neighbor's home for help.

The five men had left Crofton in their small boat, to dive for old wreck at Panther Point, off Wallace Island.

A large wave had swamped their small boat. The five men were clinging to the spar buoy when their rescuers arrived.

Mr. Whyte brought his small speedboat alongside the buoy and it was readily apparent that the boat was too small to offer the assistance needed.

The rescuers warned the divers to make no attempt to leave the buoy and returned for help.

The divers were chilled from their long ordeal in the water and one man was purple from cold, reported Mr. Whyte.

TEENAGERS AT FULFORD IN HOT SEAT FRIDAY

Four local political spokesmen will be in the hot seat when teenagers meet in Fulford Hall on Friday evening.

Panel discussion will take place on Youth and the Law-makers as a sequel to an earlier panel discussion on Youth and the Law.

Robert McWhirter will be moderator as a panel of teenagers and representatives of political parties discuss the role of the lawmaker in modern society, and the methods of bringing about changes in the law.

Among the panelists will be John Tisdalle, Social Credit

M.L.A. for Saanich and the Islands; T. E. Marcus, Progressive Conservative; Jas Campbell, Liberal, and Doug Johannessen, Esquimalt NDP candidate, will speak for his party.

Teen age group has already discussed the shortcomings of law and law-enforcement. Last such panel discussion, in St. George's Hall, Ganges, drew a crowd of about 150.

Parents and other interested adults are also invited to attend and to take part. Entertainment provided by a Ganges band, the Inward Urge, will follow the discussion.

Medical Service Bigger

Augmented medical services to the Gulf Islands are planned by two Ganges Doctors.

Drs. E. R. Dixon and D. Oakley are planning new clinics on Pender and Mayne Islands.

First of the new clinics will be held on Pender Island on Thursday, Jan. 25. Dr. Oakley will attend at Pender and the clinic will be held in the teacherage. Preliminary arrangements have been made with the co-operation of L.J. Armstrong, of Pender. Information may be ascertained from Dr. Oakley at Ganges, or Mr. Armstrong.

The clinic will then continue, every second Thursday at 10:30 a.m. This will provide a weekly medical schedule on the island. Dr. E. A. Jarman is already holding a clinic on the alternate weeks.

Dr. Dixon will attend the new clinic on Mayne Island, to be held in the rectory on Wednesdays. First of the Main clinics will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 2.

ANOTHER CENTENNIAL MEDALIST

Salt Spring Island man stationed in Alberta is among recent recipients of the Centennial Medal.

Regimental-Sergeant-Major Ken Byron, who is serving at Camp Wainwright, in Alberta, was presented with his medal in a formal ceremony on his unit.

RSM Byron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Byron of North Salt Spring Island.

FULFORD

BY BEA HAMILTON
Friday night in the Fulford Hall should be a lively night - the people - John McManus, Father Leonard Schmidt, Fergie Foulis and other enthusiasts are getting together a panel for discussion on such subjects as Youth and the Law or What can politics do for our youth? What indeed! It will be interesting to find out.

An open forum on these topics should prove lively as there will be John Tisdalle, M.L.A. speaking for his side of the subject, Jim Campbell from Saturna, speaking for the Liberals, Tom Marcus for the Conservatives and J. A. Tomlinson N.D.P. Have you ever yet seen ALL parties on a debate at one time? Well, I'm from Missouri too. It'll be a shock if they manage to get all political parties on one panel. But Father Schmidt is very optimistic about it all, so they may just pull it off.

All parents and students are asked to try to get to this big do on Friday; if parents want to keep up with their youth, it is almost a "must" - and it will be a wonderful way to get to know what the other fellow thinks. You might put in your own two cents worth too, and help thrash this thing out.

They will end up with a dance and band to supply the music. At least its different isn't it? How about showing up and giving the youth a break and letting THEM give the parents a similar lift?

This starts at 7:30 p.m. It could be good.

It was nice meeting at the home of Mrs. A. McManus on Thursday when the W. I. members met, with nine present. The meeting went off on a lilt and stayed cheerful right through as everyone was in a good mood. Though we missed out on the card party this month of January, there will be one on the first Wednesday, Feb. 7 at 2 - 4:30 p.m., at Nan's Coffee Bar.

Two other special guests, Mrs. H. E. Hubbard and Mrs. D. Whitbread, prayer partner from Frobisher Bay, who spoke of her work among the Eskimo women, attended the meeting. Mrs. Goodman and Mrs. Hubb also addressed the meeting.

A new member, Mrs. Leger was welcomed. The World Day of Prayer Service will be held on March 1, in St. George's Church.

Plans were made for the Valentine tea to be held February 17 at 2 p.m. in the Parish Hall. Tea convener will be Mrs. Harbin; home cooking, Mrs. E. Adams and Mrs. J. D. Fletcher; sewing, Mrs. J. L. Horrocks and Mrs. V. L. Jackson; and table decorations Mrs. W. H. Saunders. Mrs. Price will be at the door.

Mrs. G. H. Holmes closed the meeting.

Tea hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Fletcher.

FULFORD AT TOP IN HOCKEY

SENIOR LEAGUE FULFORD ALONE IN FIRST PLACE.

Fulford took over first place with a 9-5 defeat of the South Ganges team.

Once again Ken Kyler and Patrick Slingsby led Fulford scoring all nine goals between them.

The South Ganges team led by Don Bates kept on even terms with Fulford for the first two periods of play but fell apart in the third period when they gave up five goals and only scored one on their own behalf.

Jay Rozzano in goal for South Ganges made 34 stops and Dave Roland made 30 stops for the victors.

The Three Stars of the game as picked by Rick Saunders were Pat Slingsby, Don Bates, and Jay Rozzano.

The Mt. Prevost students from Duncan came to Salt Spring Island last Friday.

They were here to compete against Gulf Islands Secondary's Volleyball and Basketball teams. The games started at 12:30 with girls' volleyball.

Salt Spring won two of the three rounds with scores of 15-12 and 15-11, while Mt. Prevost gained a single victory with a score of 16-14.

There was a short break and the boys took this opportunity to warm up. The warm-up didn't do too much good as our team was slaughtered, 41-4.

At half time oranges and pop were given to the players. The girls' basketball team was more successful than the boys as they downed their opponents 26-6.

Both the spectators and the players enjoyed the competition. Mt. Prevost's cheerleaders added much to the spirit of the games.

The basketball games at Chemainus last Monday turned out to be another defeat for Salt Spring, as the girl's team lost by two points and the boy's by eight.

YOUTH AND THE LAWMAKERS
On Friday, January 19, at Fulford Hall there will be another panel discussion sponsored by the Gulf Islands Youth Association.

The Panel will consist of John Tisdalle, MLA for Saanich and the Islands, J. M. Campbell of Saturna Island, Mr. T. E. Marcus and J. A. Tomlinson, four students from Gulf Islands Secondary School, and the chairman, Mr. R. D. McWhirter.

The discussion, entitled Youth and the Lawmaker, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

At 9:30 there will be a dance to finish off the evening. This sounds like an interesting event, but it will take a large and enthusiastic crowd to make it a success. Let's see you there!

store scored their first win of the season.

Ferg Foulis in goal for Central came up with 39 stop and only allowed one goal to score. Allan Jackson scored the lone North Ganges goal.

Rick Scotton in goal for North Ganges made 30 stops many of them ear marked for goals.

Johnny Marcotte on defense for Central played very strong breaking up the North Ganges attack and setting up his forward for scoring plays. Wayne Taylor led the Central scoring with three goals, Dale Empey and Grant Marcotte got two a piece and Richard Carlson and Nic Humphrey came up with singles. The Three Stars of the game were Rick Scotton, Johnny Marcotte and Ferg Foulis.

DEFENSIVE BIDS: When a player enters the bidding with an overcall (do not confuse this with a response) he is immediately on the defensive. A hand may have a good opening bid but not suitable for an overcall. Inexperienced players are too eager to make overcalls - sometimes with 4-card and poor 5-card suits. When playing against good defence this can be expensive. The most important factor is the strength and length of the suit. One is not guided by points, except with a no-Trump overcall, but by winning tricks. The rule of two and three is useful at this point which means one will not go down more than three tricks not-vul. or two tricks vulnerable if doubled. Particularly, if vulnerable, one promises not to lose more than two tricks in the bid suit. There is a lot to consider when making an overcall and the more experienced players can safely pass with strongish hands knowing their partner will protect by doubling. When one has a strongish hand with an opening bid on the right and the l.h.o. can make a forward-going bid, partner can have little or nothing and the overcaller is squeezed, usually doubled and has nowhere to run. The partner of the overcaller should never try to rescue. "Pass" is an excellent bid, in fact the best bid when used at the proper time. The above refers to simple overcalls. There are several types of overcalls and one must be familiar with the type of overcall partner prefers. An overcall should serve several purposes: (a) a good lead-directing bid; (b) interference with opponent's bidding; (c) a possibility of buying the contract either at game or part score and (d) depending on score, a good spot to make a sacrifice bid. This latter bid can be carried too far but, if correctly handled, can make play quite interesting. When a simple overcall is made the partner should support the bid suit. Possibly with as little as xxx or Qx, assuming partner would have at least five good cards in the suit. If he has any extra strength he should not change the suit, unless he has something really worth mentioning. If the overcaller were interested in his partner's strongest suit he would have doubled for information. One must remember that a response to an overcall is unlike the response to an opening bid. A change in suit does not guarantee a rebid nor does the overcall guarantee two quick tricks with 13 or more points. Never hesitate unduly when thinking of making an overcall and then pass. This is most unethical and actually prevents partner from entering bidding during the auction. The following prepared hands show simple overcalls and once these are mastered further overcalls will be introduced.

South's hand is not strong enough to open but with the bid on the right the Spade is a good overcall. West cannot enter the bidding so North makes a jump bid, which is not forcing but invitational, and assuming partner has at least a 5 card suit has adequate trump support.

West's overcall of 1 Spade was a good lead-directing bid. After leading the singleton Diamond Ace East led the Spade and got a ruff on the third Diamond lead then he made the Club Q, which was the setting trick.

The no-trump overcall is the easiest to recognize. It merely says partner I could have opened the bidding with 1 No-Trump plus the fact I have the opener's suit stopped. West now proceeds as though his partner had opened 1 No-trump. East knows his partner will have Hearts stopped but a fit in spades should make a safer contract. 3 no-trump can be set but 4 Spades game contract makes.

LEGION CHANGES

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

Two bridge contests were announced last week. This week comes the announcement that there will be only one. Mrs. W. G. Stone and Mrs. H. A. Emerslund were preparing for a tournament on behalf of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary. When they learned that Mrs. Alice Hammett was also preparing a tournament for the Centennial Park maintenance project, they withdrew.

Instead of the telephone tournament planned, the Legion ladies will re-introduce their Wednesday afternoon games. There have been many requests for the games, explained the conveners and this way they will not clash with the Centennial Park campaign.

Legion Hall will be the location of the Wednesday games, commencing at 1:30 p.m. until 4 p.m. Total scores will be taken and the Wednesday series will continue for about eight weeks.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN

What is a volunteer fireman?

According to last week's report of Salt Spring Volunteer Fire Department for 1967, he is the man who protects your life and property while thrusting your cheque, book back in your pocket.

Property losses to fire were estimated at $3,000 for the year. Property involved was valued at $130,000. But this relative saving of $127,000 is simply that part of the story which shows up in a final report.

The rest of the story is contained in the confidence of the community in its firemen. It is the mother who has no reason to fear for her children and it is every homeowner who is protected and knows he is protected by a group of neighbors brought together for his own good.

The report was a pleasing commendation of the efforts of the firemen.

STOP...AND THINK!

We are sick of the word, separatism. We are sick of the snide remarks and inferences aroused by the word.

The crisis of confederation was the outstanding feature of Canada's centennial year. We shall remember the centennial celebrations and the visit of Saturna children to Expo and other events of a happy year. But not the historian; he will soon forget these aspects of 1967. All he will record will be the rising call for a re-assessment of the relationship between the province of Quebec and the rest of Canada.

This crisis is not facing Quebec alone. Out on the shores of the blue Pacific we are far from the centre of the dispute and we can easily close our ears to the French voices as we shrug off concern. But we will not settle anything that way.

It is easy, and indeed, it is pleasant at times, to become heated in our indignation at those damned Frenchmen who want everything their way. But, before we get too heated, we should pause, and consider that the country they are discussing is ours.

We may agree with little or nothing the vocal people of Quebec are asking. We may be filled with indignation at the very thought of their asking for it. But we cannot shrug it off. Indifference will accomplish less than indignation. Neither is likely to help Canada in this first year of her second century.

The extent to which we are prepared to listen to the pleas and complaints raised in French: the extent to which we swallow our pride in the face of wild words from fiery Frenchmen are the measure of our confidence in Canada. More, they are the measure of our stature as Canadians.

If we are convinced that a noisy group of Quebecers is threatening Canada's future, let us bear in mind that a quiet group of English-speaking Canadians is the best insurance for that future.

It is a good time to remember that an empty vessel makes the most sound and that Canada today is plagued by many Canadians of both languages whose opinions are formulated before they learn to think. Let's make sure that we don't add to those ranks!

GALIANO

Island life is very quiet since the holidays, and the bad weather has not encouraged many weekend visitors. However, the annual meetings of a number of local organizations are coming up soon, and several social affairs are being planned, so things should brighten up considerably.

"Longwood", a familiar landmark at Arbutus Point and favourite summer haunt of many an old-time Islander and visitor, burned to the ground during a heavy rain storm last Friday afternoon.

In the old days when the Point was a popular resort, operated by the Wards, Mrs. Kingsmill, and Mrs. Alex Scoones, "Longwood" housed hundreds of vacationers. Now owned by Len Rawluk, the old building had been reduced in size and was used mainly as storage and workshop space.

The blaze was hot and fierce, and the local fire brigade which turned out when the alarm was sounded, could do little more than prevent it from spreading to other buildings on the property.

Among the visitors who enjoyed their holidays on Galiano and who have now gone home were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis, of Calgary, guests of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Barner, and Judy and Barry Butler, of Smithers who were visiting Judy's parent Mr. and Mrs. Ches Williams.

The Art Killicks of Victoria are here for a few weeks, working on their property at the head of Whaler Bay.

Dr. and Mrs. Alex Smith of Vancouver are spending a few weeks at their home on Cain Drive.

Ted Godfrey of Portage Mountain, and Miss Joyce Lockwood of Gabriola Island, were recent house guests at Upsan Downs.

The regular meeting of the Galiano Ladies Service Club will not be held in January. President, Mrs. L. A. Murphy, is still with her family in Chilliwack, and the weather has been too bad to encourage much night travel.

News from absent Islanders: the Billie Cottrells who have been wintering in Culver City, California, went over to Tarpo Beach, Florida, for a few weeks where the golfing is better. And from New Zealand comes word that Harry Richardson will be returning to the island soon with a new bride - the new Mrs. Richardson being a former nurse who looked after Harry when he was ill during a visit to Auckland some thirty-five years ago.

Crews from the Victoria Pile Driving Company have been busy since New Year putting a new deck on the federal portion of the Sturdies Bay Wharf - something badly needed for a long time. Now if the provincial authorities would finish painting their portion of the wharf we would have a fine example of cooperative improvement to impress visitors to our community in the months ahead.

Two trumpeter swans have been seen in the vicinity of Upper Ganges Road, on Salt Spring Island.

Mrs. Bert Timbers reported seeing the two birds.

Trumpeter swan is a protected bird and is diminishing in numbers. It is distinguishable from the mute or whistler swans by its larger size and the deep voice.

Trumpeter has an all-black bill, whereas the whistler usually has a yellow marking.

SATURNA — SEEN BY PAPAJOHN

Very little has happened this week: Hans Pettke, of Zeballos, has been busy cleaning his lots at East Point in preparation to build.

Remarked to John Cronkite that he picked a wet miserable weekend to leave his Vancouver home. Not so, says John, Vancouver people are slushing around all day and skidding all over at night Doreen Gaines had the bridge at her home last week. The Bucky Crooks family of Salt Spring over visiting brother Barry at Lyall Hill. Bucky just wanted to get some nice, balmy southern air.

Another smart couple are the Bryces of Kamsack, Sask., who are prolonging their visit with daughter languorous Leona Steeves. Danny Miller with wife and family down from Campbell River visiting his mother, mellow Myrt. The baby sure enjoys visitin with Granma.

Something I forgot a few weeks ago was to thank Manson Toynbee for the grand job he and his gang made in cleaning and sorting out etc., etc., the mess back of the stage in our Hall.

"There oughta be a law". Yup there sure should be about the COLD COLD COLD metal seats on Mayne Queen at 6 a.m. Its bad enough gettin up at 5 a.m. but its not until we reach Village Bay that the seats are warm. Oh well I guess its one of the prices we of Saturna have to pay for living on our fair Island. Anyway its O.K. in the good old summertime.

There are a couple of ALBINO ducks in Lyall Harbour. Didn't report this as they were first spotted around the festive season. But subsequent sightings by another eye witness this week confirms me.

Lost my list of adjectives for our fair Island Belles so there will be a few changes made for the New Year. Was having trouble with the "M's" anyway.

My young lady friend next door has been unusually quiet and good all week until this a.m. when she managed to take the rabbit ears of the T.V. apart and lose some of the pieces.

Manson Toynbee's mother is sure looking quite perky. Must be our balmy southern climate as compared to the cold northern air of Salt Spring.

Just thought the seats on the Queen of the Islands must be REALLY cold in the early a.m. So maybe there shouldn't be a law after all, and we shouldn't complain?

MAYNE

BY ELSIE BROWN

Back on Mayne after an absence of two weeks - spent the Christmas Season at our other home in North Surrey visiting relatives and friends and entertaining more than usual to make up for other years when health problems prevented participation. Took the Victoria ferry transferring to the Mayne Queen at Swartz Bay. Nice for a change!

We were indeed shocked to hear the news that well known personality, Mrs. Phyllis Dill had passed away. Our sincere sympathy to husband Arnott and his family. She will be sadly missed by all her many friends, on Mayne Island.

Two recent fires left one couple homeless. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Haggard, Sea View Road, were only able to save a few of their belongings. The fire at Jim Clarke's was less extensive, being restricted to garage and outer building. Mr. Clarke was lavish in his praise of our Volunteer Fire department stating that the fire was contained within 10 minutes of the alarm. The fire at Haggard's had been burning some time before being discovered. Heather Evans is up on Cloud Nine after receiving a copy of the Bellingham Herald containing the letter she wrote to the Bellingham Jaycees thanking them for their Christmas Ship visit to Mayne. An excellent write up by Jack Carver in the December 18 edition with pictures of both the Wyrill and Victoria Jaycee ship, Blue Fjord, docked at Miners Bay.

The highlights of the year published in January 4 issue of DRIFTWOOD include several items of interest to Mayne Islanders. We certainly had a busy year and can look back with a great deal of satisfaction. I don't suppose we will be allowed to rest on our laurels much as we would like to.

A welcome to new Light-keeper Jack Ruck, his wife, Patricia, and young daughter Joy. Before coming to Active Pass Light Station they were stationed at Pachena Lighthouse on the West coast of Vancouver Island. They are finding our weather more moderate than what they have been used to. Even all our rain is acceptable. Better than snow we all agree.

Frank Pratt has left for his annual visit to Australia. He travelled by jet this time. Hope he brings the sunshine back with him when he returns. Week-enders visiting their island homes were the Geehans, and the Simcox, Laura Point Road.

Ted and Margaret Hopkins were pleasantly surprised by a large number of their island friends between Christmas and New Year's. The affair was arranged by Meg Drummond who was assisted by her usual supporters. A crystal cream and sugar set was presented to the couple. Scott and Penny were also on hand to enjoy the fun. They are presently living in Victoria and expect to make their home in West Vancouver, eventually.

Marion Kerby spent a few days in Victoria last week. Wins the record for speed getting dressed. Appeared looking like a million dollars within 10 minutes!

The Mayne Island school Christmas Party and Concert, postponed until December 28, due to the weather and power outage was a huge success from all reports.

CORPORAL WAS RIGHT HE TELLS COURT

When Ralph Stevens was charged in Ganges Magistrate's court last week with driving without due care and attention, he was completely frank.

Magistrate M. F. Peiler asked Stevens if he had anything to add to the police summary of the accident in which his car was wrecked.

"The Corporal has just about covered it," he told the magistrate.

Stevens had wrecked his car when he struck a pole and broke it. He had explained that he dropped a cigarette in the car as he approached the bend by St. Mark's church. In recovering the cigarette he lost control of the car, reported the police.

Salt Spring Island man, now serving in the Royal Canadian Navy, Stevens was fined $25 and his license was endorsed.

Mrs. A. M. (Buzz) Brown after Saturday's rain.

The couple awoke early Saturday morning to the music of a waterfall. There is normally no water falling in the vicinity of their home and Mr. Brown was out of bed like a shot to find out what had happened. He found out very quickly.

The heavy rains through Friday night and Saturday had brought down the melting snow. A torrent of water had left its allotted bed and had cut through a retaining wall to pour down the stairwell of the basement.

Although twisted, the basement door held against the pressure and the sound of running water was the rush of water through the crevices around the door.

The couple called their son, Lyall, at Gulf Island Builders and Gordon Scarff at 5 a. m. Both came running and attacked the flood.

By 10 a. m., or five hours later, the waters had subsided. The driveway and garden was marked by a deep cut where floodwater had gouged out the gravel. Worse, the basement had been flooded throughout and bedrooms and bedding were floating.

By Monday, most of the mud and debris had been removed, but the basement was still wet and dirty.
