Green light for new Pender activity room

The provincial government has approved in principle a $30,000 grant for a community-school activity centre on North Pender Island, Islands MLA, Municipal Affairs Minister Hugh Curtis announces.

In a statement, on behalf of Recreation and Travel Industry Minister Grace McCarthy, Curtis said the grant will be extended to the Capital Regional District and is being made under the Community Recreational Facilities Fund Act.

The project is to be constructed in conjunction with the Pender Island Elementary and Junior Secondary School on North Pender Island, which is to be opened this fall.

Curtis said the proposed centre is a "fine example of the co-operation between the school and the community and it will serve residents of all age groups."

VALUABLE ADDITION

"I am sure the project will be a valuable addition to the recreational amenities of the Penders and I hope that the citizens of the area will receive many years of use from these facilities," he added.

The Community Recreational Facilities Fund provides assistance in the financing of community recreational facilities sponsored by a municipality, regional district, or a non-profit group.

A similar project was responsible for the Activity Room at Salt Spring Elementary School several years ago.

Hydrant this year

Fire hydrant is needed in the vicinity of Valcourt Business Centre, annual meeting of Salt Spring Island Fire Protection District was told last week.

Phil Valcourt asked whether a hydrant in that vicinity could not be included in the 1976-77 budget.

Hydrants are firstly intended to save lives, rather than property, replied Fire Chief Kelly Hanke. A hydrant is needed in that area, he agreed, to protect lives in the various apartments.

It is planned to meet this need in 1976, he told the meeting.

Some changes looming in teaching staffs for next year among islands

Gulf Islands will see a switch in teachers at some schools in September.

Resigning are Maxine Prendergast, Daphne Thompson and Daphne Brown. Mrs. Prendergast taught at the Salt Spring elementary and replacing her will be Jim Prendergast.

Daphne Brown and Daphne Thompson both taught at the Mayne schools and replacing Daphne Thompson will be Mrs. S. Wagner.

Mrs. D. Davies will be taking a leave of absence from the high school from September until November, 1976. Temporary replacement will be E. Carrothers.

Peter Grain, also of the high school, will be taking a leave of absence from September until January.

Sharp disappointment was expressed throughout the islands at the announcement last Thursday of minor changes in the ferry rates from Vancouver Island.

Delegations attending on Premier W.R. Bennett and the minister of transport and communications had gained the impression that a change would be made in the issue and longevity of commuter tickets. Specifically, Islanders had asked for elimination of the 30-day limit.

They had asked for cake and received crusts.

Island travellers are still faced with a transportation hike of up to 166%, Gerry Bourdin told Driftwood afterwards.

Jack Davis, transport minister, has offered an entirely new concept to provide for a third pattern of travel cost based on resident tickets.

Return to Vancouver Island will cost the general public $7 for the car and driver, with an additional passenger, $2 per return fare to Swartz Bay or Crofton for islanders will be $5 for driver and passenger if the driver is in possession of a card proving residential eligibility. Additional island passengers will travel at $1 per passenger, return.

Commuter tickets, subject of the biggest opposition in the islands, will cost $35 for car and passenger for 10 return trips. The tickets are good for 30 days and represent $3.50 return for car and driver if all 10 tickets are used within the period of validity.

CONCESSION

New rates are applicable to all Gulf Islands. They represent a concession to Outer Islands travellers, but Salt Spring Islanders are still the hardest hit of any travellers in the provincial system.

Plan One represents an increase of up to 400% for passengers and 333% for cars.

Provincial average ferry rate hike is 200%.

Plan Two offers a 250% increase for car and driver, or 266% for the car and 100% for driver.

Plan three offers 175% for car and driver if the tickets are all used within a month. Should the driver fall sick the day after buying his book of tickets and suffer ill health for four weeks, then the increase represents a 1575% hike.

Plan One requires no identification. Procedure is pay-and-drive-on. Plan Two requires close identification. It is the plan used on the Sunshine Coast without success and put into operation here as an improvement on the successful system which has been abolished. It is open only to island residents. Each resident must be in possession of a current driver's license to qualify. After August 1, he must show a resident's identification card. This card will bear a picture of the owner, with his social insurance number and residential address. The system will be tight: no card, no resident's ticket.

REGIONAL DISTRICT

Cards will be issued through the Capital Regional District here and through the appropriate regional district in other communities.

Plan Three is open to anybody who can afford the book of tickets and expects to use them within the prescribed 30 days.

The residential rates represent a major concession to those permanent residents in the eligible areas, said Mr. Davis in announcing the new rates.

Not many islanders were eager to agree.

Delegation from various islands attended on Transport and Communications Minister Jack Davis on Thursday last week to continue the series of protests against the punitive ferry fare increases for islanders.

The result of their pleas was the minister's announcement of a new ferry rate structure, the resident's rate, based on the possession of a resident's card.

Residents will enjoy a reduction of about 20% in token of their pass cards.

On Tuesday evening this week Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce met to discuss the ferry increase and the series of meetings with Davis and Premier W.R. Bennett.

Basis of the islanders' plea had been for the retention of commuters' tickets to be valid for 12 months instead of one month.

The new plan bears no resemblance to what islanders asked for, said Gerry Bourdin, president of Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce.

"He's just wearing us away," he told Driftwood. "He comes up with something different every time we see him!"

In common with many islanders, the Chamber of Commerce is planning to protest the minister's decision.

Retain rate he pleads

Prior to his election to the Salt Spring Island Fire Protection District last week Fred Donaghy asked whether any thought had been given to maintaining the mill rate at five mills and whether any consideration had been given to the use of money so derived.

Chairman Vic Heal replied that the matter had been carefully considered, but that the trustees were not yet ready to report their conclusions.

Mr. Donaghy was warmly supported by Hal Leighton. The people of the island enjoy a good service for the mill rate, he said, and there is no advantage in reducing the rate.

"It's not that much of a burden," he noted, "When you consider the amount of money being spent in other directions."

Signs are needed

Signs are needed in the vicinity of the ferry terminals to advertise the current fire hazard, annual meeting of Salt Spring Island Fire District was told last week.

The proposal was offered by Gordon Cartwright, who advocated a joint effort in conjunction with the forestry branch.

School bus is full of surprises on Pender Islands

BY CHRIS WADE

One thing has become abundantly clear during my ten months of driving the school bus on Pender, one must be prepared for almost anything to happen, and it usually does.

Like the time I had returned home with an empty bus and was parking it when there emerged from under the seat a curly headed passenger, she wanted to stay with me because she liked my dog.

Then there were the two guinea pigs that escaped from a cardboard box and proceeded to dash all over the bus much to the delight of the kids.

There was also last week when I had left the bus doors open, in a rush as always two minutes to three I grabbed the bus, when nearly at the school to my horror there appeared at my feet not one chicken, but four large brown laying hens, (they clean up all the unwanted lunches!) I stopped the first car that came in sight and literally threw the chickens at the startled driver whom I had never seen before, I tried to explain where to take them, the last I saw in the bus mirror was the poor man still clutching the four protesting hens.

AND THERE ARE DOGS

Dogs are another source of entertainment. Two in particular have discovered they can have a much noisier fight within the confines of the school bus than out in the road, however after several such encounters I have become an expert at slamming the bus door thereby trapping the culprits neck in a vise like grip, so far it has worked very well and happily to relate I have confined this method of punishment to the canine population only.

Another day while waiting for the bus a small child fell face down into a huge patch of stinging nettles, by the time the bus arrived naturally the child was sobbing, and her whole face was a mass of white angry bumps, so we opened our beautiful new first aid kit only to be confronted by 40 neatly packaged bandages and a pair of surgical scissors, and a bottle of liquid with no label on it! So I resorted to an old remedy, a "Dock Leaf", as all the kids were out of the bus trying to find the scarce weed a sarcastic motorist stopped and said "Out on a nature walk"?

However, quite the most unnerving experience happened while with a full bus we were passing our serene Golf Course.

Suddenly the bus erupted with the most awful screams, and the students were everywhere, it appeared we had a large bumble bee in the bus! Having tried in vain to get it out of the windows with no luck I told the kids "everybody out". They all left via any window and door that would open, meantime the golfers stood transfixed as 40 or more kids came tumbling out.

I then advanced with the only handy weapon on the bus, a hockey stick. That wretched bee flew up and down the bus like a 747 jet with an intoxicated pilot, every now and again the bee would disappear behind a seat and recharge his energy only to come racing right at me, eventually having nearly broken the bus windshield I emerged triumphant with the corpse neatly displayed on the hockey stick after which our trip proceeded. I feel now even if confronted by a boa constrictor on the bus I would not be unduly surprised.

to be frank

by richards

I don't want to go to jail for somebody else. It was my car, but the driver was somebody else. And she collected a parking ticket. She forgot she had it until the higher penalty was in force. Then she went to the city of Victoria to pay her lawful debts....or unlawful debts. The car was parked and she went to the city hall. The clerk explained that traffic fines are paid at the police office. A walk of a couple of blocks brought her to the police office. The door, inside, was clearly marked "Traffic" and she blithely walked in, complete with one very large dog. A Victoria city police officer drew her back as her St. Bernard was the first to appear in traffic court for some time. The police officer explained that she must go to another room in another building to pay her fine. At the new office she explained she had lost the parking ticket. A parking fine must be accompanied by the ticket. Without a ticket, it was necessary to go to the office on the fourth floor. The police officer looked askance at the large animal, who was already drooling in anticipation of a bite at the officer's leg. He suggested she wait on the ground floor and he would telephone the top floor. Off she went to the fine-paying department. Alas! they could not recognize the number. The ordeal had taken an hour or so and the evildoer assured the clerk she would search out the missing ticket and all would be well. And that's where the matter stood. Except that she had taken so long to try to pay her parking ticket that she had overparked and there was a brand new ticket on the car. My car. Now we got two of 'em! Another couple weeks and it'll be a full house.

I was on a corner on West Georgia St., in Vancouver and a couple came to me and asked where was Granville St. I looked up and down the street and gave up. If they had asked me that question 30 years ago I could have told them. Only reason I knew it was Vancouver was the mountains in the backdrop.

Funny thing about Vancouver is that everybody knows Tom Toynbee....and Yvonne. We went to a store and made a small purchase. The proprietress asked where we were from. Did we know Tom and Yvonne Toynbee, she asked. She was delighted to meet someone who did. I suspect it put a premium on the price, but I don't know. Couple days later we were talking to Mayor Tom Good, of Delta.

From Salt Spring? Did we know Tom Toynbee? That's twice I had to admit it!

Still thinking about Vancouver. We flew over and took a quick glance at Habitat. Landing at Galiano we ducked under the power lines and dodged them again to take off from Montague. From the window of the Buchan Hotel we looked out and saw two black squirrels playing hide and seek with the desultory traffic. I decided that there were mighty few at Habitat who had flown in a few feet above the water for prolonged periods to get there and there were still less who could watch the squirrels from the hotel. The squirrels were old hat, a taxi driver later told us. Guests at the Sylvia, nearby, also enjoy them.

Islanders cries of anguish over ferry fares being boosted more heavily for us than for important tourists have passed into one ministerial ear and out the other without any evident influence in the middle. There is more to the question than island transportation. There is the question as to whether the government could survive any change in the edict of the minister of transport and communications. Jack Davis is an erstwhile Liberal. As a Liberal he sat in the senior cabinet in Ottawa. But he lost the confidence of his mainland electors and at the same time lost his seat. When he came to give a close look at provincial affairs, his cabinet experience was obviously valuable. And Mr. Davis campaigned, won and was named to his present portfolio. A few island people have found him less than responsive. They appealed to the Premier. Even now they whisper of a change in the cabinet and of the relegation of unresponsive ministers to the back bench. But is it really likely that any decision by an ex-Liberal minister will be challenged in the cabinet? Suppose it was. A reformed Liberal loses his portfolio. The government loses sympathy in the constituency which elected him. A number of Liberals who switched philosophies for the election, then switch back. There's another seat lost by the Socreds. The Social Credit is not going to win more votes in the next or any other election. It can only hope to hold the swinging vote from erstwhile Tories and Liberals. Alienation of that moving vote could spell disaster. The government is going to think a time or four before countermanding a min-

Summer Artcraft show to open in Mahon Hall at Ganges June 26

Art-Craft '76, the ninth annual exhibition and sale sponsored by the Gulf Islands Community Arts Council, will be open to the public on Saturday, June 26, at noon.

Closing date will be August 16. Mary Lynn and John Stack are the conveners for this year's display which begins earlier than usual and runs for a shorter time in order to allow the Salt Spring Players the use of the hall for a summer workshop.

A preview party for CAC members will be held on Thursday evening, June 24, from eight to ten. The show will be open daily from noon to five pm.

There are new creative talents in the islands to lend fresh interest to the display. Also new will be a four-panel batik banner replacing the one created by Marg Simons in 1973.

Collaborating with Marg on this year's model were Elaine Potter, Charlotte Bartsch, Mrs. Stack, and two girls from the school's alternate class, Lisa Sigurgeirson and Maureen Cue.

Artists and craftsmen wishing to submit work to be exhibited may bring it to Mahon Hall, Monday, June 21, through Wednesday, June 23, between the hours of 10 am and 2 pm. Each item should be listed on an inventory, giving inventory number, title, if any, description, and price. Anything to be hung should be properly mounted and provided with a hanging device.

isterial decision; even one that is challenged by thousands. The Islands are at the thin end of a struggle for the balance of power and far better we go and get drunk. We will at least be able to forget the whole sorry mess.

Community Arts Council policy specifies that all work must be original and articles produced with the aid of commercial kits, moulds or patterns will not be accepted.

Exhibitors must be members of CAC, but may join and pay the $2 membership fee at the time they submit their work.

The general public is welcome to membership in the CAC and may join at the preview party. Members are admitted to the summer show without charge and are entitled to special consideration on admission charges to cultural events throughout the year.

Mayne weight losers gain in numbers

Mayne Island Tops, in six months of organizing, has found the group grow from four to 13 members.

Mabel Johnston, who was the instigator of the group, is the first member to reach KOP's status and is at present attending IRD at Anaheim, California, where she will be officially recognized.

A gift from the group wishing her bon voyage was given after the meeting on May 22 held at Mrs. Norah Garrick's home.

Mrs. Garrick received a charm in recognition of reaching her KIW status.

Monthly winners for May for Reach for the Top contest were Mrs. Kay Adams and Mrs. Annie De Rousie.

Mrs. Barbara McFarlane was winner of the "Wise Owl" for the best loser for the month of May.

Anyone interested in joining this group on Mayne Island can be given information by phoning Mrs. Sally Burden at 539-2181 or Mrs. Margaret Bennett, at 539-2203.

THE END OF A PLEA?

The story of ferry fares in the islands is the story of governmental evasion, double-talk and incompetence. It has become very clear that the present government does not intend to listen to the people and probably never had any such intention.

The Victoria government planned to hike ferry fares a long time ago. The references to essential service for islanders and other pious talk was empty and helpful in times of election. It is difficult to convince ourselves that there was any truth in half the statements made by the present government relating to ferry transport.

Islanders have pressed the government for changes and we see what changes we get.

It is as if we were being punished for having the temerity to criticize the carefully laid plans of the mighty.

Where do we go from here?
We go no place. After discussions, protests, assurances and empty governmental hot air, we are exactly where we started, the pawns of an arrogant government.

When an appeal was made to Premier W.R. Bennett, many islanders looked for a change and some measure of relief. We have received another of these evasive packages of empty words. Like his minister of transport the Premier listens, says little and does less.

The ferry rates are a matter of fact. We have them and we must face them, content in the realization that nothing the government spokesmen have said of islands problems has proved substantial.

The islands interchange with the provincial government over ferry rates has been an interesting and a saddening experience. It is also a grave warning to us all that this government is ruling with a velvet hand in an iron fist and there is nothing that the people can say which will receive the consideration of the powers in Victoria.

The government is here, patently, to rule, not to listen. And with this grim reflection, the people of the islands, will probably continue to press the government for changes. They might better take up practice on a punch-ball. It is just about as responsive.

HABITAT AND THE UNDER-PRIVILEGED

The United Nations conference on human settlements has closed. The participating nations have settled back to examine the conclusions of the conference and the questions of food, water, energy, shelter, environment will be re-examined at a later date.

Habitat was the first international conference in the history of mankind to devote an extensive, and expensive debate on the world's neglected people. Political overtones have little bearing on the fact of the conference.

Habitat was Hope. It was the cry of the under-privileged reaching the halls of the mighty. The hope is in the hearts of the millions of people in today's world who lack water, food, shelter, warmth or recognition.

Habitat could prove expensive to the wealthy nations of the world. It could result in far greater help for the under-privileged. It could bring the Third World into a new status of second-class citizen, which would be a substantial promotion.

We can sit back in criticism of the manner in which it was established. We can sneer at the pitiful posturing of people whose views we cannot abide. But we cannot, as Christians or humanitarians, condemn the purpose or the hopes of Habitat. Never in human history have we seen such a world wide concern for the underdog.

If we can laugh at the antics of starving children: if we can ignore the agony of the victims of disease: if we can insist that our own petty problems rank higher in our scale of priorities, then we are neither Christian nor human, but lower than the animals which we feed and treat so well.

Habitat may well have brought to light some illogical opinions. It may have found pitfalls of many kinds. But it has been prompted by concern for others and its contributors have not been seeking help or recognition for themselves.

Habitat represents one of the world's higher achievements in a century of destruction and death. Let us not overlook that fact!

B.C. FERRIES RATE STRUCTURE

Sir:

As the ferry rate structure takes its hold, it is quite popular to direct our criticism at Mr. Jack Davis. What I would like to suggest is that our elected M.L.A., Mr. Hugh Curtis did not do his homework! I find it unbelievable that he would not explain our problems to Mr. Davis before the new rate structure came into effect, instead of after. We have future problems to face on these islands. This display of representation is unacceptable to me.

EASTER SEALS

Once again The British Columbia Lions Society for Crippled Children has conducted a successful Easter Seal Campaign throughout the Province. Our goal in this

A wedding of interest to island residents as well as the mainland took place at Faith Lutheran Church, North Burnaby when Hugh Campkin, Horton Bay, and Marguerite Menzies, Bennett Bay, were married on May 29.

Pastor Beretta performed the ceremony. Charles Finch was best man and Mrs. Margaret Lamb of Portland was matron of honor.

The reception was held at the Legion Hall, New Westminster.

Present were Mr. Campkin's daughters, Mrs. Barbara Phillips of White Horse and Joyce Campkin of Vancouver and his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Banwell of Edmonton.

Also attending from Edmonton were the bride's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Walker. A niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell of Victoria also took part.

year's campaign was $500,000.

Our reported receipts as of June 8, 1976 are $375,017 plus $58,344 for the Corporate Appeal, plus $50,000 from the Provincial Government, making a total of $482,361.

There will be more revenue coming in as there are a number of outstanding reports to be received from Lions Clubs throughout the Province. And we continue to receive cheques from corporations and employee groups.

On behalf of the handicapped children who benefit from Easter Seal Buses, Easter Seal Camps, Easter Seal Houses and our Patient Care Services we thank you for your support in making the Lions Easter Seal Appeal 1976 the best yet.

FERRY CHEQUES

Sir:

In regard to the increased ferry rates and the advisability of reducing and reviewing the commuter ticket rates, (which I agree with): I would like to add one item not mentioned, so far as I know:

Agreed, it is a highway by sea for we who were lucky enough to choose to live here, but more importantly, we have no bank, credit union or trust company to draw money from an account to pay for the ferry service on South Pender Island - how then are we to get the cash to pay the ferry ticket taker to get off Island to go to a larger center to get the cash to conduct the business of living under present circumstances?

Will the ferry authority take my cheque?

MAINLY MAYNE

BY ELSIE BROWN

After their return to the island, Open House was held at the bride's former home on Arbutus Drive. In charge of arrangements were Joyce Campkin and Marguerite's daughter, Joan Carre of North Burnaby.

The Retreat held at Pender Island May 28-30 was well attended by Mayne Islanders. Total attendance was fifty-plus, with representatives from Salt Spring Galiano, Pender and Mayne Islands.

On Friday evening Joe Ottom, a missionary with the Shantymen's Christian Association stationed at Sointula, Malcolm Island, delivered the key-note address on the general theme, "Fishers of Men".

Rev. John Rodine presented the "Challenge of the Gulf Islands", emphasizing the need to minister to the unchurched of our beautiful environment (habitat).

Sandy McLeod of Ganges made a fine song leader.

Rev. Don Moe, also of Ganges, thrilled the gathering with his outstanding vocal solos which included "Roll Jordan Roll" and will be long remembered.

After a turkey dinner on Saturday an hour-long film entitled "Like a Mighty Army" was shown in which Rev. Kennedy of Coral Ridge Presbyterian church, Florida, recounted the amazing story of the development of his church from 17 members to several thousand in just two or three years, showing how he trained his members to be friendly and visit in the homes.

Marybelle Jarman of Mayne Island sang "Thank you Jesus".

The Sunday morning service at the Hope Bay United Community Church was in charge of Joe Ottom of Sointula, B.C. Mrs. Myrtle McGregor of Vancouver sang a selection from the Oratorio, Elijah.

Two nights accommodation, five meals, plus sundry coffee breaks were provided by the good friends of Hope Bay Community Church at the amazing low cost of $5 per person.

FROM THE SCHOOL BOARD

A group of concerned parents met on Monday, June 14, with school trustees Ann Foerster and Nonie Guthrie and administrators Larry Holbrook and Bob McWhirter. The parents presented a list of ten requests for tightening up various aspects of the school system.

A good sharing of ideas followed. Parents were pleased to note that several of their requests, for instance more emphasis on the three R's, were already being implemented. One or two requests are not within the power of a school board to grant.

Larry Holbrook pointed out that the parent group represented possibly fifty families out of the whole school district; for substantial changes to take place, there must be some consensus amongst a much larger representative group of parents throughout the school district.

Ann Foerster explained that the board is already engaged on a reassessment of school district philosophy and objectives. She said the board would welcome input from all members of the public on this subject.

From Germany to moving their own boat and others

Jurgen Engelhardt came from Germany eight years ago leaving his training at Bosch and his home country to begin afresh in the New World.

First trying out Mexican living, Jurgen sought the northern lands and found Vancouver to his liking. He began a footwear shop in the city, selling imported footwear, and stuck it out for two years before switching to something more leisurely.

Jurgen began making pottery and jewellery, as well as trying his hand in the construction field. He ended up building his own house.

Leaving Vancouver, he went north to Cortez Island where he found a different sort of lifestyle going on. He met Judy Solie, a Washington girl with a degree in psychology.

Together, Judy and Jurgen produced a film for the United Cerebral Palsy Association. Prior to the film, therapy for children with cerebral palsy was something between the child and the therapist. The United Cerebral Palsy Association promoted parent-participation, with the treatment for the disease and Jurgen and Judy were ready to help them in the media field.

IN SEARCH OF A BOAT

In 1974 Jurgen and Judy settled on Salt Spring, staying 14 months before taking to the east in search of a maritime seaworthy boat. They left in spring, 1975 and arrived in the eastern provinces as the fine weather came on. Their first interest was purchasing a boat and travelling south and, by selling their car, stocking up the newly bought boat with months' and months' worth of food, the two landlubbers boarded, waved good bye to the New Brunswick fishermen and busily set to work pumping the bilge.

Their destination was south, to Florida. The number of charts necessary to go as far as southern Maine totalled $300 worth, so they decided to do some navigation themselves. Landing at a port in Maine, the couple looked for work willing to do anything so that they could return to travel. The 43' boat was leaking badly and without money the two sailors couldn't fill the Chevy motor with gas.

After a few weeks they set out once more and reached South Carolina where, again, money was a big question and work was necessary. Judy found work waitressing and later Jurgen joined her. After six weeks in the southern state they were ready to be on their way again. The restaurant where they had worked gave a farewell party and best wishes were sent off to the mariners.

Mooring in Islamorada, Florida the words of the New Brunswick fishermen kept coming back to Jurgen, the worms were a constant threat to the hull of the maritime boat.

DRY ROT

Jurgen set to work replacing dry rot and fixing up the boat, taking seven weeks to complete the overhaul. And again, they pushed off, circumnavigating the Keys and then going north, following the coastline of Florida and breaking a wake through the turquoise waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Arriving at Naples, Florida, the

HENRY ROBERT PEARCE

Bob Pearce, whose rowing mark is the longest standing of all Olympic records, passed away suddenly at Toronto on Thursday, May 20. CBC-TV had planned to call on Bob's expertise as a color commentator for the telecasting of rowing events during this summer's Olympics. He will be sorely missed by his many friends at the CBC and across the country.

They had never seen the sea

Students from 100 Mile House had a busy week on Salt Spring Island when they visited elemen-townspeople and wharfingers admired the Canadian boat and decreased the wharfage rates for the couple. And after a spell in Naples, Judy and Jurgen were restless to get back to British Columbia.

Finding a reliable fisherman to look after the well-travelled boat, Judy and Jurgen set to work fixing another boat in exchange for a car to drive north to Canada.

They arrived in B.C. and returned to Salt Spring with an almanac of knowledge of boating. They have recently discovered that the caretaker of the boat has redone the hull and had the boat on the ways, re-doing the weaker areas.

Judy has taken up baby sitting, Jurgen is a tool sharpener and the couple make up a qualified boat moving service.

Canada's Yukon received territorial status in 1898. This separation from the Northwest Territories was enacted because of administrative problems caused by the population explosion during the Klondike Gold Rush.

NEWS FROM GALIANO

By W.Liver

The Senior Citizens had their monthly meeting last Monday at the Galiano Hall. Mrs. Isabella Murphy was in the chair and welcomed two special guests, Mr. and Mrs. P.G. James from Salt Spring who were entertained to luncheon at the home of Jessie Bellhouse.

They had a question-and-answer period on gardening and the fall show was discussed. This will be held in early September all you gardeners will have to get busy and start tending the flowers and the vegetables.

Bruce Harding has been visiting with Mary and Roy this past week.

Islanders are reminded that the Galiano Weavers and Spinners will be having their show on the first weekend in July. This is something everyone should visit as their work is outstanding.

The Rod and Gun Club had a very successful dinner at their Clubhouse last Saturday, they entertained many visitors from Salt Spring. They had a shoot Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

We had a great holiday in the Cariboo. The weather was fine and we golfed, fished and there was lots of horseback riding. On the way up we spent two days in Vancouver and we just thought the entertainment in Gastown when they closed the streets off for the day was tremendous. On the corner of Cambie and Water St. there was a mime show with clowns and the next street there were ethnic dancing groups. For the first time I fell in love with Vancouver.

Two anonymous parents wish to thank our R.C.M.P. officer and all the people who gave them so much help on June 5 in finding their boy who was overdue by four hours. I guess children never change, the few hours he was missing seemed like a lifetime to the parents and like five minutes to the child. Once again thanks to all the islanders who helped these frantic parents.

The Planning Council for Galiano was set up by the Capital Regional District to carry out, as advisors to the Regional District, the Community Plan.

It has been working on the preparation of a new Zoning By-law and a Subdivision By-law. These two by-laws will be put to the public through local public meetings.

The Council comprised five electors. Its term is one year, from June to June.

Until its present work is done the land freeze of 10 acre minimum lot size remains.

It looks as though there will be some retirements amongst the present council members - so - it becomes more important than ever to have candidates for this purpose. This is a local responsibility and must have local support.

Watch for the official election advertisement which will appear on June 16 and 23.

The Women's Auxiliary will be holding a Book exchange and sale at the Fire Hall, June 19, July 17 and August 21.

These events will take place between 2 and 4 o'clock on each of the Saturday afternoons. You are invited to come and browse and enjoy a cup of coffee.

Oil burner fire

Oil burner fire in Ganges on Wednesday evening, June 9, brought out the Salt Spring Island Fire Department. Fire was attributed to the overheating of the burner. Damage was restricted to the appliance.

Fire was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crowell, McPhillips Ave.

Night classes to offer school subjects

Thinking about going back to school?

BY VIRGINIA NEWMAN

If you are interested in upgrading educational level, there are three options open to you. For assistance in selecting the most suitable plan, please make an appointment for educational counselling by calling the writer, the co-ordinator of Continuing Education, at 537-9251. An evening or daytime appointment can be arranged at your convenience.

1. Adult Secondary School Completion

Any adult over 18, who has been out of school one full academic year, can attend school during the day to complete English 12, Social Studies 11, plus five other courses. Three of these courses must be at the grade 12 level, and permit the adult to graduate.

2. General Educational Development Tests: (Grade 12 Equivalent)

The General Educational Development Tests are a series of five comprehensive examinations in the areas of English Composition, Social Sciences, Natural Sciences, Literature, and Mathematics. They are designed to measure as directly as possible the major generalizations, ideas, and skills that are normally gained through secondary school.

WHY TAKE THE GED TESTS?

Most adults who did not graduate from secondary school have acquired skills, through work, self-study, and life experiences at or above the secondary school level.

The GED tests provide an opportunity for people to earn an official document stating that they have a Grade 12 Secondary School equivalency standing which may assist them in qualifying for better jobs, for promotions within their own organizations, or in applying for admission to post-secondary educational institutions.

Some people may wish to take tests for personal satisfaction. While the department of education cannot guarantee that the GED certificate will be accepted by every employer or post-secondary institution, it may be of considerable assistance, and the trend is definitely to wider and wider acceptance of it.

WHO CAN TAKE THE TESTS?

Applicants must be 19 or over, B.C. residents for at least six months, and out of school for at least one full academic year.

HOW SHOULD ONE APPLY?

Application forms are available through the Continuing Education department of our local School Board. Tests are given Friday evenings and Saturdays at Camosun College for our area. A non-refundable fee of $5. is required with completed application form.

WHAT IF ONE DOESN'T PASS?

Any or all of the tests can be taken again if the scores are not satisfactory.

HOW CAN PEOPLE PREPARE FOR THE GED TESTS?

The Continuing Education department can arrange educational upgrading classes specifically aimed at passing the GED; textbooks are available which have been written with this goal in mind. The Continuing Education Coordinator has pamphlets available with more details about the GED including sample questions from former GED tests to help prospective applicants determine their readiness for the actual tests.

Fall courses for Night School are now being planned and we will need to know as early as possible of anyone interested in the GED Preparatory courses. Please call at 537-9251.

3. Correspondence Courses Are Still Available

The department of education offers a comprehensive program by correspondence, available to adults at $15. each course, of which $10. is a refundable deposit.

Free courses are available in Art 10, B.C., Canada's Pacific Province, Hunting Safety, and The Metric System.

For further information, write the Director, Secondary Correspondence Branch, Department of Education, Victoria.

HABITAT BROUGHT THE WORLD TO VANCOUVER FOR T

The world met in Vancouver this summer to discuss the tragedy of living for millions today. The United Nations conference on Human Settlement in Vancouver brought spokesmen from all parts of the world to examine the problems facing mankind in the cities of the world.

Habitat was primarily concerned with the provision of necessities to the people of crowded cities, today and in the future, when populations have doubled and will continue to grow.

Running parallel to the United Nations Habitat was Habitat Forum, a gathering of non-governmental organizations concerned with the same questions of life in the vast human settlements of the world.

The city was crowded with visitors for the two weeks and every language of the world could be heard around the Vancouver hotels.

Summary of the conference will be published in the coming months.

These pictures show something of the city of Vancouver and the effect of Habitat.

The United Nations met at Stockholm in 1972 to consider the human environment. Until that time three governments in the world had established a department for the environment. Within two years, 83 governments, including Canada, had such a department.

Until five years ago the word ecology did not exist in the languages of most countries of the world.

TOO EXTEN IN FORUM

Only an utter fool would head for Habitat expecting to take in everything that was going on. I had planned to take in everything that was going on. It was a sharp lesson.

TWO WEEKS LIVE TO TAKE DISCUSSIONS

Habitat was two things. It was the formal debate at the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, where each delegation gave a prepared message and debated in rather constipated terms. No delegation could commit its government beyond any commitment that government had already undertaken. But no United Nations conference would operate differently. That's the way it is.

It was Habitat Forum that made the week....both weeks.

Habitat Forum was the hot-line Habitat. It was the open-ended debate by dignitaries and undignitaries. Famous speakers and the guy up the street all took part. Every possible avenue of human activity came to the Forum.

The hangars at Jericho Beach had been converted by cedar planks to a series of debating chambers. There was seating accommodation on the cedar and there was amplification, television and the works.

There was a lot of hot air. But when could a group of people discuss anything without hot air?

In Ganges, when a zoning plan is under discussion, the air is so hot you could light a cigarette. And the Vancouver forum was not looking protesting the deportation of Leonard Peltier.

Habitat Forum could have deteriorated into a gab-fest. But it was a series of discussions, debates and addresses, all guided through specific channels. And most of the participants were highly qualified in their field. It was something of a think-tank in that you couldn't sit in without getting involved.

Habitat was far beyond the reach of an individual. It was too busy, too vast and too widespread. You went and you took in what appealed.

On Wednesday night last week there were discussions and film shows in a dozen small theatres. The Chilean refugees played their justified. It was not simply a platform for hot air. It was a contribution to the international debate by less formal speakers in a less-stilted atmosphere.

I went to Habitat expecting to be bored. I found a Habitat conference which was no more exciting than a trustees' meeting at Gulf Islands School Board.

The first reaction to the Forum was one of mystification that what looked like a circus could be of value to anybody.

Then the whole giant complex grows in interest. As you take part you get interested and quite excited. From a bored looker-on you feel part of the whole.

at planning. It was looking at a means of offering millions of people the elementary needs of life.

You went, you heard and you didn't agree. So what? If every debate restricts itself to what you agree on, the range of debate will be limited.

The debates were augmented by national displays and other booths. There were too many to list. Cuba had a showing and the critics of the Russian administration were there. A protest group showed a prison cell set up to resemble the "Hole", a form of punishment recently condemned.

Birth control advocates had a booth and the opponents of contraception were telling their tale.

In the open there were Indians national instruments before a film show and the Japanese showed a horror movie of industrial disease centring on the mercury poisoning which is shared by Canadian victims.

Competing with these and a dozen other programs, Henry Elder addressed the Self-help Housing conference on the role of the professional in this sphere.

And while all this was taking place the Habitat conference was going on downtown, with other official discussion in various hotel conference rooms.

The nature of the various debates will appear later in print. The summary of the Forum debates was presented to the official conference before its close.

In that act was the Forum

Chapter plans annual donation garden party at Vesuvius Bay

BY DOROTHY E. JAMES

It was a happy occasion when members and their guests gathered at Harbour House for the annual luncheon meeting of the H.M.S. Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E. on Friday, June 4.

Mrs. E.J. Searles, Regent, introduced the charming guest speaker, Mrs. Alan B. Hall, of Nanaimo, a member of the National Execution for B.C. and Zone Chairman.

As a personal friend of the late Mrs. V.C. Best and Mrs. F.K.

Parker, Mrs. Hall paid tribute to the life of outstanding service for the I.O.D.E. these valuable members had contributed. They had made the Ganges Chapter famous with the Order: in fact the former was known as Mrs. "Ganges" Best.

A most informative address included plans for the Zone meeting in September when the local chapter will be host in Ganges.

The National Chapter, among its many projects, is pushing Education for the young, and encouraging assistance for the older generation. The speaker stressed the great need for volunteers to play a major part.

During "Canada Week" in July, where does the I.O.D.E. stand? It is the effort that really counts more than the dollar.

FIRST INTERESTED

The Order was the first organization to take interest in the Hall at Frobisher Bay.

I stands for Involvement, ideas, imagination

O for Organization, overcome difficulties, objects and order.

D for Development, dollar value. E for Energy, enterprise and emotion.

Miss Olive Mouat reported a box of books had been sent to the Eagle Creek School, and three more prizes to be given to the Ganges School.

Mrs. R.L. Sayer collected the remaining Nursery bags and donations of clothes for Riverview Hospital.

In order to carry on the projects of the H.M.S. Ganges Chapter, plans were discussed for the Annual Donation Garden Party in the P.G. James' Vesuvius garden on the morning of June 23, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., with Mrs. K. Patrick as convener.

Among attractions will be the ever-popular bake sale, plant stall, talent table with a wide selection, the raffle of a beautiful shawl, plus a door prize!

Good weather and your presence should complete the setting for a chance to meet your friends over a cup of coffee, home-made refreshments, and encourage the efforts of a hard-working group.

"It's your Olympics!" that's the message that Bob Moir, Executive Producer of CBC-TV's English television coverage of The Golden Games is giving to all Canadians. Bob will be responsible for the most ambitious two weeks of TV coverage ever undertaken. It all begins with the opening ceremonies on July 17 and winds up on August 1, when the flame is extinguished and the games move on to Moscow.

FEELING BLUE ABOUT RED DYE ASKS OFFICE

Are you feeling blue about Red Dye #2?

Some people are because the United States proposes to ban the use of this food colouring, yet Canada has decided to allow it to continue to be used in the food supply.

Before you turn purple, remember that amaranth, as it is known in Canada, has been in use for many years and is strictly regulated under the Food and Drugs Act by the Health Protection Branch.

The Canadian decision is widely supported by many authorities, including the Joint Expert Committee of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the World Health Organization.

Canada's Health & Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde issued a detailed statement earlier this year on the Canadian position.

It includes information about the American studies that led to the U.S. decision, the status of amaranth in other countries, and the views of international health agencies.

It also describes the research on amaranth done by the Health Protection Branch, the Canadian use of food colours, and a brief history of departmental regulation of food colours.

Copies of the nine-page statement, in black and white of course, are available from the Public Relations Officer, Health and Welfare Canada, 105-1525 West 8th Avenue, Vancouver V6J 1T5.

Notes

BY PAT DOHERTY

The ladies' day winners were, first division, Alice Fraser; second division, Ruby McConnell; 9-hole division, Mary Pike. Our ladies' team beat Cowichan on Tuesday.

Wednesday two-ball winners were, low net, Helen Insley and Al Whorley; closest to the pin on #2 were Irene Hawksworth and Wayne Cooper. Longest drive on number 7 was Mildred Gurney and Buzz Brown. Connie Hardy and Irene Hawksworth played the final match of the Rose Bowl Cup. Congratulations to Connie, who now becomes our Club Spring Champion.

The recent cake and bake sale at the Henderson residence was an outstanding success. Maeford Caye won the bottle of brandy while Rita Dods won the decorated iced cake. The ladies committee who organized the affair wishes to thank everyone who helped in any way towards producing a winner.

Junior Golf Week takes place this year on the week of June 21st to 27th. This is when your net score related to par is less than the target round score related to par, then you are the winner of an attractive leather bill fold. Target score is 69. Entry fee is $1 per round, play as many rounds as you wish and help junior golf.

SEVEN AND A HALF

Seven and a half of our senior men travelled to Mount Brenton last Wednesday and had a most enjoyable time. A return visit by the Mount Brenton group is anticipated on Wednesday, June 23.

Members are reminded that on Saturday, June 19, there is a mixed two-ball foursome, competition and dinner. Tee off is 2.30 p.m., happy hour is 5.30 p.m., and dinner is at 6.30 p.m. Make your reservations with Rita, the charge is $4.50 per person, and you don't have to play golf to attend the dinner.

To end the suspense of all the serious golfers the famous Aage Villadsen Golf Classic takes place this year on Saturday June 26. Already mailed-in entries have been received from all over B.C. as past champions and also want another crack at the coveted title, which is the "Open Sesame" in the world of professional golf.

As usual, Salt Spring again won the honour of hosting this prestigious affair. This demanding nine-hole tournament will cost non-members $7 this year, while members of the golf club pay $2.

The increase is due to increased golf dues, which are $5. on week ends. All profits, as usual, go to charity, so don't be disappointed and get your entries in early. The Calloway system will govern scoring so everyone has an opportunity to pick up some of the fabulous prizes that are always part of this affair. We go to extreme trouble to make sure that the value of the prize you might win does not in any way interfere with your amateur standing.

In inter-island play at Galiano on Saturday, June 12, our men's team did very well, the scores being Salt Spring, 293½, Galiano 284, and North Pender 286½. The total scores, so far, add up to Salt Spring, 593; Galiano 566; and North Pender, 569.

LATE FLASH

Our visiting hot shot from Pender, Frank Trice is the fine young fellow who had a two on number 5 hole last year just came in from playing a match and he parred the course coming in with a brilliant 37, and he missed an eighteen inch putt on the last green for a 36!

MODERNIZE WITH PROPANE

The affordable home...and how we're helping it happen.

1 A plan to make owning a home possible for more people.

This one's for you. It's called AHOP (The Assisted Home Ownership Program), and it combines the federal assistance provided by CMHC (Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation) with additional assistance from the B.C. Government.

Very simply, here's how it works:

If you're a two-person household and want to buy or build a house, and the price is within the established AHOP price limits for the area, you can qualify for the CMHC Interest Reduction Loan. This loan acts to reduce the mortgage rate to 8%, and is interest-free for the support period.

That's only the first part. The second part is a CMHC subsidy of up to $750 for the first year. You're eligible if you've applied for the maximum Interest Reduction Loan; have at least one dependent child; and even with the loan, your monthly payments exceed 25% of your income.

Now here's the extra bonus from us. If you've qualified for the above CMHC subsidy, and your monthly payments are still more than 30% of your income, you qualify for an additional subsidy of up to $750.

Add it all up, and it means that the possibility of home ownership is greatly extended, and now includes families in B.C. with incomes below $10,000 a year.

2 A plan to encourage more efficient use of land for affordable housing.

This one's for the municipalities. And you. You may benefit from the resulting reduced municipal taxes and/or increased services. It's called MIGP (Municipal Incentive Grant Program), and it's designed to encourage the development of affordable housing and the more efficient use of land.

There are two grants available to municipalities and regional districts. The first is a $1,000 grant from CMHC. The second is a $500 grant from us. That means the total grant per eligible unit is $1,500. To be eligible, the proposed housing units must be constructed for permanent residency, be connected to municipal piped water and sewage systems, and be served with roads having at least gravel surface.

These are the basic qualifications. There are others that apply to density, size and value requirements. What they all add up to for you is growing communities with more affordable housing for more people.

3 A plan to make more rental housing available.

This one's for the builders. And you. You benefit because it creates a more adequate supply of rental housing.

It's called ARP (Assisted Rental Program), and it's designed to stimulate private investors to once again invest funds in affordable rental housing. The incentive is for the builder ... but the benefits are passed on to you. A prototype of this program resulted in 2,000 new rental units started on Vancouver Island last year.

The amount of assistance available to the builder depends on the number of units in the project, the construction cost, the mortgage interest rate, operating costs, and prevailing rents.

It starts with a $600 grant per unit from us in the first year. If this grant is not sufficient to allow the builder to charge normal market rents and maintain an agreed-upon return rate on his equity, an assistance loan of $1,200 per unit is available from CMHC. If either or both of the above still leave the builder below the agreed return rate on equity, a conditional $1,200 interest-free loan per unit is available from the province.

The agreement establishes initial rental rates. After that, rents are set by market conditions, but any higher net revenues derived go towards reducing the amount of assistance.

Basically, what it all means is more rental housing available at more reasonable rates.

Gardener calls for war on wild shrub

Brilliant yellow flower found everywhere on Salt Spring Island is under fire. An attack has been launched by an irate island gardener. Broom is everywhere, he told Driftwood this week. It is plaguing his garden until he scarcely knows which is witch.

the anonymous gardener, the Canadian Thistle almost took over Salt Spring Island. It became so serious that not only the department of highways but private property owners were required, under threat of action, to keep them cut before they flowered.

scythes and their sickles, mowing machines, trowels, snippers and even their hands in the major battle, which they won.

In fact, the result was absolutely astonishing and today, years later, one sees very few Canadian Thistles. Now we have that pretty, yellow-flowered bush coming out of every nook and cranny.

It is nice to see these lovely shrubs beside the road, but they don't stay there. No, I'm wrong, he interrupted himself, the shrubs stay there but their seeds scatter far and wide and each and every seed seems to be incredibly fertile. The result of the present invasion is obvious: Salt Spring Island will soon be known as Broom Island.

The blasted things are growing in my lawn, he protests, wee little ones, so that instead of cutting grass, I'm cutting broomlets. I pull

Eastern Star event for Ganges home June 19

BY LILLIAN THOMAS

On Saturday, June 19, a tea and bazaar of interest to many islanders will take place at a Ganges home at 2 pm.

A splendid selection of knitted baby clothes, unique knitted stuffed toys, raggedy Ann and Andy dolls, stuffed animals, children's clothes and dolls will be among the bazaar items offered. There will also be dishes, next-to-new clothes and household things available.

A collection of house plants, garden plants and shrubs will be for sale, and another stall will feature homemade breads, cakes, buns, pies and fancy loaves. There will be a draw for a hamper that afternoon, and there will be a door prize.

A donation will purchase a tasty "tea" in the attractive grounds and gardens of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Desmond Crofton on Lower Ganges Road. Watch for a sign near the telephone office.

This is sponsored by Trincomali Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star on Salt Spring Island, whose members have been busy for months preparing the large display of bazaar items.

TO ANNUAL SESSION

Twelve members recently visited the annual session of the Grand Chapter of the Order held in Vancouver.

There they learned that the Order contributed the sum of $27,000 for the cost of materials used in making free cancer dressings throughout the province last year; $29,000 cash donation for cancer research projects at the Cancer Control Agency of B.C. and scholarships in the amount of $10,000 paid to students in B.C., and a fellowship award made to a Vancouver doctor to study cancer research in Texas.

Some of the above funds were raised through the sale of used postage stamps, the rest through donations from the 90 chapters in the province, of which Trincomali Chapter is one.

To Vernon

Mrs. Elsie Thacker and Mrs. Mabel Clark will be attending the B.C.O.A.P. Convention in Vernon at the Vernon Lodge, June 16, 17, 18 and 19.

They will be delegates for Branch 32, Salt Spring Island.

Mrs. Joan Hayward and Mrs. M. Cunningham are alternates.

Howard Johnston, M.P. for the Okanagan and the Kootenays and Mrs. Pat Jordan, MLA, North Okanagan, will be the guests of honour.

out about 100 plants a week, but it's a losing battle.

Before we become Broom Island, he urges, I feel that a war should be declared on what is a more insidious weed than the Canadian Thistle ever was....a war headed by the department of highways and strongly supported by every property owner to get the yellow (though pretty) menace under control for once and for all!

It was the gift of the faculty and students and friends of the School of Architecture at U.B.C. There were approximately 40 people present. Doreen Oke, who had tuned and voiced the instrument, came to play it. The harpsichord presented to Mr. Elder was a reproduction of one that was made in 1796.

NEW MANAGER AT CREDIT UNION

Ray Bush has finally found the sea.

New Credit Union manager, Ray Bush grew up in the prairies and left Winnipeg in 1971. Before he left the Manitoban city he said good-bye to five years of service with the Winnipeg police.

His first stop was Kelowna where he was with the Kelowna Credit Union for four years. Bush is registered in industrial accountancy and took a business administration course at Okanagan College.

Finally arriving on the shore, Ray Bush, wife, and two children are enjoying island living. Along with the new family came a 14 foot boat which will come in handy exploring coastal inlets.

Credit Union man replaces Bill Somerville.

Fire board includes three fire chiefs from the past

It's a case of all chiefs and no Indians on the board of trustees.

Last week saw the election of two trustees. Both are ex-fire chiefs of Salt Spring Island. Elected on Tuesday night last week were Fred Donaghy and Dave Smith.

The two former fire chiefs will join, among others, ex Central Saanich Fire Chief Vic Heal. Also associated with the board will be the serving fire chief, Kelly Hanke.

Meeting was also notable for the attendance. There were more than 40 in attendance and when the new trustees were elected the candidates were all from outside the department.

Veteran representative on the board, Ben Greenough, who has been associated with the department since its inception, declined to seek a further term and retired from the board. Tom Harcus, of two minds whether to seek a new term, was edged out by the two successful candidates.

On the motion of Vern Christensen, the meeting agreed that in future, candidates for office will be invited to outline their candidacy and interest before the vote.

It was not a readily accepted proposal.

Fred Donaghy suggested that the meeting was asking a man to campaign to get elected to an office which offered no reward. The candidate is asking simply to do an honest job, he suggested and should not be required to plead for the privilege.

Nita Brown, who seconded the proposal, explained that he would be required simply to identify himself.

Bogart is safe and away!

Bogart is safe. Last week there was a plea from Bogart's mistress for his safe return when he ran away from home on Tuesday.

Bogart, a monkey, did not wait to read the newspaper. He showed up on Tuesday night.

The announcement was not wasted.

By Wednesday he had run away again.

Reduction in calls follows close inspection

Notable decrease in the number of incidents during the past year is the direct result of community training and inspections by the Salt Spring Island Fire Department says Fire Chief Kelly Hanke.

The fire chief was making his annual report to the public meeting in the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening last week.

During the year, 1975, the department responded to 60 calls and one false alarm. There were 10 structure fires and 10 ambulance rescue calls. Four calls were sounded in response to small forest or bush fires and the remaining 36 calls, were listed as miscellaneous.

DOLLAR LOSS

Dollar loss in 1975 amounted to $223,000. Fire department vehicles covered 680 miles on alarm calls and 1,200 man-hours were devoted to the incidents.

There were 43 practice fire drills during the year, involving 1,892 man-hours and 860 vehicle miles.

The Fire Chief had a word for island employers.

"I would like to extend my appreciation to all island employers," he said, "for their co-operation in making firemen available."

He also commended the trustees and accounting staff, and the new media for their coverage of activities and events.

His final remarks were addressed to the firemen.

"On my own behalf and speaking for the community, I would like to thank my fellow firemen for their dedication and bravery plus total co-operation during the year."

Social activities are part of unification of department

Social activities among the volunteer firemen on Salt Spring Island are part of the process of bringing the fire department into a single, operating unit, the annual meeting of the fire protection district was told last week.

Speaking for the Firemen's Association Gordon Cartwright explained that their social activities keep up the spirits of the department.

He referred to the success of the firemen's entry in Salt Spring Island and Victoria parades and the reception given to the firemen in their large hats and No. 5 1/2 fire truck. The firemen have been given an invitation to take part in the PNE parade and the Sea Festival.

The firemen spokesman recalled the Toll Booth in 1974 for the muscular dystrophy fund and the annual bonfire and entertainment for children on Halloween.

Firemen's association is a social club for members of the fire department.

A.M. (Buxx) Brown commended the firemen on their parade successes and urged that their activities should be recognized by the community.

"I suggest we give them a little financial support," he added amid applause.

Only department to include medical man on its rolls

Salt Spring Island Fire Department may be the only volunteer department in British Columbia to list a qualified medical practitioner among its members.

Last week the annual fire district meeting on Salt Spring Island heard an expression of appreciation to Dr. W.J. Andrews for his contribution to the department.

He was commended by the spokesman for the Firemen's Association, Gordon Cartwright.

Fire Chief Kelly Hanke commented that the department may well be unique in its inclusion of a doctor.

Dr. Andrews has already conducted a course in first aid, the meeting learned.

The Canadian National Committee for HABITAT has recommended that the next major phase of housing legislation be directed toward the restoration and improvement of existing housing in older neighborhoods. The committee held 16 public meetings across the country last autumn to define the nation's general policy position for HABITAT: United Nations Conference on Human Settlements

Pender Institute marks 45 years of activity here

BY DOROTHY E. GRIMMER

On June 9 the Pender Island Women's Institute held a tea in the Port Washington Hall to celebrate its 45th anniversary.

The affair was attended by many friends from South Vancouver Island District Institutes, from Victoria and from Pender Island.

The hall looked very festive. The walls were colourful, displaying several beautiful quilts made by members and a table held articles of sewing and the present quilt to be raffled later on.

Two tables held the minute books of past years and the letters and photographs of the several children sponsored through the save-the-children fund during the years. Children from England, Austria, two families and Korea.

The president, Mrs. Helen Grimmer opened the affair with a most interesting speech detailing some of the many activities of the branch through the years.

The many friends mingled with the members and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent in conversation and reminiscing of old days.

The tea tables were centred with vases of large marigold and greenery, the colour of the B.C. W.I. The beautiful anniversary cake, made by Miss Joan Purchase was iced in the same colours. Mrs. Marie Craddock, a charter member cut the cake.

Many thanks are due to the ladies behind the scenes who kept the teapots full and the plates of cakes filled. These ladies deserve a very special thanks because they had no opportunity for meeting the visitors.

June 9th will be remembered by the Pender Island W. I. members as a very happy occasion.

CAPITAL REGIONAL DISTRICT

Pursuant to Section 766A of the Municipal Act, the following text of By-law No. 285, "Unsightly Premises By-law, 1976" is hereby published.

A BY-LAW RESPECTING UNSIGHTLY PREMISES AND NUISANCES

WHEREAS the Regional Board of the Capital Regional District is empowered to exercise, with respect to that part of the Regional District not within the boundaries of a city, district, town or village municipality, the powers of a municipal council set out in clauses (g) and (h) of Section 870 of the "Municipal Act";

NOW THEREFORE the Board of the Capital Regional District in open meeting assembled enacts as follows:

1. Definitions
In this By-law, unless the context otherwise requires,
"District" means all that portion of the Capital Regional District not contained within the boundaries of a city, town, district or village municipality;
"Person" shall when necessary mean and include natural persons of either sex, associations, partnerships and corporations whether acting by themselves or by their servants, agents or employees, and their heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns or other legal representatives.
2. No owner or occupier of real property shall allow the said real property to become untidy or unsightly.
3. Every owner or occupier of real property or the agent of such owner or occupier shall remove from the said real property any accumulation of filth, discarded materials, or rubbish of any kind. The Regional Board may direct a notice in writing to be sent to such owner or occupier or the agent that in default of such removal within a time specified in the said notice, the Capital Regional District by its workmen and others may enter upon the said real property and effect such removal at the expense of the person so defaulting and the charge for so doing, if unpaid on the 31st day of December in any year, shall be added to and form part of the taxes payable in respect of that real property as taxes in arrear.
4. No person shall cause or permit water, rubbish, or noxious offensive or unwholesome matter or substance to collect or accumulate around their premises.
5. No person shall deposit or throw bottles, broken glass or other rubbish in any open place in the District.
6. (a) Every person who, without lawful excuse, contravenes this By-law by wilfully doing any act which it forbids, or omitting to do any act which it requires to be done, is guilty of an offence and is liable, on summary conviction, to a fine of not less than $25.00 and not more than $300.00 for the first offence and for each subsequent offence to a fine of not less than $50.00 and not more than $300.00. A separate offence shall be deemed to be committed upon each date during and in which the contravention occurs or continues.
(b) The penalties imposed under this section shall be in addition to and not in substitution for any other penalty or remedy imposed by this by-law.

A copy of the complete by-law may be viewed during normal working hours, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday to Friday inclusive, holidays excepted, at the offices of the Capital Regional District, 524 Yates Street, Victoria, B.C.

Secretary-Treasurer.

Info... Health

BY DR. BOB YOUNG

Nobody calls a spade a spade anymore. In an attempt to make things appear more acceptable, we invent new names. A jail is now a correctional institute, and an insane asylum has become a mental health facility.

Kids are no longer dumb or stupid. Instead they have learning disabilities or learning disorders, or perhaps minimum brain damage.

I am not really criticizing these terms, as they are often very useful. It is certainly kinder, and probably more accurate, to tell a mother that her child has a learning disability, rather than stating that the child is stupid.

LEARNING DISORDERS

Childhood learning disorders may be placed in two large groups. Although there is considerable overlap, one category is in the domain of the physician, while the other is of more immediate concern to the educator. In many cases a child's difficulty at school is the result of physical and mental capabilities being adversely influenced by social environment and educational opportunities.

If we leave out conditions which are largely psychiatric or behavioral in nature, there are only a half-dozen "pure" physical illnesses, or groups of illnesses, that result in learning disability.

Vision and hearing problems make learning more difficult, although intelligence may be normal. Blind and deaf children often do very well, due to enriched, specialized training programs.

Cerebral palsy, with its associated loss of muscle control, usually is accompanied by a lowered intelligence. Mild cerebral palsy may be very difficult to recognize.

Mental retardation due to any cause results in learning difficulties almost by definition. Intelligence tests can act as a guide to the amount of teaching effort that will be productive.

EPILEPSY

Seizure disorders such as epilepsy may interfere with learning, and finally, brain-destroying diseases or tumors progressively hamper the learning process.

Much more difficult to analyze and explain are the slow learners that do not fit into any of the above categories. They are in the majority, and the underachievers are being studied by medical people and educators in an attempt to identify and, hopefully, effectively treat the problems.

Tribute to a nurse

Who brings you drink, when you thirst?
A nurse -
Who builds you up when you're at your worst?
a nurse -
Who cheers you up when you feel down?
a nurse -
Who flashes a smile when she sees a frown?
a nurse -

Intelligent heads, friendly persons in uniforms of crispy white -
Stroll the halls, wash the walls make the sick feel right -
Ease our pains, record our gains, day, afternoon and night
Work though tired on babies sired, help minimize our plight.

Who is one to care, who is always there -
a nurse
Who is always nice, brings water and ice -
a nurse
Who rubs your back - brings you a snack -
a nurse
When your doctors gone, who works on -
a nurse

Who gets less thanks is subjected to pranks
a nurse
Who do you depend on most, hospitals host
a nurse -
Offer up a prayer to one who does more than her share -
a nurse
God will greet you, the way you treat your nurse.

The Donation Tea in aid of H.M.S. Ganges Chapter Annual Scholarship for graduating students in the Ganges High School was held in St. George's Parish Hall on Thursday. Mrs. Earl Hardie, regent, assisted by Mrs. W.M. Mouat received all 150 guests. Pouring tea were Mrs. G.H. Holmes, Mrs. V.C. Best, Mrs. W.N. McDermott, and Miss Dean. Flowers were arranged by Mrs. Elsie Worthington. Volunteer student helpers from the school were Sally Barker, Faye Bennett, Joyce Coels, Pat Galbraith, Louise Lorentsen and Barbara Newman.

Dispatch from school by Brain Sober: John Hill celebrated his tenth birthday on June 9 by having a weiner roast on the beach. He got a lot of nice presents including a box of caramels, a softball, rope, glider, model, motor boat and sail boat. Guests were David Beech, Brian Sober, Frank Waterfall, Nic Humphreys, Simon Williams, Eric Booth and Johnny Marcotte. Last year John took us on a fishing trip but this year he didn't. We had a paper chase held in the bushes. Francie will be having her birthday on July 31 and we hope it will be just as much a success.

Rev. Dr. N. Hughes and Miss Herd were hostesses to an 'at home' at the United Church manse on Tuesday. Over 70 United Church members attended. Gary Mouat and Brian Rogers attended the Register. Congratulations are extended to Gary and Wayne Mouat who celebrated their birthday that day.

A trust fund has been set up by the Galiano Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of purchasing a much-needed inhalator and equipment. This was decided at the quarterly general meeting of the membership last Wednesday, following reports by Mrs. H.D. Barner, chairman of the organization's health and welfare committee.

Last week was election day at the school and candidates were taking primaries including Allan Holmberg was borne on a sedan chair by slaves, Keith Stevens and Dick Bates. Friday afternoon's fun was climaxed by a hay-ride around the island in the evening.

Young Bob Bambrick must be fired up with some of the same kind of enthusiasm as the Wright Brother For the past five years he has been experimenting with one of the very earliest forms of air travel, the Autogiro.

We heard about a three year old whose greeting was "You look driftwoody Mum".

Donna Begon is back on the island for the summer months, for which Benny is very thankful. He's looking better fed already.

John and Bertha Silvester have bought out Mac Tuckey's General Store and we wish them luck in their new venture. We're sorry that Mac has had to leave the island due to illness in the family.

Mr. Eric Foster at the Mayne Island teacherage has a hobby that is running away from him. Mr. Foster has a greenhouse out back where he raises tomatoes. This hobby has been so successful that he now has more tomatoes than he can use or give away.

FIVE YEARS AGO

The year 1880 means a lot to Mrs. Sophie King of Beaver Point. She first saw the light of day on June 15, 1880, on this island. That was the year they started to build St. Paul's Church at Fulford and Sophie's father, George Purser helped to build it. In 1885 the church was consecrated and Sophie was there. Most of her 91 years have been spent at the Beaver Point property. Know what Mrs. King was doing just over a week ago? Lee, her son and Gladys, daughter-in-law were out at the time, so chasing pigs was a normal procedure for Sophie.

"We've been greeted many ways", commented Lieut. Jim Gracie, master of the Beaver. "but that's the first time we've been serenaded". Members of the cast of Salt Spring Madness sang traditional sea chanties as the replica of the Old Beaver tied up at Ganges on Thursday. Wearing period costume, including Admiral Stack, the welcoming party were invited aboard the Beaver to take sherry with the two ship's officers.

Building shelves? Ask Ben Greenough, he's the authority on shelving. On Tuesday, Ben was running around in circles and there's lots of floor space in Ben's to run in circles. He had tons of shelving with no instructions and no guidance. Took a few hours but he made it. If you see any leaning towers of pizzas later on, you'll know why.

Jim and Elizabeth Saunders have bought the Carney's Japanese styled house in Lyall Harbour. Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Saunders of Saint John, N.B., are helping to set up the house for living.

Marsh World

Ducks Unlimited (Canada)

STICKLEBACK - Four species of stickleback are found in Canada but only one, the Brook Stickleback, occurs in fresh water ponds, streams and marshes. It can easily be distinguished from minnows by the sharp spines on the back, forward of the dorsal fin. Pugnacious for their size (2 1/2" in length), they will fearlessly attack larger fish. During the breeding season, the male constructs a conical shaped nest by attaching grass blades and fibres to the growing stalks of aquatic plants. Eggs are deposited by several females and fertilized by the male, who then stands guard at the nest until the young emerge.

FLOWER SHOW

Here in the Pacific Northwest residents are able to grow a wider range of plants than is possible in any other part of North America, so flower shows are a prominent feature of the summer season.

The forthcoming show of the Victoria Horticultural Society will be held from 2pm to 10pm on Friday June 25 and from 10am to 9pm on Saturday, June 26 at the First United Church Hall, 932 Balmoral at Quadra, in Victoria.

There will be a plant stall, and refreshments will be served. In addition to the competitive exhibits of roses, annuals, perennials, shrubs, potted house plants, ferns, African violets and vegetables, there will be exhibits of Hibiscus, orchids and roses.

The public will vote for their choice of the most meritorious exhibit in the artistic arrangements section and there will be 17 classes for Balcony and "Container" gardeners.

RE REWRITTEN

I forgot to explain to those gathered that this show, THE MOON IS MADE OF GREEN CHEESE though this version has been written over the last few months here in Salt Spring, had its beginnings in another form years ago, was written and re-written about four times as a straight play with songs. But I felt it was no good and threw them all out, but the point I want to make is that I started to write it before the first man walked upon the moon's surface and came back with the

DO IT YOURSELF IN SINGING

BY JOAN RAESIDE

Various periods of history are designated by some trait or happening in later years (the "Dark Ages" the "Reformation") and I am convinced this present period will eventually be referred to as the "Do-it-yourself-kit-set age."

As costs soar and skills deteriorate, we all of us have to pull up our socks and get down to it ourselves if we want anything like a decent job done. Maybe not in dentistry, now I think of it!

Tons of books have been written and are being written on how you can do it yourself and the market is flooded with do-it-yourself kit sets. And here we are on Salt Spring Island with a genuine no-nonsense do-it-yourself operetta evolving in front of our "werry eyes" and "swellin wisibly" as Weller would say.

The other night quite a few enthusiastic types braved our June weather and met to hear all about it. They seemed enthusiastic enough, in fact if I wasn't afraid of being accused of blowing my own trumpet (off-key) I could say they were very enthusiastic and I felt cheered to get off to such a start.

Right, we've put all the ingredients into the pot now who else would like to come and give it a stir or two, sniff the aroma, add more salt or herbs (or even sugar, I'm no fussy cook), and help serve this dish of ours? Don't all speak at once, as my math teacher used to say when faced by a stony silence in answer to an awkward mathematical problem. (One of the few times I stopped talking in class I should imagine).

Who are the cooks and what are they cooking?

shattering news (to me) that the moon is not made of green cheese. So it rather dates it doesn't it?

If there is anyone who would like to be involved in this show which, I should say will be put on as an exciting "Christmas Present" in December some time, I hope they will get in touch with me (537-5661). Charlotte Keeping is anxious too, to see what sort of shapes and sizes she will have to design costumes for and of course we are always happy to welcome idea-people, who have a chance to really shine in a do-it-yourself-kit-set affair like this, so come on, out of the woodwork, you people who say you can't sing a note, you won't have to I promise you.
