GOVERNMENT BIGGEST THREAT

HE FEARS PROVINCE

Biggest threat to Galiano Island is government, warned a speaker at the island planning meeting on Saturday evening.

Bill Beech spoke of the large tracts of land held by the McMillan-Bloedel lumber interests. The government could readily exchange these timber preserves for more lucrative properties elsewhere in the province, he warned, and then throw open the lands to the general public.

The lumber company holds more than two-thirds of Galiano Island.

Charles Wakelin, Capital Regional District community planner replied that the large forest tracts had been considered by the planning department, but it had been viewed as part of the long-term planning program.

"It is an urgent matter," pressed Mr. Beech, "It could happen tomorrow."

Planners should be pressing the provincial government right now to recover the holdings and to devote them to park purposes rather than development, he told the meeting.

The provincial government could ignore its own laws and those of the regional district, noted Miss Jean Lockwood, and either subdivide the large acreage for the benefit of future development or sell it in 10-acre lots for wealthy owners.

RATEPAYERS' ASSOCIATION

Newest organization on Salt Spring Island is a ratepayers' Association. Formative meeting will take place Tuesday evening in the high school gymnasium.

BY-LAW WITHDRAWN

Controversy Dies

It was quiet end to a noisy battle on Wednesday last week when the Capital Regional District agreed to withdraw the proposed interim zoning by-law for Salt Spring Island.

Tempers had been frayed and meetings had boiled over at the original plan to zone the majority of the island rural. Conceived by the planning department of the Capital Region, the plan had gained initial approval of the community planning committee.

Many owners of commercial properties had loudly protested the by-law and Director Marc Holmes, of the regional board, had failed to convince islanders of his promise to call for postponement of the by-law.

The plan, conceived as an interim holding device, provided for no commercial or industrial zones outside Ganges, Vesuvius and Fulford. Owners of resorts and other commercial properties objected on the grounds that if they were not zoned for the purpose of their operation they would be sharply restricted. Operating in a rural zone, they would be prohibited from expansion, they could not rebuild in the event of extensive fire or other damage and the opportunity of selling their businesses would be sharply limited.

Proponents explanation that it was planned to restrict them in this manner for a limited period fell on deaf ears.

Final play in the battle for zones came on Monday evening last week with a public meeting to explain the situation to all islanders.

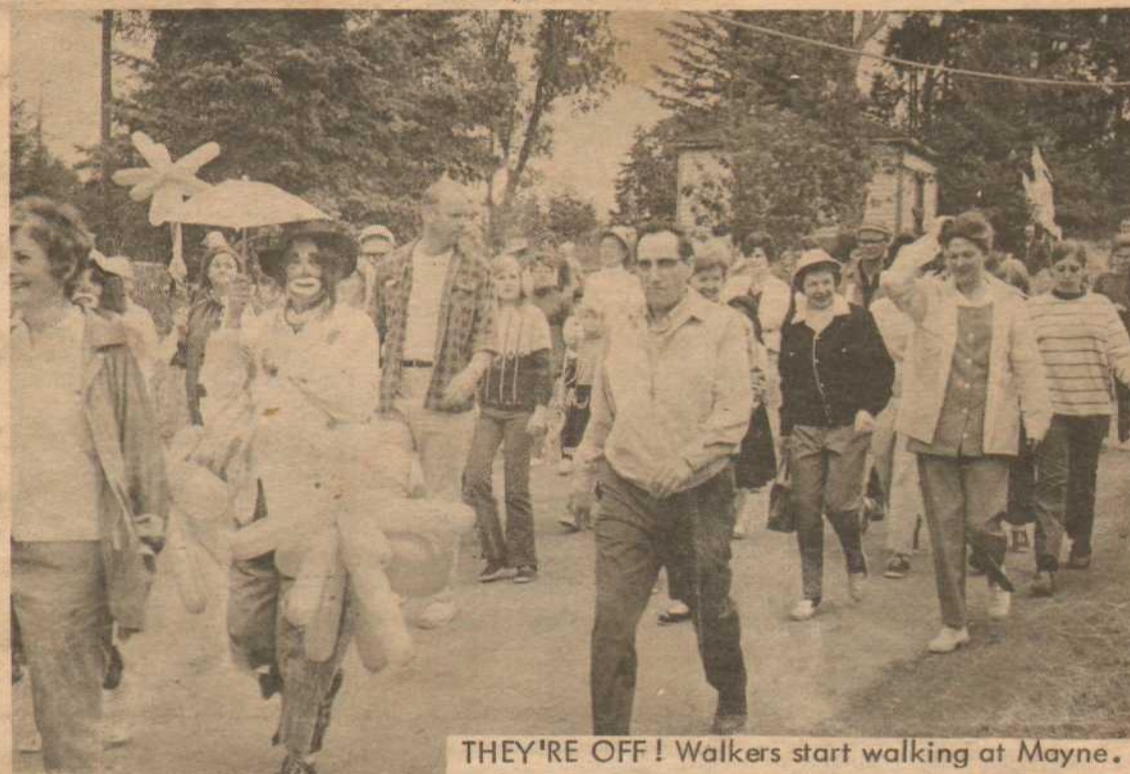

Voluntary committee was given a vote of confidence, with the proviso that the wishes of island businessmen should be considered before any other zoning plan is submitted to the island.

Additional project supported by the meeting was extension of the terms of reference of the planning committee to include a thorough examination of incorporation of Salt Spring Island.

Motion was offered by Spencer Marr, one of the by-law's critics and seconded by Henry Schubart, chairman of the Community Planning Committee.

On Monday evening Salt Spring Island's Planning Committee is staging its regular meeting in the high school gymnasium. Record attendance is expected as the committee takes a further look at planning on the island

THEY'RE OFF! Walkers start walking at Mayne.

HE RUNS TO WIN

Walkathon

The Mayne Island walkathon drew a big entry for the second year in succession on Saturday when nearly 100 eager marchers set out at noon for the 10-mile hike.

First home made the complete 10-mile course in 57 minutes. He ran.

There were distinguished provincial and national figures and distinguished Mayne Island figures. Tommy Douglas, MP, leader of the NDP in Ottawa, marched alongside Dave Barratt, MLA, his counterpart in Victoria. Unsuccessful NDP candidate for the islands seat in the last provincial election, Don Johannessen was in the running as was his successful Social Credit opponent, John Tisdalle, MLA. Once again Tisdalle came in ahead, by a short margin.

Carrying the political theme into local affairs, Alan Steward showed up in Stanfield guise, a pair of grey long johns. Progressive Conservative leader, John de Wolf showed up to watch but not to walk.

ADVICE TO GRADUATES

SERVE YOUR COMMUNITY

Man who graduated from a Salt Spring Island school in the 19th century recalled the day when he was in school at Vesuvius while presenting his own W. M. Mouat Scholarship to Janis Smith last week at the high school graduation exercises. Mr. Mouat came to the island 85 years ago.

The Gilbert Mouat Citizenship Award was presented to Fiona Seward by Richard Toynbee.

When the chairman of the board, G. M. Heinekey presented the Farmers Institute Scholarship to Carolyn Webster, he explained that the scholarship was once given to a student in agriculture, but as fewer island students are taking agriculture, the terms had been broadened.

Mrs. A. J. Hepburn presented the commerce award to Johanne Buitenwerf. After warmly kissing the recipient, Mrs. Hepburn went on to make her service award to Andrea Harkema and Yvonne Blais. Yvonne promptly returned to the rostrum to receive an award for a North American contest undertaken in March.

There was no relief for Mrs. Hepburn. She continued her duties with an expression of gratitude to Wendy Sawyer, Mrs. Shopland and six girls who helped to prepare the gymnasium. "And thanks to the students who came through here and were

THEY COULD BE HEARD CLEARLY

Major improvements in the public address system in the Gulf Islands Secondary School gymnasium were evident on Wednesday evening last week when 1970 graduates took their leave of the school.

The audience could hear and understand almost every word used. In the past majority of people in the hall have been unable to hear a word.

GALIANO MEETING LEARNS

SUBDIVISION BAN AWAITS ZONING

There will be no easing of subdivisions on the outer islands until a long-term, comprehensive plan has been prepared, a planning meeting in Galiano Hall on Saturday evening was assured.

Planning will attempt to stave off excessive population growth, observed Regional District Community Planner Charles Wakelin and it will see that the growth is properly handled. Mr. Wakelin was introduced by the chairman, Dr. Hart Scarrow. Initially, he drew a verbal picture of the scope and operation of the regional district in its field of planning.

The islands lie between two metropolitan areas and are influenced by a third. It is anticipated that the population of the Canadian cities will be three million by 1970, with Seattle-Tacoma at six to seven million, said Mr. Wakelin.

There are two planning projects, explained Mr. Wakelin. The short-term program will seek to arrest development until a long-term, overall plan can be evolved.

"We feel that a control is needed to stop haphazard development until a long-term plan has been prepared," he added.

Henry Schubart, chairman of the Salt Spring Island Community Planning Advisory Committtee explained his committee to Galiano Islanders who have no such organization.

"We jumped the gun on Salt Spring Island," he reported.

He recalled the Chamber of Commerce drive for a planning committee to get islanders' opinions before the regional district showed concern.

His original planning committee is still operating and seeking (Turn to Page Seven)

PAT LEE IS NAMED TO BOARD

June meeting of the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital Board was held at 1:15 p.m. to accommodate the members from Saturna, Mayne, Pender, and Galiano. They often have to stay overnight on Salt Spring following late sessions.

Of particular interest was a report that the Saturna Island Community Club has donated $350 towards the purchase of a bed unit in ward 2.

To replace I. W. Bradley, whose resignation was accepted with regret, Pat Lee, Ganges doctor, was appointed to the

TAHITI NOW FOR HAIGH FAMILY ON LONG VOYAGE

Ernest Haigh and family who set out many months ago on a trans-oceanic voyage have arrived in Tahiti.

Gus Nitsch, of Ganges, an enthusiastic radio ham operator, was talking to Mr. Haigh on Sunday.

"He came in so clearly it was like talking to him next door," said Mrs. Nitsch.

The travellers will remain in Tahiti for a time before setting out for New Zealand in October. They plan to remain in New Zealand for a year or so.

Mr. Nitsch is in regular contact with the travellers.

DOG AND 23 RIBBONS

Salt Spring Island retriever, black Labrador Mossbank's Salish War Drum, from Lou Yellowlees' Salish Kennels has returned from Field Trial competitions in Calgary, Vernon and Fort Langley.

This young Labrador has placed in most field trials since he started in competition two years ago.

Last Saturday "Drummer" received first place over twenty retrievers at Fort Langley and now has 11 ribbons from local or "picnic" trials and 12 ribbons from Canadian Kennel Club licensed trials.

He will now start training for the senior or "Open" class and will probably enter competition again next spring.

Mr. Yellowlees is a fervent advocate of trained dogs and dog training. He has offered to give a demonstration of retrieving or assist any retriever owner in the basic training of his dog.

"There are now several retrievers on Salt Spring and some owners may be interested in their development," he said.

At the moment, he added, there is a great need for training areas, as large fields and ponds or small lakes.

PLAN IS URGENT

A plan for Salt Spring Island is important and urgent, agreed directors of the island chamber of commerce on Thursday evening last week. They approved a resolution calling on the planning committee to draw up a by-law zoning each part of the island according to its current use.

The chamber then authorized a committee to seek an appointment with the minister of municipal affairs to ask him to discuss the future of land development on the island.

By a third resolution, the chamber will invite spokesmen for the resident land developers of Salt Spring Island to outline their plans and projected developments to island residents.

PRESS CLUB MEETS AT GALIANO TO HEAR JEAN LOCKWOOD

BY BEA HAMILTON

They travel up and down and all around Vancouver Island, the members of the Canadian Women's Press Club when they have to meet every quarter throughout the year. One June 14, the V.I. Branch met for the first time on lovely Galiano Island where they were welcomed by the Club Chairman, Mary Backlund and escorted to Galiano Lodge, where another royal welcome greeted us.

This is a delightful recreational place, right on the bay overlooking Active Pass. Marine traffic is constant and on a large scale. It is exciting, lively and the boats seem to be almost within touching distance. At night, with the sparkling lights on the ferries, it is overwhelming.

During the day small and large craft bob in the wake of the churning ferry boats and the whisper and splash of waves breaking on the shore adds glamor to the scene. This is an ideal holiday paradise where the rooms in the Lodge all look out over the sweeping seascape. Inside the Lodge, the comfort of the visitors seems to be the main concern of the proprietors.

Mary Gibbs was on the beach gleaning driftwood long before the rest were settled. If Mary didn't have a driftwood collection before, she has one now.

Guest speaker after luncheon was Jean Lockwood. She spoke on the trend and progress, good and bad, of Galiano. She also spoke of her friendship for Mary Backlund, the club chairman. She was delighted to meet Dorothy Tupper, whom she had had contact with but had never met. Both were connected with the B.C. Hydro for some years. Miss Tupper is still very much a part of B.C. Hydro and Jean who used to be editor of a small but potent newspaper for the Gulf Islands before DRIFTWOOD took it over, is today deep in real estate business.

Chairman Mary Backlund called the meeting to order and discussions on future activities and business took over. Evelyn Caldwell then read her report on her recent visit to Regina to attend the meeting of Canadian Women's Press Club executives.

It was with interest that we learned of a visit pending shortly of Jean Danard, president of the

FULFORD

BY BEA HAMILTON

Concern for the soft sand alongside the road, especially by St. Paul's Church, coming around the bend, has aroused the concern of a number of people who feel this is a grave danger to driving.

Even walking in the sand is hazardous, say several.

Their point is well taken, for one gentleman, quite elderly, came around the bend, in his car, got onto the sandy part and his car skidded to the edge, rolled over and over, right to the bottom to land on the beach below.

He was only shaken up and neither was his passenger hurt and not too much damage to the car. But he could have been a casualty, and others could run into the same hazard if the greatest care is not taken.

"Pop" Lloyd-Walters is deeply concerned and would like to see the highway crew do something about these hazardous places along the highway. And he'd like to see this done before there ARE any casualties. "Pop's" is not the only voice raised on this as several people have mentioned the hazards of the sandy sides of the highways. We hope the highways dept. will take note and see that this danger is overcome and soon.

I APOLOGIZE

I have been asked if I would write about the so-called protest meeting held in the Fulford Hall last week. I will not say much. For one thing, ye Editor covered the whole disastrous meeting well, and expressed our feelings strongly. J. Roland also gave a scathing stab at the bad behavior and has much sympathy for his demand to sue those responsible for "inciting to riot". Others expressed their disgust and I am too ashamed to think that we have people on the Island who would accuse such people whom we all know and respect, who are on the Planning Committee. These are your people and mine; men and women of integrity who have spent, not just hours, but months in planning what is best for the island. When they found the zoning by-laws would conflict with business they had it quashed.

But did the business people approach Marc Holmes or Henry Schubart or Adrian Wolfe-Milner or Mrs. Gladys Slingsby or Jack Wood or any of the others on the Committee? No, they just went blindly ahead and well, you know what happened, or nearly happened. If it hadn't been for a little bit of humor from Bob Holloman, and one or two others, anything could have happened.

CWPC, to Victoria and plans are being made to meet and entertain her.

In the absence of the secretary Grace Horgan, Dorothy Tupper filled in.

The Lodge owners then provided tea before it was time to catch the ferry home.

If that is the way certain adults set example to the young people, it is a very poor show. I happen to know that the young people can think for themselves and some of them express themselves pretty well and they think the accusations were in pretty poor taste.

There is only one thing left, we who were at the meeting in good faith, with no idea of what the business people had in mind, can only offer apologies that the members of the Planning Committee should be so insulted and rudely treated right in their faces. I for one, offer an apology for the bad behavior of ignorant people. And what right do I have to offer an apology? I was born here; this is my Island home.

The special evening service at St. Mary's church on Sunday was a delight and the young people in the choir have never sung so well or with so much feeling. The Children's Choir is under the direction of Mrs. E. Abbott, Mrs. D. Dane and Philip Sawford. Mr. Sawford is organist and choirmaster. We will be looking forward to hearing the choir again. The church was full, as it always is for special services. The church has been well-taken care of for the last few weeks by Rev. Abbott and on Sunday, we welcomed the Rector, Archdeacon R. B. Horsefield, back from his recent holiday.

We got a call from Mrs. A. Davis from San Francisco and she is having a good time on the Oriana en route to England, Ireland (hope she keeps away from the shillelagh war!) and Scotland. In Edinburgh she will visit Miss Florence Duncan and her sister Mrs. R. Hogg, and will attend the Queen's Garden Party. Some doings, eh? Mrs. Davis expressed her delight at receiving a lovely bouquet of flowers from the members of the Women's Institute, so take a bow, girls, and she wore her orchid corsage to dinner the first night. (The orchid was a family gift). My sister will visit the Little Dean W. I. in England and a number of our relations.

MAYNE SHOW FLOWERS

BY ELSIE BROWN

In spite of drought, blight and flowers not at their best, the Mayne Island Summer Flower Show went on as planned at the hall on Saturday with a very good attendance.

Entries from all classes listed were on display.

Arrangements of cut flowers, table centres large, small and miniature were well presented.

Mrs. E. C. Darts, well-known judge from White Rock, complimented the entrants on the increase in number of entries as well as the quality. Her lecture following the judging was well received. Points to remember included the necessary preparations prior to cutting the blooms and preservation afterwards. Early morning is the best time for this with stems completely immersed in water. Methods of display were explained stressing the need for reading the schedule instructions, the number of blooms requested, exact measurements in miniatures, etc.

A large bucket of flowers of lesser known varieties was brought over from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Darts at White Rock and created a great deal of interest among the islanders and visitors. Names of the plants and information on their culture was given.

In charge of arrangements was Mrs. Vic (Marjorie) Haggart assisted by Mrs. Winnie Hayhurst, Mrs. Kathleen Dought, Mrs. Cecilia Nighringale, Mrs. Meg Drummond, Mrs. Connie Cunningham and Mrs. Effie Piggott.

High point winner for an individual entry was Mrs. Hugh Campkin for a foliage plant, elephant ear begonia.

Take Pat Meagher for example... he lives on Sunset Drive and he looks across at Vancouver Island. He's seen all the Islands. You'd figure he'd seen enough. But no! He can't see enough of Islands and now he's off to see Samoa.

Report comes from Mayne of a cat. The cat is attributed to the island post office and if it's wrong Mrs. Mary Kline will be after our blood. The report says that the Kline cat doesn't like telephone bells. The cat has learned that the receiver controls the sound. When the telephone rings, the cat is reputed to jump to it and flick the receiver off in order to stop the noise. And I know just how that cat feels.

American yachtsman came into DRIFTWOOD book store. Why 5% tax? he enquired. Clerk explained that the tax was used to pay the cost of operating hospitals.

"Then we pay a dollar a day," she added.

"I wish I lived in Canada," he replied.

The visitor recalled the death of a friend who was injured in a road accident. He arrived at a small community hospital without identification. The hospital refused him admission unless he could prove his ability to pay.

The injured man died en route to a city hospital.

"You don't know how lucky you are," said the visitor, "There are a lot of us would pay five per cent and more for the chance to get into hospital when we need it!"

LET'S PUT AN END TO IT!

Tenacity is an excellent attribute in a bulldog. A bulldog with bad teeth is out of business. It is less admirable in the human.

A few weeks ago a number of Salt Spring Island businessmen learned that a zoning plan for the island would threaten the future of their businesses for a year or more. They acted as they considered necessary to bring about a change in the plan.

The plan has been changed. Already a new plan is being prepared.

Their teeth should now relax in order that they may take on nourishment. The angry snarl should be replaced by an amiable grin. They have won.

A few are so busy slanging everyone whose views are different from their own that the noise of their muttering is drowning out the debate on the future.

We have had enough of vicious rumour and insinulative lies, and bad odour. The authors would do well to rejoin civilization and look to the future, not the past.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THANK YOU

Editor, Driftwood,
It has been suggested that I write a "thank you" note for the improvement in the telephone service at the south end of Salt Spring Island. Certainly it is better than it was and for this I am grateful. I have only one question to ask now. Why must there always be a hum? It is constant whether or not the phone is in use. Why, please?

THE DUST BOWL

Editor, Driftwood,
Rainbow Road... what a lovely name! Should be changed to the Dust Bowl! We have been told that we cannot have any oil this year. The last time we had some was May, 1969.

What rubbish to say that the oil pollutes the water! If that is so, it's time they found something else to put on the roads, everywhere.

This road is a disgrace, summer and winter. In the winter our cars are shaken to death with potholes and in summer we cannot enjoy our gardens or have the window open.

One day I counted 20 private cars, a bulldozer, a gravel truck, and electrical service van, five motorcycles and several other trucks. Do you wonder we are smothered with dust.

Very few take any notice of the 30 mph signs. I would not be surprised to see a head-on collision any day as one cannot always see the vehicle ahead for the cloud of dust. It is very disturbing to several people who have respiratory trouble.

Now we have a gravel pit opened which will make more dust, and what a pity to see the goudges on the side of the road, which once used to be a lovely country drive. All the trees are covered with the thick grey dust and even the deer do not hang around the road any more.

Well, I hope something is going to be done, or there are going to be a lot of sick people along here. Would not be a bad idea if we had the old watering carts. Surely they would not cost much? We have been putting up with it for seven years now, but perhaps one of these days somebody will wake up and do something about it.

-Mrs. J.S. Jones, of the Dust Bowl, Ganges, June 26, 1970.

SUBTERFUGE

Editor, Driftwood,
Last week a leaflet headed "DANGER", dropped from the blue sky into our mailbox, to announce that the gods who guard our activities ordered all citizens to meet in the Fulford Hall, at 8 p.m., on June 22. The leaflet was unsigned so we are not certain as to what god or group of gods, or would-be gods, had the temerity to present us with this atrocious folder. The fact that it was not signed was an insult to the intelligence of semi-free citizens, as well as an indication that the local gods presumed the Islanders could be led by the nose.

Mr. Holmes is the representative of the local Advisory Committee on the Regional Board, whose function is governed by the Municipal Act, administered by the Minister of Municipalities and his political advisers. Thus, neither the Local Advisory Committee nor the various Regional Boards, can act other than as collectors of information, for the Minister and his advisers, without the authority necessary, to carry out the wishes of the people. The Minister at his discretion, or lack of it, may or may not use that information.

Social Credit is replete with such subterfuges, and even our M.P.'s are taught to be loyal to their organization, rather than to the people who elected them.

LET'S GET AT IT!

Editor, Driftwood,
Now that our volunteer fire department has come true, our work is not over. It is obvious that no one can operate the fire truck and all the related equipment used in fire fighting, without being familiar with its proper use. This also holds true in combatting various kinds of fires.

I was present at two of the last three fires, and I don't mind saying there was too much confusion and wasted energy. This I feel is due to the lack of people attending the fire practices. Upon talking with the fire chief I found him very upset with the turnout at these fire drills.

It is at these fire drills that the proper operation of the fire truck, and the right techniques in fire fighting are explained.

Quite a large sum of money and work went into the purchase of the fire truck, fire fighting equipment, and the fire hall.

Let us not waste all this time and money on tripping over the fire truck and ourselves.

With three fires already gone past, we can feel confident that there will be more in the near future.

I think that if we do not learn to operate as a uniform and effective unit, there is going to be a real disaster in the near future. The volunteer department is ours, we paid for it. Let us not waste this; let us all attend the fire drills (every second Wednesday) and learn to feel confident and effective in our work. Let us start posting signs on fire closure, except on beaches.

DONNA HOLLINGS WED

BY BEA HAMILTON

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hollings announce the marriage of their daughter Donna Lorraine to Carlos Ordonez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Ordonez of London, England. The wedding took place on June 13, in Chicago, Ill., with Rev. Edward Campbell officiating. Best man was Tony Cohe, of London. The bride was lovely in a long white silk gown, trimmed with lace, touched off with a white picture hat and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white daisies.

Her maid of honor, Miss Kristin Penn, of Shawno, Wisconsin, and bridesmaid, Miss Suzella Kinney of Chicago, wore pretty full-length dresses patterned with green and yellow on white. Their yellow picture hats and sashes and colonial bouquets of yellow roses and daisies, completed the attractive picture.

The small flower girl was Judy Zartman, daughter of James nailed by me to do the same work," she added.

B. C. Teachers' scholarship was awarded to Michael Alexander by Vice-Principal Bob McWhirter. The award is made to a student planning to continue his education.

T. E. Harcus made a presentation of the Citizenship Award to Fiona Seward.

Following presentations Alan Emmett, former Mayor of Burnaby entertained the assembly.

He urged students to respect community service and to enter politics in order to serve their fellows. Service to the community is its own reward and any citizen with strong views should seek to put them to use, he asserted.

Mr. Emmett was a member of the Burnaby council for 11 years, as councillor and Mayor. He left to run for the mayoralty of Vancouver, he recalled.

"I knew I was going to win," he told his youthful audience, "I had letters from everywhere cheering for me."

The letters were from North Vancouver, Campbell River and Everett, in Washington... Except Vancouver, he added.

"Unfortunately," he quipped, "the Campbells were coming." He was edged out by Tom Campbell.

He observed that Tom Harcus must have taught Radioman Jack Webster to talk.

It was his first visit to Salt Spring Island, explained the exuberant former politician. He served with Ian Moutat in the RCAF and that was as near as he came to Salt Spring. Besides, he added, he often visits Saturna and the Saturna Islanders have long warned him that Salt Spring is "den of iniquity".

He delved into his own mind and its memories.

The advent of radio, Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic, the Second World War, were all major events in his past.

In his day travel was epitomized in the National Geographic Magazine in the doctor's office. Today's student can travel the world by TV. There is every challenge left, said Mr. Emmett. Life is the great challenge.

Each can choose. He can kill himself if life is so empty. It is very easy, suggested the speaker.

Or he can live to make a contribution to the world he lives in.

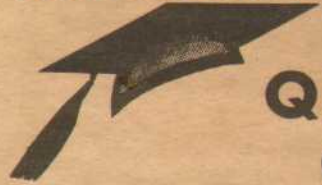

He can work for his community by representing them, concluded Mr. Emmett.

Zartman, who proposed the toast to the bride.

The reception was held in the home and garden of the officiating minister.

The young couple will spend the honeymoon in Portugal and on their return will make their home in London.

YOUR SCHOOL BOARD

QUESTION CORNER

DID YOU KNOW....

Question: Would you care to comment on the circumstances surrounding the erection of the chain across the bottom of the school road?

Answer: Some time ago, a parent made the suggestion that this road should be closed to automobile traffic. This parent had two young children in the Elementary School whom he met each day in the vicinity of Mahon Hall, and he was afraid of small children being run over by cars which were going up and down the hill. An attempt was made to resolve the matter by putting a notice requiring a speed of not more than five miles an hour, and indicating that only those on business could use the road with motor vehicles or cycles. The situation was not solved by this means and after some time and various discussions, the chain was decided upon.

Question: What is the difference between a library and a resource centre?

Answer: "Library" is an old and respected word which usually applies to a group of books but in fact may refer to any organized collection of objects such as a record library or a film library.

"Resource centre" is a new term used to describe what is happening to the school libraries of our district. Each of them has changed from a single collection - of books - to multiple collections - filmstrips, media kits, film loops, tapes, as well as other resource materials, each organized as a separate collection.

The words "library" and "resource centre" may still be used interchangeably, but the latter word more accurately describes what our school libraries are like.

There are pensioners on the outer islands who depend, in part, on the revenue they derive from the rental of guest cottages.

On Saturday evening a planning meeting at Galiano emphasized the blow to some islanders if this practice were ruled out by regulation and law.

It had been mooted that guest cottages would be acceptable

GIRLS WINNERS

ELEMENTARY

Both girls and boys softball teams travelled to Cordova Bay last Wednesday to participate in an invitational tournament.

The boys played very well, winning their first game before losing to Cordova Bay who fielded an excellent pitcher.

The girls' team played strongly to overpower Lochside Elementary school in their first game. Then the girls showed good spirit in coming from behind to win the final against Cordova Bay scoring the needed four runs in their last turn at bat.

In other games during the past week Salt Spring boys defeated Crofton, 27-5; while the girls were victorious by 28-7.

Playing against Chemainus the boys won 19-9 and the girls overpowered the visitors by 28-5.

GARDEN PARTY

BY OLIVE MOUAT

What a difference in the way you feel before a garden party and after it! Before the fatal date, you wonder, "Will it rain?" Afterwards you smile, "Wasn't the weather perfect?"

This year the weather was perfect. The garden was bright with roses and clumps of iris. Everyone smiled with the sun.

Welcoming the guests was Mrs. Fred Anderson. Accepting the donations which will be a great help in paying for repairs to the Ganges United Church were Mrs. Harry Ashley and Mrs. E. Parsons. Preparing and serving the strawberry shortcake and tea were Mesdames F. D. Artiss, J. F. Earl, James Gourley, F.H.A. Reid, Philip Sawford, T. J. Sharland, and L. A. Summers; and the Misses Josie Overend, Sharon Barber, Debbie Duncan, Ann Hazenboom, Reta Rogers, and Olive Mouat.

Behind-the-scenes but very necessary work was done by Messrs. Frank Artiss, J. Catto, J. Wallis and the Fred Anderson family.

Presiding over the Home Cooking Stall were Mrs. J. W. Catto and Mrs. John Paton. Ruling the White Elephant fell to the capable hands of Mrs. J. D. Reid and Mrs. Roy Howard.

The garden party was most successful, socially and financially, thanks to hard work on the part of some, generosity on the part of many, a good phoning committee, and favorable weather.

LET'S STAY JUST LIKE WE ARE!

Interest was high when the first planning meeting was called on Saturday evening to discuss the results of the recent planning questionnaire.

The largest meeting on record in Galiano Hall heard Henry Schubart and Charles Wakelin support Chairman Dr. Hart Scarrow.

Ganges couple laid claim to part of the large attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Valcourt, who attended the meeting, stated afterwards that they had organized a telephone committee to urge all islanders to attend. Analysis of the questionnaire was made by Dr. Scarrow, who is member for Galiano of the Outer Islands Advisory Planning Commission.

Dr. Scarrow reported that there had been a total of 790 questionnaires returned to the Capital Regional District. These included 709 which bore the signature of the respondent and 81 submitted anonymously. Questionnaire covered Galiano, Saturna, Mayne and the Pender Islands.

From Galiano came 240 questionnaires within the original deadline. A further 40 were received later. Of Galiano residents, 70% replied, while 60% of off-island Galiano property owners responded.

Galiano people, whether they lived on the island most of the time or merely part of the time, held the same general views on the island's future.

Statistics show that age of the respondents was predominantly 45 to 64; two were under 19 and 160 were over 64. One-quarter had lived on the islands for less than three years and one-tenth had been here for more than 25 years.

While majority owned their own homes, four per cent rented property.

Outer islanders who have come here to live, are largely from Vancouver. Among all outer islanders, some 25% reported they were retired, although, noted Dr. Scarrow, only 20% of Galiano residents admitted it.

Four most prominent concerns of islanders, as spelled out in the questionnaire, were overpopulation, pollution, uncontrolled subdivision and lack of adequate water supply.

There was no majority seeking local government. While 44% said they would welcome local municipal government, 48% took the opposite view. Of those favouring government by the islanders for the islanders, 20% wanted it to cover all the outer islands; 18% to include all islands, with Salt Spring Island, and 17% would settle for a separate municipality for each island.

Fire protection ranked at the top of the preferred additional services. All islands except the Penders now have fire districts.

Garbage disposal, water supply, health services, recreational facilities and schools were placed in that order as being the preferred additional services even at an increase in cost to be borne by taxes.

Additional facilities were restaurants, of which 27% said they wanted more and 49% said they had enough; repair services were sought by 53% and shrugged off by 28%. Stores, additional stores, were asked for by 27% and rejected by 44%, with nursing homes showing even less in favor.

Islanders prefer to shop in neighborhood stores throughout the island rather than in one larger shopping centre. They prefer to do their larger shopping in Victoria, with Vancouver trailing by seven per cent. Thirteen per cent shop for larger shopping through the mail order catalogues and 87 Gulf Islanders reported that they do all their shopping in island stores.

Islanders don't want aircraft landing strips. They don't want improved ferry services, although Galiano did not echo this choice, and the majority do not seek improved regular air services. Only 20% would welcome improved ferry service to enable commuters to live on the islands, while 73% made a flat "No". They don't want local bus service; they don't want wider roads. All they ask for is narrow roads with speed limits; and 66% favored that.

Need for tighter controls of a variety of aspects of island living started with a massive 96% in favor, trailing down to a mere 70% at the end of the list. Controls sought include: water pollution, garbage dumping, roadside advertising, lot sizes, subdivision planning, wrecking yards, air pollution, preservation of views, noise, burning, sewage disposal, zoning, quarrying, and gravel pits, land clearing, grading and excavation, appearance of buildings, height of building and drainage and flooding.

There was, however, Dr. Scarrow revealed, only limited support for building inspection and a building code. There were 319, or 41%, in favor of these restrictions, with 242, or 31%, voting against them.

This figure was different on Galiano, noted the chairman. There were more than 50% in favor of building controls on his island.

Asked for alternatives to zoning or general planning, respondents suggested first to leave things as they are or to establish a minimum size lot of one acre.

ISLANDERS DON'T WANT AIRPLANES OR FAST FERRIES OR WIDER ROADS OR MODERN TRAVEL . . . JUST NARROW ROADS AND SLOW TRAFFIC AND QUIET LIVING

Planning should cover adjacent waters, said 83% and 56% favored underground wiring. Control of house trailers was sought by 80%, while 92% opposed oil or gas well on the islands and 95% opposed drilling in off-island waters.

MINING SITES ARE ATTRACTIVE IN ILLUSTRATOR'S TALK

On Tuesday, June 9 the Gulf Islands' Historical Society held a meeting on Saturna Island. Charles Campbell, a mining engineer of many years' experience in all parts of B. C., gave a most interesting talk on many districts in the province and the Yukon.

As he talked he showed pictures of the different sections. Many of these places had never been seen by most people as they were far from the railways or roads travelled by the general public. The talk followed no plan but moved from place to place.

The first pictures showed the Fraser - its grandeur and beauty all the way from Hope to Lillooet.

Members saw many pictures of the Gold Rush days - Miles Canyon, Lac La Barge, White Horse; the Klondike Valley, the Yukon, Otter Falls. Many of these places were shown in the glorious summer, with many beautiful flowers and again in winter, snow-covered and bleak.

There were pictures of mining sites in high mountains, accessible only by almost unbelievable efforts. There was pink snow caused by algae. At Hames, there is an Indian cemetery, hidden as carefully as possible from unfriendly eyes. By the time we had travelled from Alaska to Butte Lake on Vancouver Island, with a stop at the Queen Charlottes, everyone felt that we had been shown a wonderful over-all view of our beautiful B. C.

There were 65% who felt that the future of the islands is greatly influenced by activities on the other islands and surrounding waters, while four per cent reported a conviction that they were not influenced at all by such activities.

Islanders felt little need for apartments of any kind on the outer islands. Nevertheless, they placed styles in order of acceptability.

"The higher the fewer," observed Dr. Scarrow. Two-storey apartments proved acceptable to 146 respondents; three-storey buildings to 71 residents and six-storey apartment buildings found favor only with 32 replies. Finally, high-rise apartments were approved in principle by 22 respondents.

Islanders generally suggested that improved recreational facilities might usefully include an expanded library service, arts and crafts facilities, more community halls and a movie house. Galiano showed a different response from other islands in this section, added the chairman.

Other facilities suggested by respondents were bowling lanes, billiard parlour and beer parlour.

Outdoor facilities favored by islanders were parks, hiking trails, beach facilities, boating facilities, cycling paths, playgrounds, sports ground and swimming pool. Islanders in small number also asked for golf course, tennis courts and bridle paths.

Vast majority pressed for the retention of open, undeveloped land, preferably the highest parts of the island.

Dr. Scarrow completed his outline, explaining other differences between his own island and the rest of the outer islands.

Questionnaire was prepared and circulated by the planning department of the Capital Regional District and it was finally analyzed by the department. Although basically similar to the earlier questionnaire on Salt Spring Island, the outer islands list offered questions fitting the different character of the smaller islands, said Dr. Scarrow.

ing to correlate the needs of the island and islanders and the planning function of the regional district.

Planning committee initially sought a "use control", on Salt Spring Island, explained Mr. Schubart. By this means, every use would be permitted, but no change could be made without applying for rezoning. A gas station could not, under such a by-law, be converted to a grocery store; or a marina to a motel without application and approval.

The proposal was not acceptable to the planning authorities and it was rejected.

"We have suffered for it," he added.

He referred to dispute on Salt Spring Island over the interim by-law and the recent meeting at Fulford.

"It was wild and woolly, but very successful," said the Ganges architect.

The committee is now seeking a by-law which will leave the island very much as it is now, he explained. The Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce, at its executive meeting, voted 6-1 in favor of such a by-law, he stated.

"If you want planning to meet with the needs of the island it is very important that you take part in all the planning meetings on the island," he urged.

The meeting was asked whether the outer islands planning by-law would be available for discussion in the formative stages.

Islanders were told that the by-law, like any other regulation, is legally in camera until it has been presented to the governing body; in this case the regional district. On Salt Spring Island the board of the district has waived this privilege of hearing it before the ratepayers of the island. There is no reason to expect that the board will change its policy in the case of the outer islands.

Will there be a public hearing on each island or one hearing for all the islands, the chairman was asked. The matter has not yet been discussed by the planners, but it was agreed that a separate meeting should be called for each island.

No land may now be subdivided into lots of less than 10 acres, meeting was reminded, although more than one home may be built on a 10-acre lot.

Urgency of a by-law depends on the future, commented Mr. Schubart. If a pulp mill were to be constructed on Galiano Island, then the need would prove to have been urgent, he suggested, admitting the exaggeration.

"If the danger of undesirable development exists, the need for a by-law is urgent," he added.

Undesirable projects could be controlled by building permits, suggested W.H. Day.

A building inspector may only withhold a permit if the planned structure fails to meet the requirements of the National Building Code, explained Mr. Schubart. Unless a zoning by-law is in force, then he cannot refuse a permit for any other reason.

The act provides for the withholding of a permit where a zoning by-law is in preparation commented Mr. Wakelin. This may be held up for a total of 90 days, but as yet no by-law is in preparation for Galiano.

"When does it come under preparation?" asked J.W. Thompson.

Salt Spring Island by-law will probably be the pattern for the outer islands, he was told.

John Menzies, of Ganges and formerly of Galiano, asked whether an interim by-law must receive three readings and be subject to a public hearing. He was told that this was the case, under the Municipal Act.

Many on Salt Spring Island had gained the impression that these could be set aside, commented Mr. Menzies.

Why correlate island planning with the San Juan Islands, asked Vivienne Clarke.

Matters affecting one group affect the other, replied Mr. Wakelin. The islands are neighbors and seek to compare notes to ensure that nothing is done in the one group which might prove detrimental to the other.

When a zoning by-law comes into effect a board of variance must be established by the regional district, explained Mr. Wakelin. Such a board represents an appeal court against the regulations concerning building. The board may relax such regulations as location of a building on the site and other restrictions. It may not relax zoning regulations, however.

The board is formed of one nominee of the provincial government, one is named by the regional district and the first two elect a third. There will be one board for all the district as plans now indicate.

Mr. Schubart suggested that there should be one for at least each electoral area. Mr. Day added that he felt that the nomination of such a board was undemocratic and that members should be elected. The municipal act lays down the pattern of nomination, he was informed.

"Change it," he countered. Miss Jean Lockwood observed that Galiano is different from Salt Spring Island and that subdivision has been on a small scale. There are less than 50 building lots available on Galiano today, she told the meeting and that includes mountainside properties.

Planning had come closer to Galiano as the meeting broke up.

FATHER'S DAY TEA

Trincomali Chapter # 93 of the Order of the Eastern Star, held a very successful Father's Day Tea on June 20 at St. George's Parish Hall under the convenership of Mrs. Doris Coombes. Mrs. Jack Evans, one of the past Worthy Matrons, who is also Grand Organist for the Grand Chapter of B. C., this year, opened the tea with a reference to some of the Order's charitable projects. The greatest is raising funds for cancer research and free cancer dressings for everyone who needs them.

SATURNA

BY PAPAJOHN

Awards Day at our Saturna School is always a treat to watch. As usual the principal, tantalizing Taimi Hindmarch, had all her charges brimming with enthusiasm and everything went off like clockwork.

The Florence Nightingale Chapter of the IODE in Victoria had donated the book awards. We missed the winsome ladies' presence this year, but wish to thank them for their yearly contribution to our school pupils.

The awards were, reading, minx Mary Jane Davidson; arithmetic, satiny Sandra Crooks; writing, serene Shirley Anne Johnson; progress in all subjects, jingling Jeannette Carpentier; mature work habits, joyous Jennifer Davidson; helping others, Steven Lawson; most zealous, Casey Carpentier; for proficiency in all subjects, saintly Diane Simuslawski; for appreciation of reading, Dale Lawson; for social studies and his own research, Johnny Davidson; for accepting responsibility, Arthur Carpentier.

Gentle Clarice Warlow was proud of her pupils in music and singing and they all sang several songs. Mim Marjorie Blaine had made four beautiful corsages and tantalizing Taimi had minx Mary Jane present one to gentle Clarice; satiny Sandra presented one to elfin Elsie Dangerfield; serene Shirley Anne presented one to Granmarie McMahon. It was a heart-warming afternoon's occasion and after tea and goodies provided by the mothers tantalizing Taimi could call finish to another successful year as our school principal.

On Friday, July 10 the Gulf Islands Branch of the B. C. Historical Association will meet between the afternoon ferries in our hall to hear Prof. Bartoli give us a talk on the Spanish explorations in the Gulf Islands. This should be very interesting. Everyone, whether a member of the society or not, will be welcome so come out and learn a little more about our islands.

Our sad news for the week:

devilish Donna Begon is doing fine in St. Paul's; mirthful Myrt Miller is just about due to come home from Lady Minto; lively Lil Barnett is in a Vancouver hospital for a check-up and we hear that decorative Dot Maytum is back in Vancouver after a short spell in a prairie hospital.

Our MLA, John Tisdalle came over last Friday and after showing us three interesting films subjected himself to a question period which, to say the least, should have ruffled his political feathers but he came through fairly good, BUT we did not get a few questions answered because a certain group took up too much time with senseless idiotic questions and statements which were untrue. We suppose that this type of meeting is what we can expect in the future, as in the past.

The usual influx of summer islanders will probably start next week and we will try to get them all listed here.

Our BIG BEACH PARTY on July 4 is all set to go. Come out and you can sing your head off and nobody but the seagulls will object.

Our annual Saturna Island Barbecue will be history when you read this but we would like to thank all the WORKERS who helped put it over.

We have grandson number one, John Robert over and have caught quite a few bullheads so far. He is sure an ardent fisherman and now throws the fish back in as he doesn't want to kill them!!!

ANDREA AND THE RAT RACE

At the graduation ceremonies on Wednesday last week, Andrea Harkema was valedictorian. Here is her address in full.

Tonight is our farewell; tonight is the last time this year the graduating class will be united with their parents, united with their teachers, united with themselves.

Tomorrow our insular life will end and we will be expected to enter the world inhabited by adults. We will be expected to meet the challenges, the demands and the obligations which are needed for survival in today's existence.

How will we meet these challenges? This is a question which must remain unanswered. Many of the students you see before you are not ready to meet the requirements of our society, not necessarily because of their lack of maturity, but because they do not believe in today's society. Not all of us believe in society's confined moral laws or the people who implement these laws. Nor do we have any desire to belong to a social system which ostensibly offers equality but which is in actuality nothing more than a rat race.

Materialism reigns supreme. The apex of success is realized ambitions. Each rung of the ladder to the top of the heap is ruthlessly climbed without regard for those who fall by the wayside, especially those who deserve commemoration, the intelligentsia.

At the top of the ladder, the devious rat meets the conniving rat and they compare their material accomplishments.

But are they successful and has the fulfilment of their ideals brought them true happiness? Why is it that so many of us feel that today's world demands we grasp for attainment through strategy and force? This is a puzzling question but perhaps I can offer some partial answers.

Today is an age of extraordinary scientific and technological advances made during our formative years. Thus we have grown to take the benefit of modernization for granted.

Secondly, our assumption that material privilege is daily fare has been bolstered by our parents' reflected reactions to their upbringing.

The going 30's and World War 1, certainly may have helped form their material ambitions for their children.

What you missed you wanted us to have and what you gave us we grasped too quickly. The Golden Ring you have given us is in our hands and we hope we can use it wisely.

Perhaps you may feel that we are using our golden ring wisely by entering the rat race by being one of the successful persons who have reached the top of the ladder and can boldly boast, "It's mine, all mine!"

Or perhaps you think differently and believe that we can use your gift by developing and encouraging humanistic values throughout the world.

Some of the students you see before you belong to the "new generation", who are attempting to encourage humanistic values. Many, hopefully including yourselves, have tried in various ways to give our world a chance to develop peacefully and securely. Some try to stop pollution; some try to live in peace and others try to promote education and scientific knowledge, not by complaining about an increase in their taxes, but by giving up their luxuries.

But what do they receive in return for their efforts? Our encouragement? I don't think so.

Instead, these people fall into a number of social categories ranging from hippies to publicity seekers and the co-operation which is necessary in order to cope with some of the minutest problems of our society, goes by unattended and neglected.

Think about it for a while! We all want to survive.

I know I have presented a very dismal picture of life today, but I also know that if it was not for a number of people none of the graduating class would be here to enter the world as they will tomorrow.

It's hard to express one's gratitude in those two small words, "thank you", but those are the words I am going to use. Thank you, parents for spending so much time and so much money to give us a chance in the world. Thank you, teachers of Gulf Islanders Secondary for letting us have a taste of individuality and independence. I know there are times when we have probably abhorred each other, but, then, there have also been many times when the sight of a friendly face and an encouraging smile have given us that certain lift of spirit which enables us to face ourselves and life. Gulf Islands Secondary School possesses certain qualities which we shall always remember. I can honestly say, speaking for myself expressly, that leaving school is really quite a sad event.

In conclusion I would like to quote a passage from an essay written by one of my fellow graduates, Mike Alexander. I feel that the emotions and ideas he presents are applicable not only to himself, but to every young individual who is beginning a life of his own.

"The demands that will be made upon me will be, more often, than not, heavy, but to others they may seem light. But they will be demands I will try to fulfill as I would like others to fulfill my demands. I shall meet these challenges as one would go into battle and into this battle I will take not the weapons of steel and iron, but, instead, the weapons of knowledge; this arsenal that has been growing and will continue to grow.

"Yes, I look forward to fun and friendship, new experience and awareness of life, but I will not forget or try to discredit my life on Salt Spring Island and all that it has taught me. I will go forth into the world with my whole heart and soul and desire to fulfill my obligations to those who have encouraged me and those who have devoted a portion of their lives to teaching me. It is these people I thank and it is to these people that I will do what I will."

Galiano

By MARY BACKLUND

We are pleased to see Mrs. Bernard Stallybrass back home at Georgeson Bay, after several weeks spent in hospital in Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Horne, of Vancouver, spent the past week end at their home on the Island.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Chan, and three children, of Vancouver, are spending a week of their holidays on the Island. They have their summer home at Phillimore Point now almost completed. Dr. Guy Chan, sr. will be over again next week to spend some time with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Priebe, of Portland, Oregon, are spending holidays at their home at Salamanca, "Someday", their daughter, Madeline now being employed at Galiano Lodge for the summer months.

The school term at Galiano school wound up with a most enjoyable picnic at Montague Park. Attending were 33 out of the 44 children enrolled, and all had fun, swimming and wandering around one of the most beautiful parks in the whole world. Basil Benger, principal, and Mrs. Bonnie Robson, will both be back teaching next year. Islanders are indeed fortunate to have both of these talented people, as during the past year, we have all seen a marked improvement in all of the children. Now they love to go to school, and their work is made more fun by the way in which it is taught. For instance, to teach numbers more effectively, Mrs. Robson set up a little country store, and there was amusement in learning how to add and subtract. Mr. Benger arranged a grand trip to Stanley Park for most of the students, a first trip for a few of the children to a picnic. Congratulations to both of them for a successful year. May they also have a happy holiday.

WEDDING AT SATURNA

St. Christopher's Church, Saturna Island, was the scene of the ceremony uniting Lorena Elizabeth Lillian Barnett and William Neville Bouch, on June 20, 1970 with Rev. J. Danglefield officiating.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Barnett of Saturna Island and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Bouch of Saanichton, B.C.

The bride, wearing a full-length A line gown, was given in marriage by her father. The white satin gown featured a long lace train and lily point sleeves. She wore a short tiered veil and carried a bouquet of dark red and yellow roses.

The bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Joan Barnett, and Doris Hallman, bridesmaid. The two were gowned in full length A line dresses one of light yellow and the other green. One carried a bouquet of red roses and the other yellow.

The groom's brother, Edward Bouch, was the best man and the usher was the bride's brother, Donald Barnett. The reception was held at the Saturna Community Hall, decorated and catered by the Saturna Women's Club.

The bride's mother wore a pink and yellow dress with matching accessories and yellow rose corsage. The mother of the groom wore a blue dress and accessories with a red rose corsage.

Edward Bouch of Cobble Hill was master of ceremonies and Jack Barnett of White Rock gave the toast to the bride.

FIRST TAX BILLS ARE OUT FOR NEW WATER DISTRICT

Property owners in the Campbell-Bennett Bay Improvement District have received their first annual tax and water rate accounts.

A pleasant surprise greeted owners when they were advised that the water consumption rate has been set at $10 semi-annually, instead of the originally proposed $3 minimum per month. Annual tax rate per parcel of land is $18 and the connection charge applicable to all presently connected to the water system as well as new services is $100. Subscribers are responsible for the additional connection and permit charges. A meter system is being considered by the board of trustees should it be deemed necessary to regulate excessive consumption.

HE DRAFTED IT!

Authorship of the controversial Salt Spring Island interim zoning by-law came to light on Saturday.

Attributed to Community Planner Henry Schubart by a recent Salt Spring Island meeting, the by-law was vigorously opposed by the resort operators and merchants of the island.

"Who prepared the zoning by-law?" asked a member of the large audience in Galiano Hall on Saturday evening. "It was prepared by the planning department of the Capital Regional District," replied Community Planner Charles Wakelin, of the regional district, "and I drafted most of it."

VISITORS HERE

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gourley, of Mobrae Road recently, were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kidd of Edmonton. Mr. Kidd is Mrs. Gourley's brother.

Open Land Sought

Outer islanders were firm in their expressed convictions on many matters when they filled in a planning questionnaire recently.

Of the 790 completing a questionnaire, 752 called for control of water pollution; 734 for garbage dumping control and 718 for control of roadside advertising.

Ranking with the highest was the demand for a type of control of a more serious nature. There were 787 asking for the retention of parts of the islands for open and undeveloped property. Only 16 declined the proposal.

The respondents were not invited to state how they would establish such a pattern.

These two members of the Vancouver Island Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club were once engaged with the same company, doing the same work, but they never met. Miss Dorothy Tupper, left, was in Victoria, when Miss Jean Lockwood was in Vancouver. Last week Miss Lockwood addressed a meeting of the CWPC and met her counterpart for the first time. The company was the B.C.

BACKDROP TO FOOTHILLS

HE CAME ROUND THE HORN

BY CULTUS COULEE

Monday Painters, reaching the sign "The Foothills", curlicued down, across and around, the 61 acres of Dr. J.C. Foote's place at Razor Point.

The view was all things to all women - across Navy Channel to Mayne and Samuel; across Plumper, to Saturnia landmarks, Payne Point, Breezy Bay and Prairie Hill. Down to the San Juans; and up Browning Harbour. All looked at through what has to be the most exultant group of arbutus, ever.

Arthur H. Gardom Crowh granted land at Razor Point in 1911. Dr. John Calvin Foote bought the place in 1941. Millie Foote is a Victoria girl. Dr. Foote's father, Capt. John Calvin Foote, was for 30 years, a B. C. pilot; and the islands' history is dear to the owners of The Foothills.

Capt. Foote, born in Yarmouth, N.S., came round the Horn to Vancouver, in the barque "H. B. Crowh". Dr. Foote has an oil by a Hong Kong artist, of the Nova Scotia-built ship, named after its Yarmouth owners. She is under full sail, square-rigged on the foremast and mainmast; and fore-and-aft on the mizzenmast. It is a sobering thought, handling that canvas, rounding the Horn.

Another picture is of the 35 ft. staysail schooner, "Buccaneer", built by Dr. Foote in a barn, on rented property on the Sooke Road, outside Victoria.

It took three years, in spare time. In 1934, "Buccaneer", was put on a flat truck, hauled to the big drydock at Esquimalt, picked up and put in the water. Cal Foote, to get his hand in, had built a 25 ft. cruiser, "Kid Boots", in 1930, named after the Ziegfeld Follies' hit, with Eddie Cantor, he saw in New York.

As well as a good tea, sketchers relished their hosts' paintings of Nova Scotia. Enjoying themselves to the hilt, were Irene Estell, Mary Garrod, May Gray, Bertine Haslam, Ora Symes and Connie Swartz.

A small marble headstone, makes a historic Footnote. Found by Robin Pollard in the spring of 1962, when bulldozing down a cliff at Razor Point, to make a road to Dr. Foote's dock the tombstone, dated 1897, has oriental, professionally carved lettering. Dr. T. H. Johns, Victoria, sent photographs to UBC for translation.

The story is that a ship was loading spars in Browning Harbour, when two sailors were killed in an accident. One of them appears to have been buried on Razor Point. The fragments of the stone recovered, were fitted together and set in cement, by Dr. Foote. The stone is now resting close by the sailor's grave.

IT WAS A PARTY

Group of youngsters recently enjoyed a party on Beddis Beach.

It was a wowzer of a party as singing and merrymaking continued well into the small hours.

Following more less merriment cleaned up the broken metal caps from bathing beach.

SWIMMING

Any more for swimming? Swimming classes are scheduled to start next week, but a large number of youngsters haven't started yet.

Pat Lee, of the Salt Spring Recreation commission, reports that enrolment for swimming classes at Vesuvius this year is lower than in any past year.

Swimming is the only safety measure open to children on an island, said Mr. Lee and every child should be able to swim. Children may be enrolled at Electric. Miss Lockwood is a Galiano realtor and Miss Tupper is engaged in the same capacity with BC Hydro.

Box 197, Ganges. Parents are between five and 14.

On Monday a will start and be undertaken. Information Mr. Lee at Salt Ltd.
