Summer's Here At Last

SEE ALL THOSE BROKEN BOTTLES!
**

Summer's here! So is the messy beach.

A ship called in at Fernwood and its occupants gathered on the beach to enjoy a picnic meal. They left happy, filled with good food and fond memories.

They also left 12 beer bottles, two ketchup bottles, a gin bottle and a rye bottle. As well as trifles they neither wanted nor needed.

On Mayne Island a reader called on Monday to deplore the broken glass distributed about island beaches by mainland visitors. The Mayne Island concern was directed particularly at the happy habit of lighting fires on the beaches and leaving without putting the fire out.

Summer's here! The weatherman may not know it but the picnicker does.

PROVINCIAL SPEAKER CALLS IT NONSENSE

Province Frowns On Marine Park Plan

National marine park proposed for the Georgia Strait by federal conservation minister Jack Davis was described on Saturday as utter nonsense, when a provincial spokesman criticized the plan.

Lloyd Brooks, deputy minister of recreation and conservation in Victoria assured a panel of planners that the federal program would not work.

Mr. Brooks had two criticisms to offer.

In the first place, the federal government had mooted the plan and carried out preliminary surveys without formally notifying the province, charged Mr. Brooks. Subsequently he agreed that he was hostile to the plan for the fact that the salt chuck inside the coastal archipelago cannot be considered as an entity without reference to the land around it.

Panel discussion in the McLaurin Bldg. at the University of Victoria, was presented by the Capital Region Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

There was no spokesman present on behalf of Mr. Davis' department.

The community planners agreed that the waters are deteriorating and that correction is becoming a matter of some urgency.

It was suggested that the term "park" was the wrong label and that a piece of land devoted to many uses could be termed a park although recreation was not under consideration.

Taking part were ecologists, planners and engineers, with spokesmen from the British Columbian and Washington state governments.

Chairman of the seminar was John Di Castri, Victoria architect and chairman of the Capital Region Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada. Mr. Di Castri also summed up the conclusions.

Only link with the islands was a former resident of Fulford Don Fraser, who spent the morning in the seminar.

First speaker Howard Paish is an environmental and resource management consultant from Vancouver, who has crossed swords with many interests of the province over matters of the environment.

TOTAL WRECK SUNDAY

Car was totally wrecked when a car and a pick-up were in collision on Lower Ganges Road on Sunday.

The small, import car driven by Fleming Villadsen ran into the back of the pick-up of Gary Bader. The pick-up sustained damage assessed at $100.

Two occupants of the car sustained head injuries and hospitalized, but their names have not been released.

Charges are contemplated, reported Ganges RCMP Detachment.

Students Await Word

Land has been cultivated and market garden venture of Youth 71 on Salt Spring Island is now well under way.

The students have accepted three offers of land, from Zenor Kropinski, Oscar Wallace and Doug Thomas. The Thomas property was already seeded. It has been rototilled for weeding and the other two pieces of land were ploughed and cultivated.

Students are now busy in the production of arts and crafts handiwork ready for the bazaar which will be set up alongside Centennial Park. The student chairman of the project, Doug Anderson told DRIFTWOOD this week that the only uncertain factor is the official approval of public property for the location of stalls for the bazaar. The application has been made to the department of transport in Victoria and early this week the participants were awaiting a reply.

The stalls are to be constructed ready for their erection as soon as permission is given.

The clean-up party has started on its all-island project and an additional project of land-

DIAL-a-PRAYER

New service has been introduced on Salt Spring Island.

Islanders who are depressed or worried may dial 537-2413 and hear a short recorded prayer.

Dial-a-Prayer is available 24 hours of every day at that number. It has been introduced on a 24-hour basis in order that any resident who needs reassurance during the night may use it.

BODY IN SEA

Body of a man missing since January was found off Mayne Island on Sunday.

About 9 am Fire Chief Jim Ross reported finding a body floating in Bennett Bay.

RCMP boat picked up the body of Steve Trstensky, of New Westminster. He was reported missing to New Westminster city police on January 6, 1971.

$300 Reward MISSING DOG SOUGHT BY MASTER

Skipper was the only family he had. When his sand-colored collie was missing last week, George Tuckwell, of Walker Hook Road, advertised a reward for information leading to recovery of his pet.

This week he has upped the reward.

Who took Skipper? No one knows. At least no one knows yet. George will pay a reward of $300 to anyone who can tell him who took the dog.

"You must have thought a lot of your dog," commented a DRIFTWOOD clerk.

"He was the only family I had," said George simply.

An elderly man who looks a decade younger than his years, George had raised Skipper as his pet. The dog shared the Tuckwell home.

Until one day, a couple of weeks ago, the dog failed to come home.

His master has been stricken by the loss.

A few months ago, he recalls, a stranger watched Skipper go after a squirrel.

"If I ever see your dog go after a deer," commented the stranger, "I'll kill him!"

Is that what happened? Was someone more fond of his deer than George was of his dog? Or was the dog taken by a crazy hunter out of season?

Neighbors report that another dog from the same part of Walker Hook arrived home with a shot gun pellet in him recently.

If you know of a trigger-happy dog hunter let George know. It's worth $300 to him.

CENTENNIAL GIFT

Copy of a painting of Esquimalt Dry Dock has been given by Salt Spring Island Centennial '71 Committee to Gulf Islands Secondary School. Picture was presented by the navy to mark the centennial year.

CRITICAL OF NEW ROAD JUNCTION ON SALT SPRING

Criticism of the provincial department of highways in approving a road junction on a dangerous double bend was expressed at the recent meeting of Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce.

Under fire was the road which has been driven through south of Hundred Hills, Road will link the Fulford-Ganges Road with Beddis Road through a new subdivision.

Roads must be approved by the department of highways before they can be constructed.

LACROSSE TEAM INTRODUCED TO VICTORIAN FANS

Sunday was a big day for the Salt Spring Island lacrosse players. The island team went to Victoria to watch the Shamrocks working out and then attended the game between Victoria Senior B and Burnaby.

During the afternoon, the island team was introduced to Victoria supporters and were given a strong applause.

RECYCLING GARBAGE PLANNED

BY SPECTATOR

Everybody's got garbage. Some people pay to help fill Mr. Twa's gully. Some crush and bury their own. Some unspeakables dump theirs in remote corners of the island. But why not get rid of the garbage in such a way that it is reused, to save raw materials? Why not RECYCLE it?

Everyone knows that our standard of destruction is a serious problem. It would certainly seem sensible to recycle the reusable garbage to save our resources. Of course the organic garbage should be composted.

In Victoria last week, a representative from the SPEC group met members of the Victoria Recycling Group to discuss ways in which Salt Spring Island's proposed recycling project could work through the Victoria organization.

Through the Victoria depot, we could sell aluminum, tin cans, some paper products, fats and bones, all kinds of bottles, car batteries, metals, paper egg cartons, plastic bags and paper bags. SPEC does not plan to begin collecting until September, but the Youth '71 group included Recycling in their list of proposed summer projects and SPEC would be happy to carry on their work in September. So if you want to start saving right now, here's some beginning instructions:

1. Keep a cardboard box handy for all scrap paper and cardboard except (a) newspapers (at present there is just no market for these), (b) carbon paper, (c) waxed or plasticized cardboards (i.e. milk cartons, frozen food packages), (d) paper bonded foil.

2. Fats and bones: Put all drippings into a covered tin, both vegetable and animal fats, cooked and uncooked. Put bones, both cooked or raw in a plastic bag. Clean the bones thoroughly (make soup or just dry the bones) so they won't go bad.

3. Aluminum: save all kitchen foil, food containers, TV dinner trays, "Snap tabs" from cans. But aluminum bonded to paper or plastic can't be recycled.

4. Any other metals... copper, brass, etc.

5. Tin cans: remove labels, rinse clean, remove both ends, flatten tins.

6. All bottles. Return beer and soft drink bottles for your own refund, and collect all other bottles in a potato sack.

7. Save paper egg cartons, plastic bags and paper bags. The collection and transportation of all these garbage items will be arranged soon, but you can certainly start recycling right now.

THEY COULD NOT SLEEP AT PARK ON SALT SPRING

Group of high school cyclists camped unsuccessfully at Mount Park in Ganges last week end.

They left the island protesting constant interference during the night from youngsters who tried to pull the tent down.

Previous complaints have been made by parents of young boys unable to camp in face of interference from older boys.

Indignant visitors explained they would prefer to be charged an overnight fee and enjoy some supervision.

HERE FROM GERMANY

On Thursday, June 17, Miss Elfriede Hoffmann was at the Vancouver airport, to greet guests from Cologne, on this continent for the first time.

Hans and Gustl Dorenbusch have taken a cottage at Roesland while visiting her on Hooson Road, North Pender.

DISPLAY FOR SUMMER

BY MAGGIE SCHUBART

Special exhibits related to recent workshops conducted by the Salt Spring Potters Guild will be among the attractions at Mahon Hall as the potters open Art-Craft '71 at the invitation of the Gulf Islands Community Arts Council, the first week in July.

There will be a preview of the display, accompanied by refreshments, open to members of the CAC or the Potters Guild, Friday evening, July 2 from 8 to 10. Beginning Saturday, July 3, and continuing through July 6 the exhibit and sale will be open to the public daily from noon to 8:30 pm.

Mr. and Mrs. Windsor Utley have loaned their unique collection of pots by Maya Oakes for the opening potters' display.

There will also be a group of bisque pots, thrown by Wayne Ngan during a workshop he conducted here this spring. Clay dug in many different areas of the islands will occupy an important place in the show. As well as pots made from these clays, test tiles, made up under Carol Southward's tutelage, will be available to show the firing and glazing properties of local clays.

Interest in pottery has a history of several decades in the community: Mrs. Nora Bittancourt formed a small but active group who obtained instruction from Molly Carter and later, Hilda Ross, both of the UBC faculty.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Doris Mitchell began producing her highly individual hand-built ceramics.

When Mrs. Nita Brown organized Adult Education classes for the islands, potting classes were among the first offered, with Mrs. Brown instructing the students in hand-building. That was in the early 'sixties.

Later in the decade, Emily Crosby organized the Salt Spring School of Fine Arts, offering summer classes and selected week end workshops in pottery and painting. Instructors in pottery included Louise Buck and Carol Southward.

The Potters Guild was formed two years ago and now comprises about dozen members. It has sponsored a series of instructional programs in addition to conducting periodic exhibition-sales.

In addition to the tests of local clays, the potters will be exhibiting a panel of comprehensive tests of glaze ingredients, produced during a recent workshop with Donna McLaren. Above all, there will be pots, - raku, earthenware, stoneware, glazed, unglazed, in a wide array of sizes, shapes, colors and textures.

$300 REWARD

$300 reward will be paid for information leading to the conviction of the person or persons responsible for the theft of a male dog, a Collie, light brown, answering to the name of Skipper, from his owner's home on Walker Hook Rd. on or about June 7.

to be frank

By Richards

A sight, I fear, we've long since feared: Mike Stacey shorn of beard!

Liberal association for Nanaimo-Cowichan-Islands has a broad-based executive, according to a report issued by that association. All the better, presumably for taking a seat when elected!

On Saturday I took my first and my last look at the planner's approach to a deteriorating environment. For several hours everyone except the provincial government spokesman agreed that the Davis plan for a marine park in the Gulf of Georgia would be a step in the right direction. Until the last moment it was a nice, gentle, smooth meeting. When I enquired what could be done, there was a quick movement. The platform hurriedly emptied and the meeting closed quickly before anyone else could ask silly, practical questions.

What happened then? There was a report about the cows which were released on the fields of Jack Webster's farm property on the Cranberry. Despite many assurances from islanders that they would stay put, the animals steadily dispersed until all were lost in the wilds. I never did learn whether he got them back or whether there are now wild cows in the hills all mooing with a broad Scots brogue.

Being well known, Jack is a natural for stories. Like the tale of his being in a local store looking for a length of plastic pipe. He wanted a piece yea big: that would do nicely. How much did ye say? Thirrrry-faive cents a foot?

Better just cut off a foot, that was all he needed!

I found out this week why BC Telephone Co. calls itself B.C. Tel. They tell you what you can do and what you can't do. When Chuck McClean wanted a telephone listing for his operation Concrete Laminates, the telephone company refused to list it. They told him what he could call his company. Either do what B.C. Tells, a do nothing! Seems to me that the company is engaging in a legislative function slightly beyond reason. Years ago I wanted a specific listing for a private company but the telephone company insisted I paid for a second listing. I don't like it.

Bought some cookies from Bob Blundell. They were made in Uttoxeter, England. Any fool knows you pronounce that "Utcheter"!

FULFORD

BY BEA HAMILTON

There's a spider in my typewriter. I tried to catch her to give her the freedom of the outdoors but she ducked down amongst the clashing gears of the shift lock and keys to finally emerge in the news!

Today, the Fulford news hangs by a thread, anyway, and I can now blame the spider - she's probably spinning yarns at a great rate amongst the keys, but she won't give ...

You ever try to get up a party to surprise a member of the family on a birthday? Well, you should have been here last week when Mabel's birthday (Mrs. Davis) was due.

It happened this way: I planned a birthday party by asking the members of St. Mary's Guild to come to Dromore after they had adjourned their meeting scheduled for the 15th, the day before my sister's birthday and I thought that would really put Mabel off the scent.

But know what Mabel did? She had to go to Ganges, she said, so that meant I had to phone the girls to be at Dromore anyway and I went along with Mabel to make sure she came home in time for her surprise.

What a do! However, everyone co-operated beautifully. The doctor was on time (one of Mabel's dates) and we managed to gather up the hundred and one things to do, and finally got into the car and nipped home.

Of course, there were several cars in the driveway and before Mabel could figure out something was up, I remarked that the neighbors were evidently having visitors. That got us safely inside the gate and "There's a car - and someone is in the garden," Mabel said, and still she didn't twig. But when everyone broke into Happy Birthday as soon as she entered the door, the surprise burst, fully and beautifully, and the party was on! Eve

PATTERN GOES UP AS RATE GOES DOWN

Reader in Ganges has compiled a record of the assessment on Salt Spring Island properties since 1962. Effect of the constant increase in island assessment has been the reduction in the mill rate in Gulf Islands School District, he observed. The values are the net taxable figures under the Public Schools Act.

Not only has the assessment risen on individual properties, but the tax burden is shared among a greater number of properties, he noted.

Following is the pattern of increase over a decade:

1962	$10,334,567
1963	10,898,368
1964	12,070,667
1965	13,466,772
1966	14,938,983
1967	16,410,790
1968	18,129,508
1969	20,699,658
1970	24,967,211
1971	28,684,124

Lee had brought a lovely birthday cake and Bessie Dane some buns. My sisters, Ina and Violet had the tea ready and lovely flowers in the room, and I'll bet in all the 84 years of her life, Mabel had never caused such a to do to get her to the party on time! Even that old spider couldn't have spun such a tangled web.

June 15 marked a new way to help troubled people who don't know where to turn when they need help. - the new Dial-a-Prayer. The number to call is 537-2413, and you get a comforting message. This is something that can grow on the Island and develop into a Gulf Islands blessing in many ways. The voice is Rev. Fred Anderson's and I dialed the number. The message is a good one and it is something that could help the lonely, destitute, and distressed. It can even help the self-sufficient, the agnostic, the dedicated church-goer and just anyone. ## IT IS A SERVICE THEY SHOULD OFFER

On Friday a prospective island traveller was left behind at Swartz Bay when the Salt Spring Queen was unable to clear the compound.

The passenger is not acquainted with the regular frustration of Friday evening sailing, but she was prepared to make the best of it. When it was obvious there was no likelihood of getting on board, she decided to travel as a foot passenger.

She left the compound and hurriedly parked her car. She then walked to the passenger entrance and was told she was too late to go aboard.

The official who passed on the message was not at fault. The instruction is probably all written down in the rules and regulations.

The man who wrote the rules and regulations is at fault. He is still at fault.

There should be ample provision for a passenger who cannot board to travel as a foot passenger.

Island travellers are more nuisance value to the ferry terminal staff who are geared for the larger and busier mainland runs. Nevertheless, the staff know as well as island travellers that there are many occasions each week when ships sail without taking all passengers.

There is no logical reason why such passengers could not be accommodated in this manner. Let's have an end to this official frustration which is without substantial reason.

Letters to the Editor

PIG ESCAPES TWICE

Editor, Driftwood, "Always Chews The Best" is motto of a local butcher shop. Having good meat doesn't seem to satisfy Ed Chew, he also provides entertainment.

His pig escaped from the basement of the shop on Saturday morning. Ed chasing the pig through Ganges, apron flying, was a sight that would make anyone laugh.

The pig, however, had the last laugh, for he escaped again this time waiting until the shop was closed and all was quiet. Ed relaxing at home got a phone call from a kindly person - "We've caught your pig in the park". As this letter is written the pig is once more safely in a pen. My question "Who outsmarted who, man or beast?"

THANK GOD FOR IT!

Editor, Driftwood, I still hear criticism of X-Kalay from people who have not troubled themselves to find out what it is all about.

It is, of course much easier to hate than to try to understand, but blind prejudice has caused too much misery in the world to be dismissed as harmless. And in this case it is inexcusable, for X-Kalay lays itself open to enquiry. Its critics have only to attend a Saturday evening "Open House" to ask whatever questions they wish and get frank replies.

What does X-Kalay do? It accepts people who have become dissatisfied with themselves and their way of life and teaches them to get along with themselves and others in a decent hard-working community where "people help people." What sort of people? Any sort - all sorts: business executives who have become alcoholics, discontented students, hard-core drug addicts, petty criminals, drop-outs and cop-outs. Of such unpromising materials it builds a society where violence, drugs and alcohol are grounds for immediate expulsion. And it works, it works!

The methods are first acceptance (a tremendous step forward for a man who feels despised or excluded, who even hates himself); then in a fellowship of people with their own problems, opportunities to express one's ideas and receive a respectful hearing; the guidance of dedicated psychologists; useful work, and an activity the members claim as peculiar to themselves, a safety-valve for animosities that perhaps they will allow me to remind them was recommended by Moses (Leviticus 19:15) and more explicitly by Jesus (Matthew 18:15 to 17).

Started 3 years ago with 9 seemingly beaten people, it now

STORY OF ANOTHER AGE

LADY OF CULZEAN

In the final years of the 19th century the eccentric explorer and big game hunter Warburton Pike erected a three-storey building of 35 rooms at the extreme northerly tip of Mayne Island. Pike was associated with a man of the name of Maudsley in the construction of the massive building. No record remains to indicate who Maudsley might have been.

In a very short time the building was a prosperous hotel.

Thomas Bennett acquired the business in 1898 and catered in large part to miners leaving the gold fields to winter in a gentler climate.

The hotel suffered an acute shortcoming, it was desperately short of water in the summer months. This was eventually its downfall as a hostelry.

Mr. Bennett ultimately sold the building to Cmdr. Eustace Maude, who had come to British Columbia from Oregon. Business was already falling off when Cmdr. Maude took over. He eliminated the bar and relinquished the license. For a time he continued to maintain a hotel there, although by the time he disposed of "Point Comfort" in 1924, it had not been operated as a business for some years.

Cmdr. Maude, whose son was destined to become identified with Islands ferries, gained numbers more than 80 people remade and happily staying that way.

Don't knock it! Get to know it, and you will thank God for it as I do.

known when he sought to sail his ketch, Half Moon, through the Panama to England. He was 80 years of age at that time. The attempt failed and the determined sailor was rescued off the Californian coast.

In 1924 the Maudes agreed to entertain guests from England. The project was their last effort at maintaining the old hotel as a hostelry.

Their guests were Col. Lionel G. Fawkes and his wife, Lady Constance Fawkes. In his reminiscences of the 20 years he spent with the Fawkes, Jack Borradaile recounts the arrival of the couple, their settling into British Columbia life and their ultimate death in their chosen land.

Jack Borradaile was home from the sea in the early 20's and was experiencing ill health. In 1924 he was invited to Mayne Island to manage the property. He went to Point Comfort in 1924 and remained there until 1946 after the death of Lady Constance.

In 1958 the structure was demolished.

The booklet prepared and published by Jack Borradaile is a reminder of another age in the history of the islands. The pages list the distinguished and titled visitors to the islands of the inter-war period. It depicts a way of life no longer familiar here, where the routine of living was imported from Britain. He writes of the day to day activities in the old Mayne Island mansion.

The Lady of Culzean was Lady Constance, who renamed Point Comfort "Culzean" in token of her family home of that name in Scotland.

The booklet is not a literary masterpiece and makes no claim to be. It is simply the story of an era as remembered by one who lived through it.

Going beyond the book, Cul-

JANET WOOD VALEDICTORY AT GANGES

Now that we, the graduates of 1971 have come to the end of our formal Secondary School education, we must leave the shelter of familiar walls and set forth either to universities or to the search for employment.

We are setting forth at a time when the economy of our province is depressed. Nevertheless, we have great expectations, that sustained by our pride in producing our best and the faith you have bestowed upon us, we will find our own particular positions in society, and be able to contribute to the welfare of all by the realization that "no man is an island." We are all dependent upon one another and therefore as we depend... we must contribute.

We are the products of the benign influences of both our parents and teachers and therefore would like to express our deep-felt appreciation to the School Board and the teachers who have taken the time to nurture each student. Without the careful guidance of our instructors we realize that our futures would be less bright.

So it is to the future we turn, with the hope... May you always be proud of the Graduates of 1971.

DEATH OF DR. GEORGE SNELL IN VANCOUVER

Death of Dr. George Snell occurred in Vancouver General Hospital, June 9, 1971, after a brief illness.

He is survived by his wife, Corrine; sons Jim and Tom of Vancouver and daughters, Mrs. (Joan) Jeffs, Prince Rupert, Mrs. (Linda) Lauchlin, Galiano Island, Mrs. (Janis) Blomley, Vancouver.

Dr. Snell had practiced dentistry for 25 years in Vancouver before coming to Galiano to retire four years ago.

He took an active interest in community affairs and was a member of the local Golf Club and Chamber of Commerce.

Following cremation, a memorial service was held at the family church, Knox United in Vancouver.

Mrs. Snell has intimated that donations to the B.C. Cancer Foundation would be appreciated.

zean was sold after the death of Lady Constance Fawkes and once again became a hotel. For nearly a quarter-century it had been a private residence, but it could not survive as a hotel. Renamed Cherry Tree Inn, the property was a summer resort.

Today, only the name Cherry Tree remains. Point Comfort is gone and Culzean is forgotten.

Jack Borradaile was a Salt Spring Islander whose parents were living here when he went to Culzean in 1924. I could wish he had added a note on how to pronounce the name. I presume it was "cull-zane", but that is only conjecture. He now lives in Victoria. -F.G.R.

QUESTION CORNER

DID YOU KNOW?

As a result of restrictions laid down by the department of education, School District #64 is no longer able to grant permission for the use of school buses by adult groups in the community.

In the past it has been the policy of the board to allow certain non-profit organizations to use the buses in return for the payment of operating expenses only.

If the school buses are used other than for the movement of students to and from school - the expense of licensing and insuring will increase.

The Motor Vehicle Branch will insist upon licensing the buses at the same rate as other public transportation buses.

The reduction for school buses is a consideration in expenditure that cannot be overlooked. Insurance rates will also rise. Maintenance costs of school vehicles are increasing.

She Has All The Facts On Artifacts

BY CULTUS COULEE

On a sketching holiday, Mrs. Primrose Upton, Okanagan Mission, is at Clakili, with Mrs. Connie Swartz, ex-Kelowna; and on to Mrs. Joan Hayward, Southey Point Road. She will also visit Miss Bea Hamilton at Dromore, and for a guided tour of the Fulford petroglyph.

She is the daughter of English pioneers, Dorothea Thomson, 1892, and William Dalziel Walker, from Oxford via Similkameen to Kelowna, 1894. Mrs. Upton is assistant custodian, Kelowna Centennial Museum and past president, Kelowna Br. Okanagan Historical Association. She is vice-president and editorial chairman, Kelowna branch OHA, of which Eric Sismey, Penticton, Joe Marty, Kelowna, and herself have just been made life members.

Mrs. Upton writes for the Museum, articles on Father Pendsy restoration, in Museum Round-Up, and in the ISLANDER, on the Viking ship, six years a-building. Owner Gordon Jennens, Kelowna, plans to sail the Atlantic from Norway or Denmark, to Greenland and Newfoundland.

Primrose Upton has written histories of Okanagan Mission and St. Andrew's Church. She illustrated these, and part of Frank M. Buckland's "Ogopog-o's Vigil".

For the Museum diorama she painted backdrops for the Indian winter dwelling; did a painting of the original log building 1880, at the Father Pendsy Mission; and the stone oven used during Kettle Valley Railroad construction days. She has had showings at the Kelowna Library; and watercolors in the Parliament Buildings, painted on Pender, 1966.

With her late husband, T.B. Upton, she hunted artifacts and recorded pictographs in the Shuswap, Okanagan and Similkameen areas. The Uptons had nearly 7,000 catalogued artifacts of the Interior Salish.

Mrs. Upton saw ex-Okanaganers Mrs. Bea Freeman, Mrs.

Daphne Stevens and Allan and Betty Hatfield Brooks.

ENTRIES POOR AT SHOW

BY ELSIE BROWN

Gardeners and horticulturists were out bright and early Saturday morning to gather their flowers for entry in the Summer Flower Show sponsored by Mayne Island Agricultural Society and they put on a show well worth seeing.

Unfortunately, there were only the usual stand-bys on hand and it must have been very discouraging for the committee.

The judge, Mrs. E.C. Darts of White Rock, was most understanding since they are having the same dismal weather conditions there. Harvesting flowers under an umbrella is not the easiest way to prepare them for a flower show.

Chairman, Mrs. Marjorie Haggart and her committee, Mrs. Effie Piggott, Mrs. Blanche Anderson, Mrs. Meg Drummond, Mrs. Kathleen Dought and Mrs. Betty Fry, are to be commended

GRANDMOTHERS AND AIR RACES

IT'S A WORRISOME THING!

Air race is a hazard when seen through the eyes of a grandmother.

Mrs. Tom McDonald, of HMS Ganges Apartments, has a grandson flying in the Britain-British Columbia air race next week and the hazards and the cost worry her.

Lt. John McDonald flies for his living. He is a pilot at Comox air base when he isn't on leave to fly across the world. He will fly with Rod Dixon, of Vancouver. He's an air ace in an air race!

There'll be no mistaking him; he stands six feet four in his socks. Mrs. McDonald will be glad when it's all over.

Then he will rejoin 407 Squadron at Comox and everything will fall back to normal.

MINOR ACCIDENT

Minor damage was sustained when an Ontario car was involved in a collision coming down from the Cranberry on June 20.

Car driven by John Purden, of Sudbury, Ont., was in collision with the car of Margaret Marsh, who was driving in the opposite direction.

for their splendid show. All classes were represented.

Youngest entrants were Kristine Halvorson, Joy Ruck and Gordon Wittner.

The poor attendance was no doubt due to the weather, being off-island, having week end visits or sickness.

Secretary Mrs. Grace Evans is glad there will be no more agricultural society functions until our annual Fall Fair, August 14.

President Gordon Ducklow introduced the speaker and thanked her for her interesting lecture and commentary following the judging.

Saturna Calls For Separate Zoning

BY R. W. PILLSBURY
At the June 16 meeting of the

MODERNISE

Community Club, Mrs. J. Campbell reported as chairman of our local advisory committee to the Regional Board on the June 12 Outer Islands meeting on Pender, chaired by Miss Joan Purchase.

Mrs. Campbell said that the Saturna proposals on land use from our special March 31 meeting had been turned down by the Capital Regional Board as being "one jump ahead" of the board's current considerations.

There was considerable argument and discussion of this matter, and some confusion appeared to exist in the minds of many present.

It finally developed that the board is presently concerned with assignment to proper zone-classification of lands as presently held, and wishes to postpone consideration of Saturna's proposals until present use has been listed and "zoned".

This did not appeal to a number of people, who proposed a special public meeting on June 24 to consider the practical means of drawing up a properly documented land-use by-law like that now in force on Cortez Island. This proposed by-law would be applicable to Saturna only, and the expense of preparing necessary papers and maps would be met by the Community Club.

This was moved by Mr. Jim Campbell and after seconding was passed with a good majority by the club members.

Institute Delegate

BY BEA HAMILTON

Members of the South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. R. Lee on Thursday, June 10.

Mrs. Lee gave the report of the recently held W.I. Conference at Duncan to which she was delegate.

Centennial costumes were worn at the Conference and Mrs. Gladys Slingsby had won a first prize with her borrowed dress that had been Mrs. Irene Stewart's mother's wedding dress.

The sum of $25 will be offered by the W.I. to the student with the highest marks in Home Economics at the High School next year, together with one of the very excellent W.I. Cook Books with the dogwood motif. The cook book is in its third printing, after selling 35,000.

Mrs. C.M. (Irene) Stewart, who is the W.I. Provincial Publicity Convener, is leaving on June 26, to fly from Seattle to London, England, on her way to attend the International Convention of the Associated Country Women of the World, which will last ten days. Irene will take a message from our W.I. and will stay for three weeks prior to the convention to visit cousins in Stockport near Manchester.

She will join the ACWW Tour of Great Britain on July 19 to be entertained by members of the Federated W.I. of England and Wales; return to London on July 31, have a few days in London, then by train to Oslo, Norway, and join a six-day Norwegian Tour, returning to Oslo, August 10 for the commencement of the convention.

THE CHANGING FACE OF

FERNWOOD

BY JESSIE SAYER

Mrs. Ted Adams' house guests are her sisters, Mrs. Helen Hetherington of North Vancouver and Mrs. F. Williams of Florida. The three sisters are enjoying the visit.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson of North Surrey spent a pleasant week end at the Blackstock cottage. They drove many miles and saw deer and grouse.

Another large group of people arrived at the Fernwood dock on Fathers' day. It was the ship, Edgewater Fortune, once again with 142 passengers of all ages in family picnic groups. They came from Burnaby and New Westminster. The many teenagers brought their bikes and enjoyed touring our roads in spite of the weather.

they are enjoying Galiano Island and surrounding territory. They plan to stay a few weeks.

CYCLISTS AND SAFETY

Galiano is getting its share of young cyclists these days. Almost every ferry brings groups of cyclists over for the day or week end to explore island roads.

Some of these groups are children ranging in age ten years and over, and usually are accompanied by an adult leader. Motorists encountering these bicycle riders, spread all over the road sometimes for a mile or more, are finding it very frustrating.

If the cyclists would abide by Safety Council rules and (1) Ride as close to the right hand side of road as practical - and (2) Two or more cyclists must not ride side by side - then everyone would be safer and happier, and the visiting cyclists would be much more welcome. CAMPSITES

Campsites at Montague Park are now filled most of the time. Much of the traffic unloading at Galiano wharves these days consists of some type of mobile home.

Exploring country roads, particularly in the Gulf Islands, has become a popular pastime for city dwellers. The ferries are kept busy as more people are finding their way to this area and what it has to offer in natural beauty.

MAINTENANCE COSTS

At the monthly meeting of the Galiano Club held on Wednesday evening, June 16, it was decided to hold a Bingo in the Community Hall on Tuesday, July 6. Watch for notices of this coming event.

SATURNA

By R.W. Pillsbury

A welcome addition to the Community Hall is a very fine electric wall clock donated by Slim Vollbrecht, our local electrician. Slim says it is his best way to make up for inability to give services, due to his recent illnesses. He has given a similar one to St. Christopher's Church, which is equally appreciated.

Something large must be under way at East Point! At least, there has been a school of motor scooters buzzing around between the store at the wharf, and East Point, accompanied by groceries and such stuff. It may be that cement work is involved, using egg albumen as binder, and testing out the material on the highways.

Barry Crooks and John Money are hard at work setting up the new saw mill on Harris Road.

On Tuesday, June 15 some 25 or 30 Silver Thread members from Victoria came with their Kitchen Band. The music they provided, like that of famous McNamara, was simply grand. Their intention, fully carried out, was to show appreciation of entertainment on Saturna. Islanders were much impressed; one of the best items this writer was told (he was away that day) was an Irish jig by a young lady in her 80's, which was a real hit.

The Walter Warlows have had Walter's sister, Mrs. ViSmith of Ottawa, visiting for ten days. She was amazed at the advanced spring blossoming in the Gulf Islands, compared with Ottawa.

Another visitor is Mrs. S. Bolsan, the former Judy Graham and her husband Stan. Judy used to spend summers on Saturna with her sister and parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Graham of Vancouver. Many old friends were glad to know of the visit and welcome the Bolsans.

The Saunders family, senior and junior, are working hard on their Lyall Harbour house and garden. Already the application of much elbow grease begins to show a new polish. Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S., say they do not intend to return to New Brunswick, our local climate and way of life being much preferable.

Others, even deeper into house work, are the Bowering's still tenting on Tumbo Channel, and the Tweedies, staying in the small Ashdown house on Payne Road, while they plot the location and type of house for their newly acquired lot on Payne Road.

Another barbecue work-bee on the 20th, and also the Saturnalian ladies are busy with a new centennial edition of the Saturna Cookbook, for sale at the Dominion Day barbecue. Seems like the best edition yet. Among new contributors at least to the work of assembly, were Mrs. Lil Cunningham and daughter Laurie. Father Don C. is a nephew of Lou (Mrs. Jim) Money. He and Lil, with children Laurie, Donnie and Ricky, are terrifically busy at work around their new Panabode next to the Money mansion.

All these families so hard at work becoming Saturnalians are but a small part of the total. Any who feel overlooked should let this notetaker know what's missing.

One odd note: Old Island deer-mongers say that the real reason the critters seem suddenly so abundant is, they have come down from the hills into the much warmer, more sheltered lowlands where they are now showing up along the roads. There are really no more than average, last year having been a poor one. This seems the answer to the puzzlement mentioned a while ago.

CENTENNIAL MEMO - A splendid new stage coach was built in Victoria in 1865 for use by travellers to the Cariboo gold towns. Built by Duck and Sandover it would accommodate 16 persons "on a pinch" the British Columbian reported.

PARKING ACCIDENT

Damage amounted to about $400 when the car driven by Mrs. Barbara Hughes was in collision with the car of Leo Toutant in Ganges on June 19.

It was reported that the Hughes car was parked near Turner's Store and pulled away from the curb to drive off. Driver's vision was obscured by a parked bus.

In his farewell, Mr. Harker spoke of Pender.

ANCHORING YOUR BOAT

Choose your anchors for holding power as well as weight and be sure you have enough anchor line to cover all your anchoring conditions. A general rule of thumb is to use about eight times more anchor line or scope than the depth of the water in which you are anchoring. Always use more line in heavy weather and less in a crowded anchorage. Lower the anchor gently and then back the boat down as you pay out the line. This is safer and more precise than heaving the anchor. Don't forget to always have a length of chain between your anchor and the anchor line rope. It not only helps the anchor to hold better, it also acts as a shock absorber if your boat is bouncing around.

Received a trade magazine this morning announcing the new line of snowmobiles which will be coming out this fall. If this weather continues I wonder if they can speed up production and have them to us sooner?

Al had a fire permit).

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Iwasaki have returned home to Bayview Drive after a bus trip to Eastern Canada where they visited friends and relatives. Places visited were Quebec, Toronto, Hamilton as well as many stopovers across Canada. Ina says she is glad to be home.

First time visitors to the island are Mr. and Mrs. Alf Mitchell of Abbotsford. Doris is Maurice Reitz' sister, and she has heard much about the wonders of Mayne from him and wife Etta. They are staying at the summer cabin of Scotty and niece Marietta Ashton of Surrey. The weatherman hasn't been too kind but perhaps they will have better luck next time.

Congratulations to Gordon and Evelyn Ducklow who have moved to their ultra modern home on Campbell Bay! Evelyn is reading all the Garden Books to find out what flowers to plant in their particular location. It is a beautiful spot.

Rev. Benjamin Fream, former minister of Galiano-Mayne Island parish, is returning June 30 to Nova Scotia where he plans to make his home. He has been a resident of Sidney for the past year.

Premier Bennett reports

JANUARY 16, 1971 788,000 British Columbians gainfully employed

MAY 22, 1971 841,000 British Columbians gainfully employed

53,000 more people at work

I wish to draw attention to my policy statement in my budget address presented in the Legislature on February 5, 1971, which reads as follows:

"It is our wish, it is our desire, it is our determination, that more jobs be created within British Columbia. The Government will not only take action on its own account, it will seek the co-operation of business, of labour, of all segments of the economy and especially from every citizen in this Province to bring this about. I want to stress that this is the minimum objective, let nobody say it is the maximum. The minimum objective this year is to increase the number of jobs of people gainfully employed from October 1, 1970 to October 1, 1971 by a minimum of 25,000."

Mr. Barrett, the leader of the opposition has asked publicly: "Where are the jobs Premier Bennett promised?"

I am glad to announce that in accordance with the latest figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa, which have just been released, the number of people gainfully employed in British Columbia has increased by 53,000 between January 16, 1971 and May 22, 1971. Even compared to October 17, 1970, the number of British Columbians gainfully employed has increased by 37,000.

Our firm policy. My government believes that unemployment in British Columbia is still far too high, but in spite of the thousands still flocking to our province, unemployment has dropped by 21,000 from January 16, 1971 to May 22, 1971. The policies we have inaugurated in all sectors of the economy will hopefully reduce it much further. A huge expansion of activity in reforestation, hydro development, highway construction, Provincial parks and the extensions to the PGE is creating more new jobs for British Columbians every month.

The Government of the Province of British Columbia
 The Honourable W. A. C. Bennett, Premier

MARINE PARK

(From Page One)

To call a region a park accomplishes nothing, he warned the assembly. Unless the entire area is controlled, its unique character will be lost, he warned solemnly.

Industry and recreation can co-exist, he averred.

"If we have to clean up we can do so," he assured his audience.

The industrial and recreational uses cannot live together with a sloppy, unco-ordinated development, he noted.

If the controls to be imposed on the water use in the Strait is destined to be similar to those controls exerted on land "we are heading for trouble," he stated.

Mr. Brooks was bitter about the poor information offered his department by the federal government. Only information received yet by the provincial department of recreation and conservation has been gained from newspaper reports and printed matter, he asserted.

"It's like somebody having a party at my house and I'm not invited," he suggested.

Later, in reply to questioning, Mr. Brooks explained that he is opposed to the scheme. It is the wrong method.

He observed that the provincial government had already provided many parks including the Pacific Rim National Park on Vancouver Island's west coast.

Destruction of the inland sea cannot be controlled or corrected by one region or one country. Two spokesmen for the state of Washington supported a joint project.

Answer to the Washington situation was spontaneous and effective in gaining government recognition. It was people power, explained the Secretary of State for Washington, A. Ludlow Kramer. People of his state expressed concern over the state of the waters of Puget Sound. Those people raised their voices and gained more support until there were thousands asking for government action.

Mr. Kramer was supported by Dr. R.H. Slavin, director of Washington State Planning and Community Affairs Agency.

Robert McHaffie spoke as a marine engineer. He described himself as a hawk among the doves: a self-appointed watchdog in the interests of commerce. He commented on the difficulty of using the term, park and listed the many functions a park might serve.

Howard English, from the floor, observed that he visits the islands every summer to fish. Latterly he has been most unsuccessful in the southern end of the strait, he stated. Averagely he would catch one salmon per trip he told the panel.

"What is the best action we can take to get the ball rolling?" he asked.

Howard Paish told him to broadcast his message until everyone joins with him to have the seas cleaned up.

DRIFTWOOD reporter asked the panel what delay could be tolerated and in what direction should islanders be looking for aid.

The fish are disappearing, the sea is too foul for swimming in many places, the Fraser Valley sewage flows around the eastern islands and the waters of the strait are already rapidly deteriorating, he told the panel.

The provincial government has urged oil derricks for the island waters and the only champion to come to the aid of the islanders has been Jack Davis, the panel was told. The province is opposed to his plan, what should the islanders do if they wish to bring about a clean-up of the sea?

Mr. Brooks suggested that a group of national parks in the centre of a sea of sewage was not the answer. Remainder of the panel went home.

GRASS IS GROWING ALREADY IN GANGES

Grass is assured. Students in grade seven at Ganges school have levelled and prepared the ground for grass in the two traffic islands at Ganges. The students undertook the work as a centennial project under the aegis of the Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce.

The provincial department of highways took part in the deal. Acting on the request of Adrian Wolfe-Milner, the highways department provided materials and tools.

An estimated 133 yards of top soil was dumped in the islands and cleaned and levelled by the students. Department also provided 30 pounds of grass seed and 100 pounds of fertilizer.

Mrs. W.J. Stepanuk supervised the boys for most of the project. She devoted as many hours to the project as the boys and Mrs. Stepanuk was not prepared to stand and watch. She also raked and shovelled and stood side-by-side with the youngsters.

THE LIGHT TOUCH

By H.J. CARLIN

A young student nurse was taking a test for a driver's license. Accompanied by a policeman for the exam, she drove through a red light without stopping. "Young lady," the policeman inquired. "What does a red light mean to you?" Quick as a flash she answered, "A bed pan."

"It's true," said the husband, pensively. "My wife ran away with my best friend."
"Too bad. Was he a handsome devil?"
"Can't say. I never met the man."
