Planners propose development philosophy for Ganges

SALT SPRING ISLAND COMMUNITY PLANNING ASSOCIATION.

The purpose of the following plan for Ganges is to establish the broad philosophy of development consistent with the goal of providing a quality way of life for the island.

These guidelines are in keeping with the philosophy of the community plan including an overall land use rationalization with social, economic, environmental and aesthetic considerations.

Past development, largely unplanned and un-coordinated and without due regard for topographical considerations has left us problems with sewage disposal, transportation, parking, and conflicting land uses. With increasing amounts and density of development these problems will be accentuated unless care is taken in planning the growth of Ganges.

The following are suggested areas within the one mile radius of Ganges and the broad philosophy for development for each area. There are nine main divisions, with three further broken up: COMMERCIAL, RESIDENTIAL 1, 2 and 3; AGRICULTURAL, PARK, RECREATION, 1, public and 2, private; EDUCATIONAL, UNSTABLE SOIL AREA, WATERFRONT, 1 and 2; INDUSTRIAL.

COMMERCIAL CENTRE

To serve the principal commercial needs in the community.

a. It should be compact and well defined for economical servicing, making the facilities within easy reach and promoting a sense of community.

b. Ganges centre should have an ecologically sound sewer system to alleviate existing problems and to allow relatively dense commercial

DEAD COUGAR LIES WITH HIS DEAD VICTIMS AT FULFORD

GIVES LIE TO THEORIES

COUGAR SHOT AT BACK DOOR

- BLAMED FOR LOSSES

Cougar was shot on Salt Spring Island last week within a few feet of the back door of a Burgoyne Valley home.

The big cat had taken its toll by the time sheep farmers went hunting for him.

Story of the animal's trail of killing and maiming was spread over a week in which he destroyed 25 sheep. Sheepmen have counted the 25 and a number of others are possible because a cougar drags its kill into the woods and some may not have been found yet, said Ted Akerman, the biggest loser.

Another 10 or more sheep had already been credited to the cougar in previous weeks.

"Our experience with that cougar puts paid to reports that a cougar only kills to eat," said Bob Akerman, Fulford cattleman and father of the man who shot the animal.

The predator was a big animal, about three-quarters grown. He measured six feet from nose to tail. It was six feet of snarling fight, said the hunters. Even when he was finally treed he was baring his teeth and spitting at Akerman.

The farmer figures that the cougar had been around the Fulford area long enough to become accustomed to the scent of humans and was less fearful than an animal coming straight here from the bush.

Farmers on south Salt Spring Island knew the cougar had been around some time. He left his trade mark on stock.

On Wednesday farmers had had enough. There were six sheep of Ted Akerman's all dead of the cougar in the early morning. He went for his dog and enlisted the help of Merv Walde and Ben Greenhough, both of whom had suffered the depredations of the animal. They went out and jumped the cougar within a few feet of Dale Codd's house. They treed it and it leaped from the tree before they could despatch it.

They chased it and treed it again and Ted shot it.

"This proves they kill indiscriminately and all the time," commented Bob Akerman. Six sheep had been killed and only part eaten were the udders of one of the ewes. Cougars, like other cats, are fond of milk.

The dead cougar is a male.

"I've never known a female on Salt Spring Island," reports Bob Akerman. "It's always the males that come across here."

The experts claim the cougars only kill once in six weeks and that they only kill for food, recalled Mr. Akerman.

"It just is not true," he asserted.

The hunting of a cougar is a science of its own.

The Fulford sheep farmer explained that the cougar will turn on the dogs if they don't make enough noise. It is the baying that scares the cat. If he turns on the dogs they are dead ducks before they can jump.

HOLIDAY TRAFFIC HEAVY MONDAY

Holiday traffic was heavy out of the Gulf Island ports, but the heart of the problem centred on Fulford and Vesuvius in the absence of the Bowen Queen.

Friday and Saturday traffic into the islands was heavy and on Saturday afternoon a ferry official at Swartz Bay commented on the large number of single passages in comparison with the numbers of commuter tickets issued.

On Sunday traffic was gentle catching up again on Monday and overflowing into Tuesday.

On Monday the Salt Spring Queen coped with Fulford traffic until 2.30 pm, when the first overload was experienced. At 6.35 there were already enough cars lined up to fill up the 6.35 and the 8.35 sailing.

That was the peak and every car was accommodated on the 10.35 sailing.

At the same period the Vesuvius ferry sailed with full loads at 5 pm, 6 pm, 7 pm and 8 pm.

On Tuesday there were overloads at Fulford all morning with four to 10 cars being left behind, each sailing.

SPEC PROTESTS DISCHARGE

Sewer permit appeal

- TWO SESSIONS AT GANGES

Permit for the discharge of treated sewage into Ganges Harbour is to be challenged at a public hearing at Ganges next week.

Following a public hearing last year the Pollution Control Board issued a permit to the Capital Regional District to discharge effluent, after secondary treatment, into the harbour.

The application was protested by SPEC, an environment protection group.

Despite the protest, the board approved the permit after hearing an outline of the proposed discharge pattern and treatment plans.

SPEC has now lodged a formal appeal and the board will sit in Mahon Hall to hear the nature of the protest. Two sessions are planned, at 2 pm and again at 7 pm.

The procedure of appealing the issue is provided for within the Pollution Control Act.

Original hearing was before the staff of the Pollution Control Branch. The appeal will be heard by the Pollution Control Board. The board consists of senior civil servants of various disciplines. The board may upset or uphold the earlier decision to issue a permit. It may also uphold the issue of a permit while adding further conditions or easing conditions already imposed.

Further appeal may be made to the Supreme Court or to the Cabinet.

In charge of the board is Ben Marr, deputy minister of water resources.

WINNER OF LIONS DRAW

Aage Villadsen, Ganges contractor, is the owner of a new boat and motor. The past president of Salt Spring Island Lions Club won the boat outfit for which Lions have been selling tickets over the past several months.

The boat, motor and trailer were donated for raffling by Salt Spring Lands Ltd. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be devoted to the recreational complex undertaken by Lions at Central.

Draw for the boat was made at the monthly Lions Bingo last week.

Permit was issued in order to construct a sewer system in the Ganges community. System will serve, if the permit is upheld, the Ganges community between Harbour Grocery and the Court House.

FERRY LOAD LIMIT

Sharp load restriction has been imposed on the Vesuvius-Crofton ferry.

Effective in two weeks' time the maximum gross weight acceptable on the Vesuvius run will be 20 tons.

Restriction has been imposed following an engineering survey of the two docks.

The restriction, which comes into effect on September 16, will limit the use of the Crofton ferry to cars and smaller trucks. In the past it has been used by concrete trucks, cement carriers, tankers and laden heavy trucks. They will all have to use the Fulford wharf, unless they weigh less than 20 tons, gross.

MOTORCYCLE HITS DEER MONDAY

Jim Talman was setting out on his motorcycle for a new job in Victoria on Monday morning. Like many commuters, he went for the 6.30 am ferry to Swartz Bay. He didn't reach it.

At 6.15 am he hit a deer on the main road and landed in Lady Minto Hospital.

The deer was killed; the motorcycle was totally wrecked and Mr. Talman suffered multiple cuts and bruises.

NEW MANAGER AT HARBOUR HOUSE

New general manager of Harbour House Hotel is a man who learned hotel administration with the CPR. He is Ralph Alpen, of Salt Spring Island.

Mr. Alpen will be responsible for the administration and the operation of the hotel and John Ouellet will concentrate his attention on the catering.

On & Off The Island

Mrs. R. A. Jordan departed this week, accompanying her sister, Mrs. G. B. McKay of North Vancouver, to visit relatives in England and to holiday on the European continent. Before returning to Salt Spring visits will be made with her brother and family in P.E.I. and also a stop in Kenora, Ontario, where two of her daughters live.

A Nottingham, England, University student, Hugo Thorman, was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jordan on Walker Hook. Although born in Germany into a British Army-Occupation family in 1953, Hugo has a Canadian passport. Reason is that his father was born in Telegraph Creek, B.C. Parents and grandparents were missionaries there, dating back as far as 1901. This lad has found travelling through Canada, after working part of his vacation in Toronto, both interesting and rewarding. A cousin, once removed, of Mrs. Jordan, he brought news of her English relatives. Hugo is now continuing on his journey via southern U.S.A., calling on friends in Washington, D.C., and New York, before departing for home, where he will resume his studies, in this his final year.

Mrs. L. Sayer recently enjoyed a week in New Westminster with relatives.

Bob Sayer and friend Debbie Schatz of New Westminster were visiting for a few days at Mr. and Mrs. L. Sayer's of Fernwood.

ISLAND PLAYERS CASTING

Salt Spring Island Players are already setting the stage for November.

The island troupe will present a three-act play, Harvey.

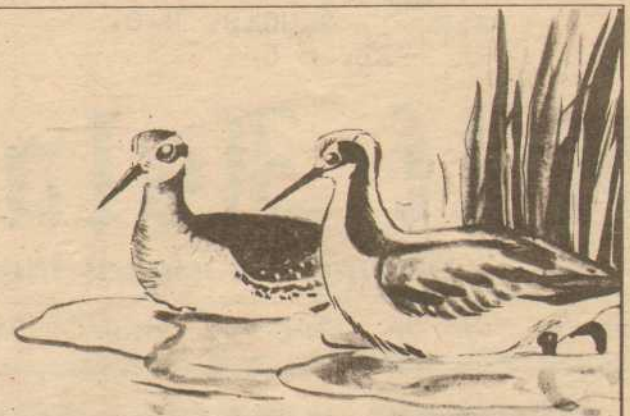

Auditions will be held in Mahon Hall on Wednesday evening, Sept. 11. Any islander interested in playing a part in the new play will be warmly welcomed.

Cast consists of 12 characters, six male and six otherwise.

Rev. T. F. Wright was admitted to Lady Minto Hospital on Monday and is making satisfactory progress.

Mrs. L. Cruickshank and her three daughters, Debbie, Kara and Lori and also Mrs. Cruickshank's mother, Mrs. Nita Poirier of Sooke spent six weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. Connell and Mr. and Mrs. L. Warburton of Nova Scotia. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. I. Wells at Prince Edward Island. Laurie Warburton and Ian Wells say Hello All to all their friends on Salt Spring.

Visiting the Hoods on North Beach Road this month have been Mr. and Mrs. George Swinger, with Beth, Bob and Tom of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Carnegie, and Sarah and Sheila, from Calgary; John Carter, of Houston, Texas and Peter deJong, from Johannesburg, South Africa. Tammy and Tracy Hood returned to Calgary with Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie.

MARK SILVER WEDDING

On Saturday, Sept. 1, a surprise party to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary was given to Madeline and Bert Barber by their daughter Sharor and three of her friends, Louise Bastedo, Douglas McDonald and his brother Bruce.

The room was decorated in pink and white carnations.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cam Bastedo, Mrs. Bastedo's mother, Mrs. Whitely; Mr. Barber's mother, Mrs. E. Barber; Mr. and Mrs. F. Keopel and their daughters, Tracy and Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. P. Dammel and Mr. and Mrs.

Lew Summers.

The eldest daughter, Mrs. D. Reynolds (Madeline) sent congratulations by telephone as she resides in Kamloops and was unable to attend.

NEW STAFF MEMBER

New staff member at the Ganges Detachment, RCMP is Eva Jorden. She will assume the duties previously undertaken by Debbie Woods.

to be frank

By Richards

This is what Canadians use for headaches, announced a television advertisement the other day. Trouble is he didn't explain that watching the advertisement is how most Canadians get the headaches in the first place.

I don't like flying. After a gentle war of occasional aviation, I lost my enthusiasm and my confidence. Worse than a lack of confidence is the painful change of pressures when we land. I feel the pressure inside my ears until it is like a knife inside each ear. That stays with me for about 45 minutes after we land. This year I have to fly east twice and the prospect of landing each time is unpleasant.

Too many little old men! That's the trouble around a reader's house. Another trouble is that no one seems to know what the beast is called, still less how to get rid of him. He is a bug about half-an-inch or better in length and he lives under stones and bits of wood. You find him in the basement if it's damp. He runs slowly and wiggles his legs in the air if he lands on his back. Flick him and he rolls up in a ball. What is he? More to the point, how do you get rid of him once you know what he is?

Sure, I knew that a lot of British charter lines were on the verge of collapse. When my niece proved smart enough to come by something else instead of Court Line I figured she had it made. She flew from England on the Wednesday and on the Thursday the air line went broke. So far, so good: the government in London is guaranteeing her return.

Few weeks ago I met a Mouat from way back. She was Ann Mouat, of Shetland, cousin of the Salt Spring Island family. She's been here before to stay with W.M. and this time her visit coincided with his 90th birthday. And in case you figure that Shetland Islands are in the sticks, Ann Mouat is a telephone supervisor with 60 operators working in the exchange. She'll be back, she promised.

Chester Reynolds was showing a 30:30 he has in his house and he explained it was once the property of John Sparrow and that all led to a tale of the pioneer Salt Spring Island farmer. Big fellow was Sparrow and he was fond of hunting. One morning, the tale unfolded, he went off with a shot gun and bird shot to see what he could get for the pot. Sparrow and a companion crossed his fields and met his bull. Bull was harmless, explained its owner. The bull didn't hear him and pawed the ground in readiness to charge. The two hunters were over the fence like two shots and Sparrow gained a little help from the bull. He was furious. He jumped back in the field with his gun at the ready and gave the bull both barrels. The bull was no bird and took the bird-shot in his stride. Once again Sparrow was up and over the hedge like a steeplechaser. But now he was really steaming. The farmer threw down his shot gun, strode back to his house and returned with a rifle. He faced the still maddened bull and let him have it between the eyes. The bull gave up this time and rolled over with his legs in the air. John Sparrow threw down the rifle, picked up the shot gun and off they went, hunting with not a care in the world.

It isn't the telephone service and it isn't the user that gets me down. It is the mechanical beauty who comes on the line to tell me I have dialled the wrong number and please dial again. She tells me this before I have finished dialling 112. Impatient wom-

INJURED AFTER 50 FEET

Motor cyclist was shot more than 55 feet through the air before he hit the ground and suffered extensive injuries.

According to police he was en are bad enough when they're real!

Human rights and advertising came to a bump in a big city paper last week. The advertiser wanted a waitress but in this province you are not allowed to say so. The advertisement read approximately "Wanted, waiter/waitress... must wear skirt on duty."

I see the Environmental Centre in Victoria is running American-style. Centre, in Canada, is customarily spelt "centre". The quasi-government body spells it "centr", the United States style. Which doesn't matter very much. It just clashes.

Porker's tale is no corkscrew it is a gourmet dish. Clare McAllister reports that during her exile from B. C. when she was in Ottawa, she encountered a "valiant band of prominent gentlemen assembling annually, their leading focus being to munch pigs' tails." The tails were oven-roasted according to the McAllister memory. There were, notably, no ladies present. Perhaps, she added, Women's Lib might help in further research. Sshh! What they don't know won't hurt 'em!

When a Salt Spring Island sailor met a pod of killer whales in Sansum Narrows on Tuesday the only one not rolling and splashing and enjoying the water was the 12 ft. outboard manned by Les Ramsey. The whales enjoyed the encounter and the intrepid islander bit his nails. They went and Ramsey came back. They were interesting but very close he noted.

A reminder from Beth Hill for all those coffee drinkers who do not want to drink the product of forced child labor in Angola. "Here are the names of brands you should NOT buy: Maxim, Maxwell House, Brim, Sanka, Yuban, Taster's Choice, Nescafe, Chase & Sanborn. Dozens of other brands exist, so why not try them? Boycott the brands named above and you'll be joining hands with Oxfam, the YWCA, the Voice of Women, the United Church of Canada, the National Farmer's Union and the World University Service of Canada, and you'll be supporting UN Resolution 2918. Clip this notice and remind your friends."

IT MUST BE ADEQUATE

On Monday a second public hearing will sit on Salt Spring Island to consider the possible effects of a discharge of partially treated sewage into Ganges Harbour. The first hearing led to the issue of a permit from the Pollution Control Board to discharge effluent. The second hearing has been called to enquire into a protest against the permit.

A system is needed. There can be no doubt of that. On the shore and away from the shore, the Ganges community is far from sweet.

Critics have expressed concern at the mode of disposal. They have looked askance at the two-stage treatment of the sewage and they are fearful that the limited outfall will cause effluent to run back towards the beaches.

Both factions are looking for the same thing. Both factions are aware of the need for a sewer system. Both are keenly aware of the need for an adequate discharge system. All Salt Spring Island agrees. There is no place here for a disposal system that will not prove up to the job.

That is why the hearing has been called.

If SPEC and other critics are right, changes must be made. And only the Pollution Control Board can assess the efficiency of the proposed system. That is why the hearing will open on Monday afternoon in Mahon Hall.

FIRST PLAN FOR GANGES

Salt Spring Island has been looking at planning since 1967. Planners have been looking at Salt Spring Island over the same period. Yet, despite the concentration and effort involved in looking at each other, nobody has looked at Ganges.

SPEC, protesting the sewer system that could encourage the growth of Ganges, has asked for a plan for Ganges. The community had been included within the overall plan for Salt Spring Island. It is fitting that the first community planning organization to be established in the islands is the author of a new Ganges plan. The Salt Spring Island Community Planning Association has now prepared a pattern of semi-urban development for the island village community.

The association has no standing in the sense that it cannot force a plan on anyone. It is, however, unlikely that any authority, regional or provincial will ignore the carefully prepared proposals of a community association. The plan for Ganges has originated in the same association and the same manner as the earlier island plans. It has come from the same spirit and community involvement which has characterized all Gulf Islands planning in the past five years. It is the work of the community, without the pressure or prejudices of professionals.

The proposed plan, which is published in part this week, is unlikely to meet with universal approval. It is, however, a launching platform for a planned community. The association has invited comment and approval, or criticism, from the island community.

That's the next stage in the planning process.

Letters to the Editor

NO POWER BOATS?

Sir,
Some of your readers, living near lakes, in the Gulf Islands, may be interested in the following item which appeared in the September, 1974, Newsletter of The Federation of British Columbia Naturalists:

SANITY RETURNS TO ONE MORE LAKE

"Writing in the Victoria Colonist Alec Merriman details what has happened on Langford Lake, a mile-long sheet west of Victoria on which he lives. Swimming and boating was popular until an informal agreement broke down and power boats and skiers moved in to take the enjoyment of these away.

"Then power to restrict the use of power boats on lakes was legislated under the Canada Shipping Act and delegated to the Fish & Wildlife Branch in B. C. for administration. To get a complete or partial ban on such boats a responsible group must apply and show that that it is desirable and that a majority of the users want the ban. At Langford Lake this was done and a complete ban came into force this spring.

"It was like pulling the plug on the juke box - fishing improved and swimmers and small boats spread out over the lake once more. There are other lakes in B. C. where this kind of action is needed - let's see more of it."

SEE WHAT HAPPENED!

Sir,
SPEC has recently been advised by Mr. Bill Gerry of the Capital Regional District that recycling here will now be taken over by the region on a permanent basis and, further, that remuneration will be made now to the person responsible for collection and dispersal of materials for recycling.

Mr. Gerry said that of all the sub-depots in the District, the Salt Spring operation was not only the most effective and the most efficient but that it also had the widest base of community support, and this was why we had been selected for their assistance.

SPEC is, of course, pleased to have the Island's recycling efforts acknowledged by the region in a gratifyingly practical way, and is delighted at this opportunity to specifically thank the community for its support to the Project.

Our special thanks to the great roster of volunteers who manned the depot and hauled the material to Victoria, and to Mr. Tom Toynbee for his help in providing the depot itself. We can only agree with Mr. Gerry that this work does indeed have a wide community support that gives every indication of continuing as an integral part of Island life.

IRONY AND DOGS

Sir,
We have a Newfoundland-cross, eight month old dog called Henry. He's big and friendly. When the children who live nearby ride their bikes past our house and call to him, he tends to follow unless we are there to call him back.

Henry went missing for three days last week and our enquiries and search of the neighborhood failed to find him.

I heard of the Domestic Animal Protection Act and called Mr. Folstad, the island agent. Yes, he had my dog for the past three days, I could have him back for $31 (of which $25 goes into a fund to pay for damages such as killed sheep).

My dog did not cause any damage, he was lost.

There are two fancy little dogs that are kept tied. They have gotten away a couple of times. One time they killed one of our ducks; another, our angora goat was attacked and lost half an ear.

I wonder if islanders appreciate the irony of the Domestic Animal Protection Act.

SALT SPRING GOLF

Sir,
As a competitor in the Salt Spring Open I would like to Season opened on grouse at the week end.

Hunter on Salt Spring Island did very well. He shot until a large garbage bag was full. The hunter is unknown, but his work was very evident on Tuesday morning.

The green garbage bag lay on the side of Fulford-Ganges Road, full of stinking, rotting birds. The scavenging animals and birds had found it and spread the carcasses around.

It appeared likely that the hunter had failed to keep the birds in a cool place and they had started to putrefy before he discarded them. Plastic bag and a hot day are a combination which is unkind to any meat, the hunter apparently learned.

CAR LEAVES ROAD EN ROUTE FOR FERRY ON MONDAY

Car which landed in the ditch on Fulford-Ganges Road at Hundred Hills on Monday landed its driver with a traffic violation report.

Driver Gordon James Morris, of Vancouver failed to negotiate a curve and the car finished up backwards in the ditch on the wrong side of the road.

Accident occurred on Monday afternoon when the driver was heading for the Fulford ferry.

commend the staff and many members, who gave of their time, to make the tournament a huge success.

The greens were in excellent condition, thanks to Barry and his help.

Rita Dods and her staff, as usual, served an excellent smorgasbord.

I'm sure the many visitors will agree it was a well run event, and will mark it on their calendars for another year.

3. Adequate off-street parking should be provided for each lot.

f. A minimum of 1% of each lot should be placed in grass, garden, or trees.

g. Industrial use compatible with commercial use permitted.

RESIDENTIAL AREAS

Village Residential, 1:

Village residential 1 areas should have a major use of single family dwellings, cottages and duplexes in accordance with the average density as outlined in the community plan but subject to health department regulations for sewage disposal and topographical considerations.

a. A setback of 50 feet wide without buildings should parallel arterial roads in order to keep these areas in a more natural state and reduce noise pollution to residences.

HERE'S FIRST GANGES PLAN

Salt Spring Island Planning Association has been active since the 1969-70 initial land freeze was introduced. Findings of the questionnaire that was widely circulated, and the Salt Spring Island Land Use Plan, have been used to produce the first "Guide Lines for Development of Ganges".

The 14 publicly elected members of the Salt Spring Island Planning Association have spent a great deal of time on research and committee debate, and the consensus of the committee is by no means binding, but rather a recommendation to business and residents of the Island asking for their participation.

The association will wait a month to receive submissions from islanders and will then hold a public meeting.

"Should the outcome be in favour, we will recommend zoning changes accordingly," said W. J. Stepaniuk, chairman of the planning committee.

In the last two years it has become very obvious to islanders, that the question of Ganges must be reappraised.

Environment, transportation, commercial and residential areas, industry and waterfront use need an ecologically sound sewer system, with the view to gradual and orderly development. It doesn't appear that there is an argument on that question, but there are diversified views as to how to achieve these objectives, and this is where the residents may take an active part, and make known their comments on these guidelines. Comments may be made to the Regional Director, George Heinekey, or to the Salt Spring Island Planning Association, P. O. Box 12, Ganges.

b. Paths suitable for walking and cycling, parallel to, but separated from these main highways should be developed.

c. Every effort should be made to make residences compatible with the natural beauty of the island by use of large setbacks, careful clearing of lots, use of natural materials, etc.

d. Commercial, industrial, and larger residential developments should be allowed only subject to land use contracts or similar controls. These controls would incorporate such considerations as building design, environmental impact, traffic increase, compatibility with residential use, etc.

Village Residential, 2:
Village residential 2 area should be near the commercial centre and serviced by sewers. Major uses would include multiple units such as garden apartments, duplexes or single family dwellings.

a. The average density principle should be used to control development.

b. A minimum landscaped set back shall be established.

Village Residential, 3:
Less dense residential developments should be permitted due to steep topography and poor characteristics for sewage disposal.

a. Similar requirements to Village residential 1.

AGRICULTURAL

Land designated "agricultural" under the Agricultural Land Reserve and having, as major uses, farming and other uses as allowed by the B. C. Land Commission.

a. Land to be retained for food production.

b. Land to be retained for open space.

RECREATION
Recreation, 1: public recreational use and Recreation, 2: private recreational use.

EDUCATION
Included in this category are schools and associated uses

UNSTABLE SOIL AREA
Should only be developed with geological engineering studies.

WATERFRONT

Waterfront 1:
Wharves and more dense commercial development.

Waterfront 2:
Building heights and setbacks should be determined with the goal of preserving open space and views.

SALT SPRING WAS BEST OF ALL

Capital Regional District has assumed responsibility for garbage disposal throughout its area. Future of garbage disposal on the Gulf Islands is likely to be off the Gulf Islands.

District officials are looking to the day when large combination trucks will haul compressed garbage off the islands to be disposed of in a central plant.

Function will cover such acute urban problems as diesel oil in city sewers as well as the destiny of the island garbage can.

In making an investigation of garbage disposal facilities throughout the Capital Region, it was discovered that although no system in the area conformed with provincial regulations, the nearest approach to a satisfactory system was that operated for many years by Wally Twa on Salt Spring Island, reports Director George Heinekey.

DEADLINE FOR CLASSIFIED TUESDAY NOON

IMPRESSIVE DISPLAY OF CRAFTSMANSHIP

BY MARY BACKLUND
The Galiano Island Weavers and Spinners second annual exhibition and sale was a huge success, with crowds of people coming all day long to view and buy the excellent work done by this group.
Their handicraft defies explanation. Beauty turned out and was shown expertly.
There were scarves, dresses, suits, men's sports coats, belts cloth by the yard, pillows, soft fabrics all woven beautifully.
Around the stage were decorations, also made of wool, looking like someone had magically just put in a garden there, and the openness of it all over the hall gave one a feeling of peace and contentment to walk around the exhibits. Of course the lovely baby clothes made by Mrs. C. Morshead added much to the show, and it is difficult to choose names of the rest of the weavers, as it was all so attractive.

The junior weavers helped to serve the tea and cakes during the day, and we are sure that they are all justly proud of yet another most successful show for this year.

BILL COTTRELL BEATS ALL COMERS ON MAINLAND

BY MARY BACKLUND

One of Galiano's younger 80-year-olds is now the champion for all of British Columbia.

In the A.A. top 75-and-over competition held at the Richmond Golf and Country Club last week, Bill Cottrell won the splendid Clyde Davis Rose Bowl. It was a four-day match, when he won over all others in his class.

Bill is a "Lefty", meaning a left-handed golfer, but this particular competition included right-handers, too, he says.

The champ began to play golf in 1941, and in 1961, he and his wife moved to Galiano. He has been playing avidly on the course on the island as well.

Besides the rose bowl, which he will keep for one year, he was given a pair of $50 golf shoes.

Mr. Cottrell is in excellent health, and celebrated his win by going for a swim in his neighbour's pool, just to show how well he really is.

Only blemish to his triumph is that his wife was not with him to share his happiness. Mrs. Cottrell is a patient at Lady Minto Hospital, where she is making slow progress. Islanders are proud of Bill Cottrell.

ONLY ONE INCIDENT

Girls promote disturbance

It is the girls who are ringleaders when a disturbance breaks out.

When RCMP were called to a disturbance in Ruckle Park at Beaver Point on Saturday the girls in a gathering of about 25 young persons used obscenities and egged on their male companions to defy the instructions of the officer.

The party from the mainland was camped in the park, drinking and playing guitars. Police arrived, following complaints from residents of the Beaver Point area.

After some cross-talk and offensive remarks, the party broke up camp and moved away in accordance with police instructions.

The same group later took up occupation of a private resort and were finally evicted after midnight.

There was no indication of where they went afterwards.

There were no other incidents of nuisance or misbehavior by holidaymakers.

GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB CLUBHOUSE NOTES

BY PAT DOHERTY

In the mixed No. 1, Joy Tuckey and Malcolm Robertson held off challengers Ruby McConnell and Buzz Brown. In the men's No. 1, after a very tough struggle, Al Whorley and Jack Fraser overcame the holders Pat Harrison and Gordon Kennedy.

In the mixed two-ball on Tuesday, Dolly Whorley and Norm Mackintosh turned in a sizzling 42. As a prize Norman got a golf ball that he had found and turned into the club. He finds so many I don't know how he keeps track.

Ian Shopland will be glad to know that Uncle Mac is smoking the packet of cigars he left in the locker room during the Open.

Do-you-laugh-or-cry department.

On Vancouver Island at the weekend a golfer canned his tee shot for a hole in one. His playing partner teed up his ball and aced his shot for consecutive holes in one!

Well, at least, the first guy had the satisfaction of knowing his partner had to pay half the bar bill.

Then there was our own Bob Gall getting an eagle two on No. 9 hole the other day. Mind you there was something unorthodox about the way he achieved this remarkable feat. Bob's second shot stopped about four feet short of the pin; his playing partner Art Lloyd who was about 50 yards short of the green played his approach shot to the green, and would you believe it? His ball struck Bob's ball at just the right angle, and knocked it into the hole!

The qualifying round for Crofton Cup which is for the men's club champion goes off on Sunday, Sept. 8, so if you intend to play get your name

Elections for trustees November

November elections promise to attract wide island attention as the Islands Trust Act comes into effect.

The act provides for the election of two trustees from each island and their election is likely to be as keenly challenged as the office of regional director has been disputed in past years.

Island Trust will be a new on the sheet as early as possible in order that Dave Nisbet can make out the draw. Defending club champion Tom "Sandy" Butt will be there.

The results in the recent Salt Spring Open exploded the popular myth that our club has all the sandbaggers in North America.

concept of supervision for the islands up the coast as far as Campbell River. The three appointed, superior members of the trust, with its two elected, secondary members from each island will have a veto in the development and planning of the islands. The trust will not enjoy the privilege of introducing new schemes. It can only put the veto on those schemes or programs its members feel are undesirable.

Many islanders are watching the new legislation very closely and some with nervous qualms. Many are fearful that in order to be protective the act and its creature, the Islands Trust will be restrictive.

SATURNA

BY PAPAJOHN

The Lions Lyre: We made the top of the column this week by deciding on a Tuesday we would have a Corn on the Cob and wiener feast on Saturday. Even with such a short notice the boys pulled it off and it was a grand do. Using Jim Money's big corn boiler and cauldron they had corn cobs piping hot. John MacDonald and his Lions deserve a pat on the back.

At Tuesday night's meeting guests were Dick Frazer and Johnny Copeland. It was decided to have still another evening of wood cutting under John Silvester's able guidance. A proposal was put forward to make Uncle Art Ralph head of our greeters committee. Bob Hindmarch objected to washing dishes. Walter Bavis was asked to convey our sympathy to Tom Davidson when visiting him this week. A lot of the boys turned up at the school grounds last Saturday morning to help in making a new lawn. Uncle Art moved the motion to adjourn, with his usual gusto.

In Lyall Harbour were Jo Van Essens and his wife Jean with her friend Joan. Jo is sure full of corn after last night's feed. Lloyd and Myrtle Stewart, with daughter Carol were also over at their cottage. Graham and Polly Howarth of Calgary have wended their way home, very, very sorry to go. Jack and Evelyn Saunders had son Jim and his friend Ed Lipp over for the long holiday.

Johnny Money had Lloyd and Colleen Harder; Gerald and Kay Green with their three boys all from Kelowna down and Shirley had a houseful. Never knew that among his MANY accomplishments Bob Hindmarch could fly, but Bob and Taimi had, as guests, John and Irene Blackburn of Duncan. It turns out that John had taught Bob to fly an aeroplane.

Also at their Lyall Harbour Cottage were Tom and Dot Maytum. With the help of Bill and Dorothy Price, they were celebrating Dot's B-Day.

Lorne and Kathy Fleming had an invasion of divers from Vancouver. They were Gordon Lovell, Jack Banks, Larry Poynter, Sheila Finney, Gred Bolley, Teddy and Tanja Bolley. They found the water clear and beautiful and caught a few fish on the side. Hope they all had a good time Lorne and that was a houseful for Kathy!

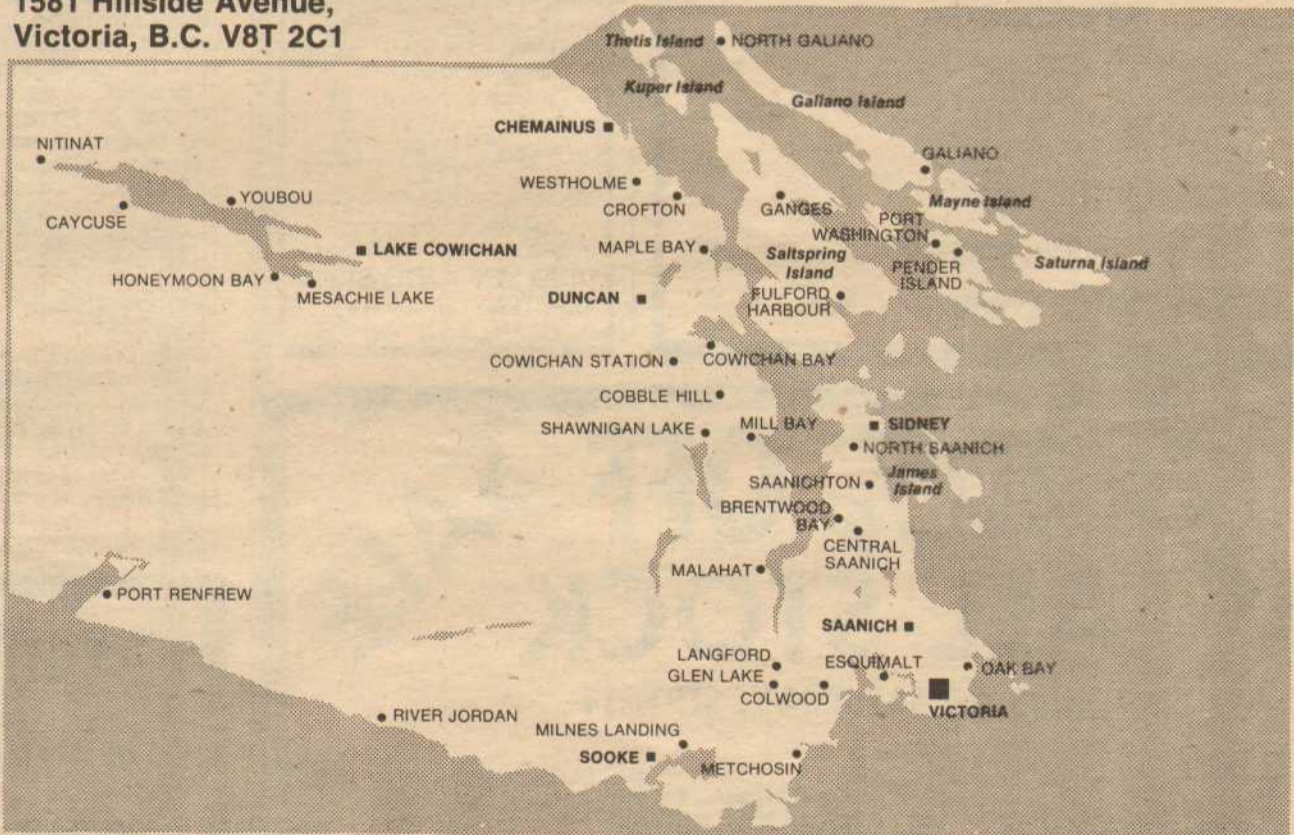

Staying at our hoose last week we had Granmarie's niece, Sandra Obade with Darren. Dina and Drew. Grandson John came over and Darren and he caught a 5 lb. trout and a two pounder.

Local service introduced for Workers' Compensation claims

As of Monday, September 9th, compensation claims from residents of the southern Vancouver Island area will be decided at a new Victoria office of the Workers' Compensation Board, rather than at the head office in Vancouver. Any information about W.C.B. claims from workers living in the area shown below should be sent to:

Rehabilitation Services & Claims Dept.,
Workers' Compensation Board,
1581 Hillside Avenue,
Victoria, B.C. V8T 2C1

By localizing the claims process, the Board will improve and extend its service to workers and employers. The new service will provide for more personal and responsive communications between our staff members and the men and women they serve.

The new office will also contain the Board's Assessment, Accident Prevention Inspection and Rehabilitation Services staff members.

HEAVY TRAFFIC HOLDS THREAT

Bridges were once p

BY FRANK RICHARDS

Bridges are what you wave in front of islanders to make them mad. When the then highways minister, P.A. Gagliardi announced government consideration of bridges to link Vancouver Island with the British Columbia mainland by way of the Gulf Islands there was an explosion of horror, indignation and protest. Gigantic highways across the islands would change the entire pattern of living, charged infuriated islanders.

Two provincial governments have promised that no such plan would be contemplated. The present government has lifted the corner of the bridge carpet with the announcement of plans to make a ferry terminal on Gabriola Island.

Bridges are no new invention of senior governments. Like it or not, the proposal was made by Gulf Islanders as long ago as 1958. It was then that the inter-islands Chambers of Commerce proposed a linkage of bridges, jumping from island to island and eventually to Vancouver Island.

The proposal gained little support and was left on one side in favour of improved ferries when the British Columbia Ferries was launched.

The provincial government is the largest marine operator in the world, today, in its field. The blue and white queens are famous across the world. Fifteen years ago the communications between Vancouver Island and the mainland were maintained by private business.

Then came a strike. No ferries were operating between Vancouver and the large island. Only way out was by way of the American ferries and through Washington. Travelers were stranded on Vancouver Island and public halls and other facilities were brought into service for emergency accommodation. Civil Defence came into the picture, distributing blankets and other supplies.

Never again, said the provincial government. The people of the province would operate their own ferry service. And the Bennett Navy was born. The terminals at Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen and Nanaimo were constructed. Horseshoe Bay became part of the system. The Queens were born and the proud mistresses of the inland seas started their shuttle service.

Bridges were forgotten. What need of bridges with the finest service on the continent sailing in and out of the pass every other hour? And, later, every hour. And, later, when ever a ship was available to sail.

It is anticipated that by 1976 there will be a sailing between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen every half-hour. The significance is that this frequency is probably the limit. In other words, with terminals operating at the ultimate of efficiency and with ships to fit the half-hour slots, the maximum capacity of the terminals will have been reached.

The terminals were largely constructed to meet the needs of the situation more than 10 years ago. Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay are both desperately short of berths. To construct new berths is likely to bring about temporary suspension of most of the existing facilities at Swartz Bay.

The government's proposals for a Gabriola terminal would reduce the sea-time of the mid-Vancouver Island crossing. It will also mark the first inroad of provincial administrations into island living.

By virtue of their geography, the Gulf Islands form a causeway between Vancouver and Victoria. Island residents will have to examine the economics of coastal communications and they will have to look for an alternative system to the present ferry service, already reaching its critical point.

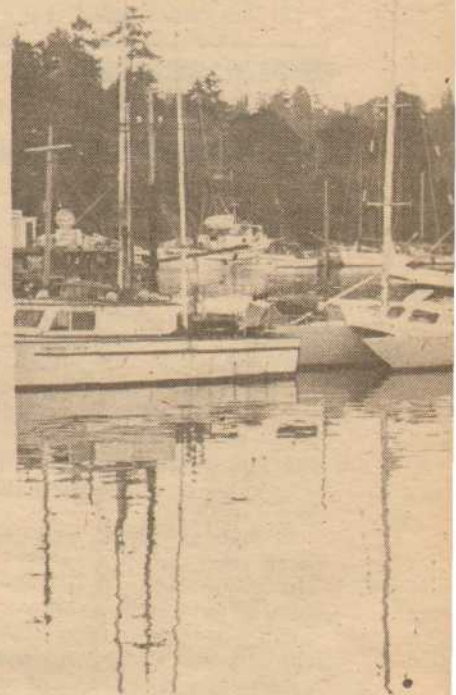

When coastal ferries will no longer accommodate coastal travellers, and that day may already be in sight, where will the province turn?

The mass of British Columbians live on the lower mainland. Next largest concentration of people is in the southern Vancouver Island area. The ferry services of British Columbia serve these centralized communities as well as the islands. When a voice is raised for improved communication the government, any government, is going to listen to the big centres before they ask us, in the islands, for an opinion.

When that day comes the islanders will accomplish nothing by protesting that change is undesirable. However urgent the need to protect the frail ecology of the islands, the need to accommodate the travelling public will prove greater.

The only guarantee of freedom for the islands is to find a workable solution for the coastal communications question. If the islands people can offer an alternative system rather than invasion of the islands, then the future might be clear. If they can't, it is unlikely that present population trends will be even feasible without island bridges.

It is up to the island people, who have the most to win with a workable plan, and the most to lose, if the bridges are built.

By the time you all read this all our happy summer residents and visitors will be settling down to the old rat race in town. We are sure happy to see them come and "will ye no come back again" because all you good people give us a real lift.

Barry and Bernice Crooks had a hot trip to Regina with Sandra, Shelley and Clifford. The occasion was the wedding of Bernice's sister Bonnie who is well known on Saturna from her yearly visits. All was well and the trip was a huge success until the railroad lost their luggage as they were leaving. To cap it off they had no water in the house when they got home. That was remedied the next day as Neville Bouch and Lloyd finished their new bathroom.

FEAR OF FUTURE

Scientific Pollution and Environmental Control Society contends that the proposed Ganges sewer scheme will further pollute island waters and beaches.

Residents may attend a public hearing at Mahon Hall, September 9, at two o'clock in the afternoon and from 7-10 in the evening. The hearing has been called to hear the appeal of SPEC against granting of a permit to the Capital Regional District to discharge effluent into Ganges Harbour.

The shallow, unflushed nature of the harbour at the outfall site, and the prevailing southeasterly winds, make this area unsuitable for sewage disposal from a secondary treatment plant, contends the society.

The main concerns of opponents are contamination of shellfish by pathogenic organisms, and adverse effects on some forms of marine life. For instance, claim members of SPEC, residual chlorine levels may be high enough to adversely affect herring reproduction.

"We do not think that the minimum standards of the Pollution Control Branch are appropriate in this case," said a spokesman, "considering the unique beauty and recreational value of the Gulf Islands. With the strong possibility that the sewage may surface and may not be adequately diluted, aesthetic considerations are important."

Protesters also charge that the volume of sewage produced, as estimated by the consulting engineers, seems to be unrealistically low. Based on the number of residents in the proposed sewer area, the volume does not appear to consider other sources of sewage such as the hospital, school, hotels, laundry, it is claimed. Projection for future volumes may be far too low, in view of the fact that the installation of a sewer system will probably generate more growth.

"If the treatment and sewage disposal system is inadequate, it seems only a matter of time before the increased volume of sewage will cause contamination," continued the spokesman. "The monitoring program may detect early signs of problems but, typically, there could be a delay of years before corrective measures could be taken."

"We feel that the sewage treatment and disposal system must have a large degree of safety built into it."

SPEC believes that the whole approach to the problem has been wrong.

If pollution is to be avoided, environmental, rather than economic, considerations must prevail. A temporary lack of funds for an adequate system is not a good reason for further polluting the harbour.

"We suggest that while a higher degree of treatment or a much longer outfall would initially be more expensive, corrective measures in the future would be predictably even more expensive."

One cord of air-dried hard maple is equivalent to 175 gallons of fuel oil.

Whenever she has time off from her chores as co-host of CBC television's popular series This Land, Mary Chapman likes to travel with her little daughter and their menage of dogs and cats to see the parts of Canada outside the cities. Last year, she travelled to the mountains and Cariboo Country in British Columbia, camping outside most of the time.

HELP!! WANTED!!

(CONTRIBUTED)

Living on Salt Spring Island is a privilege, but sometimes the price comes pretty high. And we're not just talking about real estate! In any community there are those who care enough to try and get things done, and the smaller the community, it seems that there are fewer people doing more jobs. Mary Williamson calls it "wearing too many hats" and she ought to know - she's wearing a few.

One of the four active partners running the Vesuvius Bay Store, she is also a member of the Session of the Ganges United Church, secretary of the 0-6 Study Group and president of the Salt Spring Island Day Care Society. Mrs. Williamson undertook the secretarial duties of the 0-6 Group as a temporary measure to help a friend. She's looking for someone to take this hat off her head after wearing it two years.

She was one of the founding directors of the Day Care Society and has spent a year battling with bureaucracy in Victoria. She feels this job needs someone with more time and energy than she now has.

"So how about it," she asks, "all you folks who complain there's not enough to do on Salt Spring? Here are two worthwhile jobs going!"

Personal application may be made at the old School Dormitory on Wednesday, Sept. 11 at 7 pm, or telephone Mrs. Williamson at 537-2322.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Priebe, who are holidaying at their summer home, "Someday", from Portland, were very happy to see their grandson, who is now five months old, come here with daughter and son-in-law, Grant and Robin Branstater, all the way from Boulder, Colorado. Nicholas' coming to "Someday" marks the fourth generation at their home.

Not to be outdone by all of the newest children, cowboy Tom Carolan has to get into the act, by announcing the birth of his second great-grand child. Born to Richard and Jamie Carolan, Darel Jesse weighed in at the Powell River Hospital on Monday, August 26.

On August 27, most of the family of Mrs. Bernard Stallybrass went in to visit her on her 84th birthday, at the Extended Care Wing of Lady Minto Hospital. Through the kindness of the matron and staff, she received her visitors and was pleased to have some of her cake, made specially for her by her grandson's wife, Mrs. Sylvia Head.

Summer visitors at the Valley home of Dick and Dory Wood have included: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cavin, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Morton of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Braithwaite, Guelph, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Braithwaite, from Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lannon from Tsawwassen, Mr. and Mrs. Pedar Martinson and Dale, Squamish, Misses Peggy Logan Pat Armstrong, Jane Eagle, and Mary Balmos, Vancouver, as well as members of their own family, Lon and wife Lori, Victoria, Sylvia, Gordon, Sean and Angela, Vancouver, not forgetting Gary W. Smith and Geoffrey A. Wetherse of the "Flying Winettes of Lone Butte".

POINTS FOR VEGETABLES

DON'T GROW KOHLRABI FOR PRIZES

Produce is for eating. It is also for showing and that's where Jack James comes into the picture. Former provincial agriculturist, he is still busy on his half-acre lot at Vesuvius proving what can be grown under intensive care.

When Jack is not busy in his own garden, growing his own produce, he is to be found checking out on somebody else's produce.

That's the angle that takes him off Salt Spring Island to assess the quality of other people's growing.

This year was by no means the first year to see Jack and his wife, Dorothy sailing across to Mayne Island and Pender Island to judge the quality of the produce at the island fall fairs. Both take part in judging. They both know how to grow a crackerjack crop and they both know how to judge one.

Jack (P. G.) James wants the grower to get some idea of how the judges judge the produce. He explained to Driftwood the manner of judging various crops and the standard pattern of giving points for different vegetables in this province. The gardener who lives on kohlrabi, egg-plant, artichokes, shallots and chard will, for example, score lightly.

Exhibition Standards of Perfection for Vegetable and Field Crops is published by the provincial department of agriculture. Growers can obtain the publication from the department at the Parliament Bldgs., in Victoria.

Table of relative values is the feature emphasized by Mr. James. It is published below for the future guidance of island growers.

In drawing up the following score cards, it was deemed advisable that a relative table value for different vegetables be given. Judges and competitors would then know the table value of the different vegetables and the points to be allowed when judging or arranging a display.

RELATIVE TABLE VALUE OF VEGETABLES

- Artichoke, 2; Asparagus, 6;
- Beets, 7; Beans, 7; Broccoli, sprouting, 5; Brussels sprouts, 6; Cabbage, 8; Cauliflower (broccoli), 8; Carrots, 8; Celery, 7; Citron, 2; Corn, 7;
- Cucumbers, 4; Eggplant, 2; Garden herbs, 3; Kale, 2;
- Kohlrabi, 1; Lettuce, 7; Leeks, 6; Muskmelons and cantaloupe

- 4; Onions, 9; Parsnips, 5; Peas, 8; Peppers, 2; Potatoes, 10;
- Pumpkins and marrow, 4; Radishes, 2; Rhubarb, 4; Salsify, 3; Shallots, 1; Spinach, 4;
- Squash, 5; Swiss chard, 2; Tomatoes, 9; Turnips, 5;
- Watermelons, 4. Maximum points, 179.

RECYCLING GAINS SUPPORT

Recycling on Salt Spring Island has been assured permanent support by the Capital Regional District.

The District, which has assumed responsibility for solid waste disposal in the area and which already operates the Victoria recycling facility, has now taken on responsibility for the Ganges depot to be operated as a sub-unit of the city branch.

A part-time operator will be hired through the federal government's welfare incentive program, according to assistant regional engineer Ken Robertson and Victoria recycle depot manager Don Sher.

Under the program, the government will pay up to 50 hours' salary per month over and above normal welfare payments if the recipient is employed on a non-profit community project.

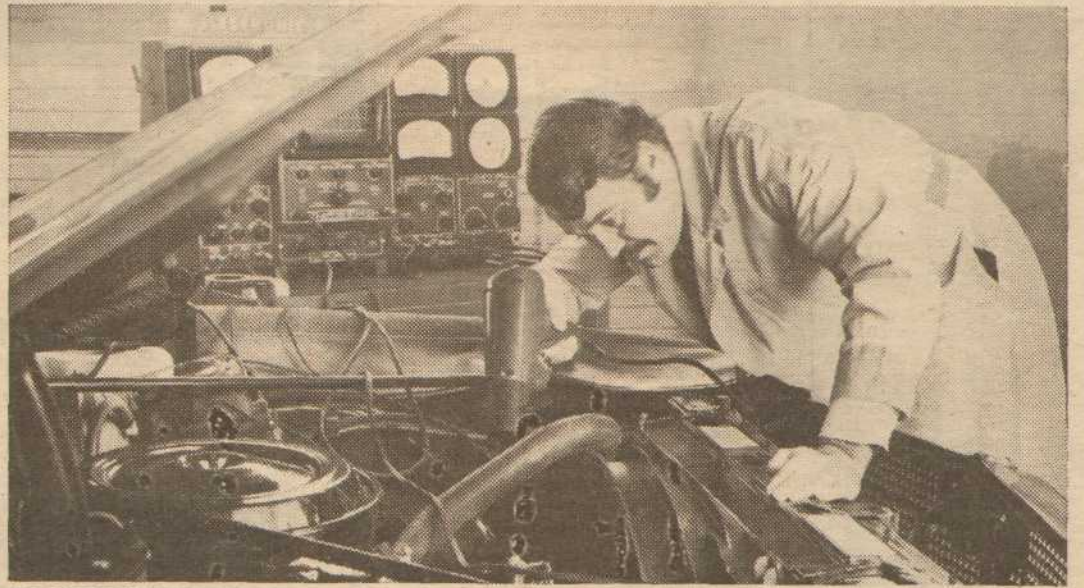

Volunteers started recycling on Salt Spring Island in 1970 as a SPEC endeavour, using space donated by Mouat's Trading Company on the Ganges freight wharf. Early in 1974 use of the depot had grown to the extent that SPEC appealed to the Regional District for support in the same vein as that already accorded Victoria's Project Recycle. The Regional District did not at that time offer any permanent support, financial or otherwise. Board suggested hiring a student for May through August under the provincial government's Student Temporary Employment Program.

That program has, as of Saturday, lapsed. To fill the gap between Ken Simons and the as yet unchosen worker, the Victoria Recycle depot has hired Peter Ramsey of Ganges for the month of September.

For the winter the depot will initially be open Saturdays only from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Information on recycling is always available at the depot for those who have never made use of it before.

GOOD GAS MILEAGE TIP NUMBER 7

PROPERLY TUNED ENGINE

Overall tuning (a check on timing, distributor points, spark plugs, emission control devices,) can measurably improve your car's performance. You just can't expect an "out-of-tune" engine to give you good gas mileage.

? Inquest ?

BY PASTOR DAVID G. LOW

Many people live double standards of life, and most of them don't even realize it. For instance, its very easy to say you believe one thing, and practice a different thing. I have people constantly tell me that it's by living by the ten commandments that we become Christians and eventually get to heaven. And yet those very same people can't even tell me five out of the ten commandments. If you don't know what they are, how can you live by them.

It's hypocritical to claim to be a Christian by keeping the law, and then not even try to commit them to memory, much less try to keep them. That is just as bad as if I told you that I was a minister of God's word, and on Sundays I preached on everything else but what God's word said. I would be wasting my time as a minister, just as you are wasting your time being a Christian by keeping the law. Especially if you don't even know what the law consists of.

I challenge you to take a piece of paper and write as many of the ten commandments down as you can. Then check your list with Exodus 20: 1-17. What seems to be depressing is not that you can't remember all of them, but the fact that it's impossible to keep all of the commandments.

But I have good news for you. Christ came to earth to set us free from the bondage of the law. As you look at the law you realize that you have failed at one time or other and have thus sinned. So the law doesn't take us to heaven, but it drives us away from God.

So, if we want to be a true Christian, you must find a way to have your sins forgiven. Only Jesus Christ can forgive sins. He became sin for us by taking our sin on himself and paying the price. He died on the cross. John 1-12 says, "But as many as receive Him, to them gave He the power to become sons of God, even to as many as believe on His name." If you want to become apart of God's family then ask Jesus, through prayer, to forgive you of your sins and to change your life. He always answers a sincere heart.

Vocational training. The open door to a brighter future.

The difference between a mediocre job and a very good job is usually better training.

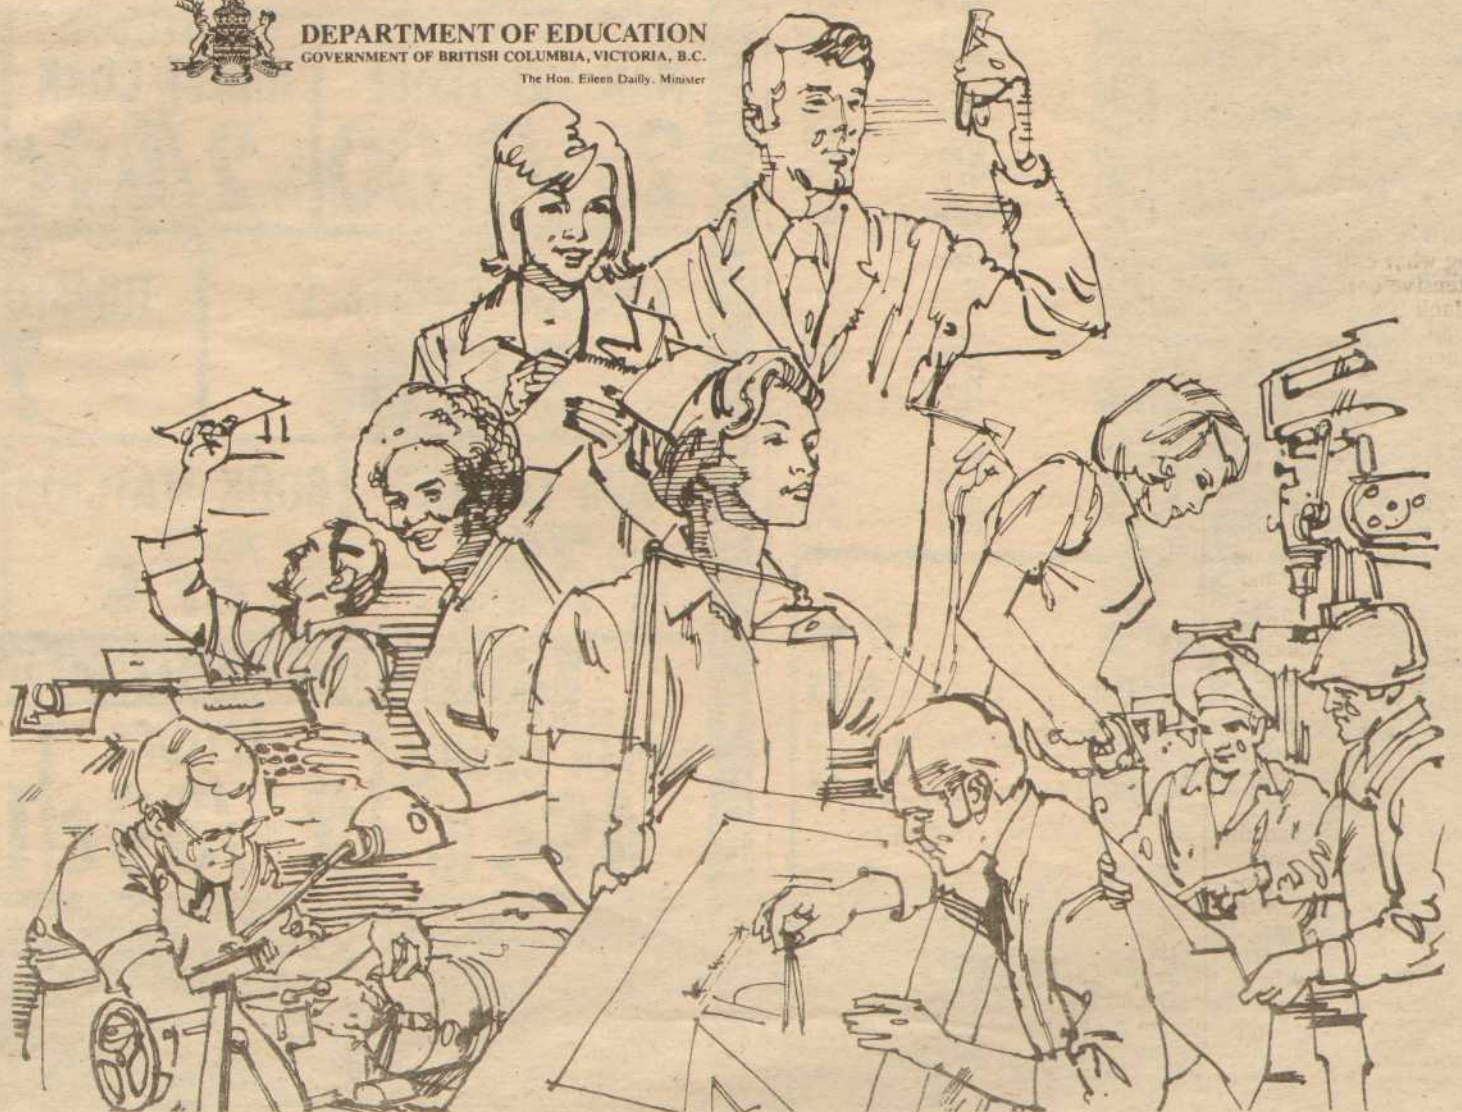

However, in the past it hasn't always been that easy to get training.

Now things are different. Because now there are Community Colleges and vocational schools throughout the province, offering a good range of vocational and technical programs that can put you into a better job or increase your skills in your present job.

Think about it. Then talk to a Community College Counsellor. The door is always open.

NEW LAW IN EFFECT

Dogs must be controlled

All dogs in the islands must be licensed.

In the past it has been required under provincial laws that dog owners license their pets. This law is now to be enforced in a new pattern.

It is also unlawful to permit a dog to stray.

Owners of dogs must keep them on a leash while on public roads.

All these things are to be enforced.

Penalty is death. The animal may be shot if found straying or on private property or on public property.

Unfortunately, the new Domestic Animal Protection Act is not yet in print. Exact nature of the new law cannot be ascertained by the dog owner.

Protection officers have been named for the islands and dog licenses will be available from those officers.

New law is intended to provide protection for sheep and game in face of an unprecedented number of dogs, both pets and strays, in the province.

SIDNEY TAKES SOFTBALL TROPHY

For the second year in a row Sidney walked off with the trophy on Monday at the conclusion of the annual Labour Day Softball two-day Tournament in Ganges.

The tournament attracted six teams, while another game was played between two additional teams.

When the Salt Spring Island Ladies met the Grandfathers they left no doubt about Women's Lib. Game ended with a 20:6 score in favour of the ladies.

Top man in the organizing of the games was Jerry Lewinowski, of X-Kalay. He not only worked hard to organize the two-day tournament, but he produced refreshments as well.

Taking part were Ganges Merchants, Pender Island, B. C. Ferries, Fulford, Ganges Boys and Sidney.

Sidney knocked Fulford out of the finals with a score of 8:6.

VETERINARIAN TO OPEN OFFICE HERE

Veterinarian is planning to establish an office on Salt Spring Island.

Dr. J. Scott is making plans to come to the islands and is searching for suitable premises

Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce earlier this year appealed to the provincial government to encourage a veterinarian to look to the islands.

POLICE ZENITH NUMBER

Residents of the islands may reach RCMP at all times, whether or not the office on Ganges Hill is manned.

The emergency number is in the book. It is Zenith 4444

By calling the operator and asking for this number, an islander can get immediate assistance. The Zenith number connects with Duncan and the Duncan detachment then calls the RCMP patrol car on Salt Spring Island and passes on the message.
