Artcraft open this week at Mahon Hall

Salt Spring Island weaver Vee Elder, is to be one of the local artists displaying her work at Artcraft '77 this summer.

Mrs. Elder came to the island three years ago with her husband Henry. She studied at the London School of Weaving and also under Peter Collingwood and has been weaving for 25 years. She works predominantly with linen.

Mrs. Elder is one of seven local weavers who did the Island Tapestry. The tapestry is to be on display at Artcraft.

The show will be at Mahon Hall and will run through the summer.

Vee Elder stands at one of her three looms with a spinning wheel in the foreground.

Board chairman objects to flood control regulations

Regional Board chairman Jim Campbell objected strongly last week to flood control regulations for the Gulf Islands and View Royal.

The local planning and zoning committee of the Regional District was asked to approve the regulations outlined by the department of Water Resources. They would require that no building could be constructed within 25 feet of the natural boundary of a lake, swamp or the sea or within 50 feet of any other natural watercourse.

The municipal affairs department had suggested the regulations be included in the general zoning by-law so that any regional rezoning by-laws would not have to go through the water resources branch before approval could be given.

"I know those idiots in the water resources branch will obstruct every by-law until we put this nonsense into our general zoning by-law," Campbell said.

He pointed out that most of the coastline of the islands is 100 feet or so above sea level, and the sea is not expected to flood away.

He said the suggested by-laws would have to go to a public hearing.

"I am not going to go in front of a public hearing and tell people they can't build within 25 feet of the waterfront because of the danger of flooding; I'd be a laughing stock," said Campbell.

The board decided to proceed with the by-law but the word "sea" would be deleted from all the provisions.

Body in water is named

Body of Liselotte Berliner, missing from her Salt Spring Island home since January, has been found in Ganges Harbour.

Body was found May 29 and this week RCMP at Ganges announced the identity.

Miss Berliner was living on Churchill Road up to the time of her death.

No foul play is involved, reported police.

VOLUME AT VALCOURT'S IS SHOWN HIGHER THAN FACT

It was either type lice or ants that found their way into the Compugraphic typesetter and caused an over-abundance of zeros to appear in a news item in last week's paper.

The story was on the front page and dealt with the protest being voiced by Phil and Yvette Valcourt over handling of local affairs by the Capital Regional District.

The story read that the disposal system in use at the Valcourt Business Centre was capable of handling up to 10,000 gallons of effluent a day and that 4,000 gallons a day were being discharged.

Cranberry road being widened

Work has been resumed on the widening of Cranberry Road on Salt Spring Island. Project was begun a few months ago, but was halted while surveys were carried out.

It is believed that the road will be widened as far as the intersection with Toinbee Road.

Fisher offers no support to fellow trustee after criticism is published

Dr. J.H. Fisher, Local Trustee on Salt Spring Island, has written to Premier Bennett and

Municipal Affairs Minister Hugh Curtis to dissociate himself from recent statements by his fellow trustee, C.J. Longueay. Dr. Fisher's letter follows:

Premier W.R. Bennett, Honourable Hugh Curtis, M.L.A., and all other recipients of Mr. Longueay's letter of June 17,

Gentlemen:

Mr. C.J. Longueay, my fellow Salt Spring Island Trustee, wrote to you June 17 and mentioned my name in a statement which may imply that I was in agreement with his letter.

This is to advise that I disassociate myself with his letter in its entirety and in particular with the section of the letter which comments on the activity of our Chairman, Mr. Marc Holmes.

Mr. Longueay wrote - "the C.R.D. advised Mr. Roberts and through him, Mr. Holmes, that the C.R.D. wished to amend their requested amendment to the Salt Spring Community Plan..." This is incorrect: Mr. Campbell's request was for the Trust Committee to table the community plan amendment.

This was a verbal request - no letter was received by the Trust prior to June 11 meeting.

It is regrettable that the two local Trustees did not recall Mr. Holmes' mention of this request just prior to the June 11 meeting, but three others present did recall it.

ABSOLUTE CONFIDENCE

It is true that I stated to Mr. Longueay by 'phone that I did not recall this part of the conversation, but I also stated to him that I had absolute confidence in Mr. Holmes' integrity and that I assumed there was a slip of memory involved, which is understandable when trying to recall a week-old conversation.

It now appears that it was probably Mr. Longueay's and my memories which were faulty.

All of this may appear of little consequence had Mr. Longueay not seized upon this incident to illustrate his belief that the two elected representatives "Have little or no control in our affairs".

I deplore the implication in the letter that Mr. Holmes was untruthful in this matter and also Mr. Longueay's unauthorized quoting of my telephone comments out of context to convey a quite different meaning than I intended.

Principals named to islands

New appointments to islands schools for next fall were announced last week.

New principal at Mayne Island school will be R. Dugas. He will assume the principalship from Pat James, who will take on a supervisory function on Outer

That well is in deep water

Galiano school is in deep water.

The well ran dry. So Gulf Islands School District looked for more.

The board called in Jean Lockwood as a consultant and she searched for water. Miss Lockwood designated the point to drill and the board engaged the driller.

Down went the drill, but up came no water. When the well had reached 300 feet, it was a gamble. They had too much invested in the shaft to abandon it. So down went the shaft, deeper and deeper.

At 400 feet they had not a trickle of water. It was now critical. The equipment could reach only to a depth of 433 feet.

Then they ran into water: at 423 feet down, or within 10 feet of a dry hole.

But the dry hole turned wet and now they're pumping 25 gallons a minute.

Parents are happy; the driller is happy, trustees are happy and Jean Lockwood is beaming.

Plans for Pender school

Old school at Pender will be leased to the hall committee on the island.

Recommendation was made by Don Fairweather at last Friday's meeting of the Gulf Islands School Board.

Gordon Wallace is president of the committee.

Buildings and Grounds Committee will negotiate a contract whereby the island group will be responsible for the administration of the school and its upkeep.

Gulf Islands School District has established a practice of allocating disused school property to the use of the community.

Car crusher puts paid to 60 cars

A car crusher has been on Salt Spring Island for the last week and a half, disposing of junked island cars.

The crusher is one of two owned by Cassidy Auto Sales and has been at Salt Spring Towing and Auto Wrecking since Monday, June 20. It is a machine similar to SAM, the provincial government crusher that was on the island a few years ago.

About four loads of crushed cars have been shipped off the island in the last week. Four loads is equal to about 60 cars. The Auto Wreckers had originally figured on disposing of about 300 cars, but as the crusher is to leave at the end of this week, that target is not expected to be reached.

Islands schools.

A. Rundle-Woolcock has been named principal at Pender Island. He is already a staff member at Pender school. On Galiano Mrs. Elizabeth Gould has been named principal. She is also there already.

Mayne Island art show for widely travelled artist this weekend

Bill Wheaton, born in Toronto, 1939, has recently found Mayne Island an excellent locale for his artistic endeavors. He spent parts of 1973 and 1974 and now most of the past year living at the Pease summer home on Bayview Drive, near Oyster Bay.

He began his professional career by studying various forms of art at Central Technical Secondary School in Toronto. Upon winning a scholarship he took further art training at the Ontario College of Art.

Then with the Government of France Medal, another scholarship, and a grant from the Lipton tea company, he spent 1961 painting in India and Ceylon.

Returning to Canada, he was commissioned by the Thomas Lipton Tea Company to do a mural for their food plant in Bramalea, Ont., and his India paintings were exhibited in Vancouver and Toronto.

SIMILAR WORK

Noranda Mines and also the Canada Wire and Cable Company, attracted by Bill's pictorial essay of the tea industry, commissioned him to do similar work for their industries in Quebec and in B.C.

In 1965, under the auspices of Canadian University Service Overseas, Bill returned to India to teach art at the Kanoria College, Jaipur. There he also became affiliated with the Rajasthan government theatrical and art director.

This resulted in illustrations for government textbooks and designing sets for theatrical productions.

Bill also produced many other paintings at this time which were related to Indian mythology and culture. With several art shows in Bombay and New Delhi, these were sold to private collectors from around the world.

In 1970 he again returned to the Ontario College of Art to obtain further qualifications in teaching fine art. For the next three years he taught at the Central Technical School in Toronto.

CAMP AND CANOE

He then decided to indulge his interest in the outdoors and began camping and canoeing across Canada, through the Northwest Territories, the Yukon, the B.C. interior, ending up in the Gulf Islands. Paintings inspired by this trip have been sold privately.

About a year ago Bill was the senior artist for a LIP project at Westminster Abbey, Mission, B.C. producing an animated film.

His show will be at The Island Gallery, Bennett Bay and Wilks Road, July 1 (2 to 5 and 7 to 9 pm), and July 2 and 3 (2 to 5 pm).

It will include paintings of sea and wild life such as raccoons, star fish, sea lions, gulls and other birds as found in their natural settings on Mayne, Saturna, Pender, Galiano, Salt Spring and Vancouver Islands.

Galiano is source of news

A visitor to Galiano on Saturday, June 25, was the well known free lance reporter Myrna Kostash, who is on a cross-country assignment for Chatelaine magazine.

She is gathering the opinions of Canadians with regard to Canadian unity.

The Galiano interview should appear in the November issue of Chatelaine.

National patriotic order selects Pat Wright to draw 1978 calenders

BY DOROTHY E. JAMES

This is Canada week, June 25 to July 1, highlighting our national holiday on July 1.

Once again the H.M.S. Ganges Chapter IODE has come to the fore-front during the month of June in various activities and achievements.

At the annual luncheon meeting held at Harbour House-June 3 the guest of honour was Mrs. Wm. J. Marquardt, past B.C. Provincial President who presented Mrs. Joyce Parsons with her 25 year pin for her membership in the Ganges Chapter.

Excitement was high when Mrs. Earl Hardie read a night letter, just received from the National Education Secretary, Mrs. K.A. McCartney, Toronto, as follows:

"Animal Paintings approved at National Annual Meeting. Please notify Miss Wright. Letter of confirmation to follow shortly. Great excitement regarding 1979 and 1980 calendars."

This means our own Miss Pat Wright, noted artist, has had 13 of her beautiful animal paintings accepted to portray Canadian animals for each month, plus cover, in the I.O.D.E. National calendars for two years.

Flowers of each province have appeared for the past year.

Mrs. Marquardt, in her address, described the unique Canadian collection of 37 water-colours by Winifred Petchy March which depict the now vanished culture of the Padli-muit Tribe of the Caribou Eskimo. This will be presented to Canada's newest museum - the Territorial Central Museum at Silver Jubilee this year.

ROADRUNNERS

The speaker also called attention to the I.O.D.E. Roadrunners.

This I.O.D.E.-sponsored Girls Soccer Team has won straight games and challenging trophies, and is now entitled to compete in Hawaii this year. The girls are selling tickets to help finance their trip.

Also described were the "Highlights of being Provincial President" of the Order which was founded in New Brunswick in 1900 by Mrs. Black - another interesting story.

Of the 13 applicants from B.C. for the War Memorial Scholarships this year a Japanese girl in Kelowna won, and will go to England to further Japanese and English relations.

MAD-HATTER'S PARTY

On June 8, Mrs. A.B. Hall, of Nanaimo, opened the Mad-hatter's Coffee Party in the James' garden at Vesuvius Bay, which proved to be a tremendous success from the entertainment angle as well as financially. Great credit is due to the convener Mrs. K. Patrick and committees.

The most original and amazing hats were a riot of colour and ingenuity against the background of the masses of flowers in the borders.

Prizes for the competition so well planned by Miss Marjorie Cuttill and helpers, and judged by Mrs. E.H. Maguire, Mrs. Tom Toynbee and D.R. Lockhead were won by:

Most original, Mrs. Grace Schat from Holland,
Most crazy, Mrs. Harold Shopland;
Most elegant, Mrs. Jack Insley.

The home cooking, convened by Mrs. George Mickleborough and Mrs. Roy Atkins soon disappeared.

The garden corner, displayed by Miss Olive Mouat and Mrs. B. Lucas attracted the gardeners.

The interesting contents of the talent table sold by Mrs. J. Sayer and Mrs. Patterson demonstrated the versatility of I.O.D.E. members and other contributors.

SWEATER WINNER

The beautiful knitted sweater was won by Mrs. Wally Edwards.

The pretty warm afghan was won by Mrs. R.E. Walker.

The cleverly made bird bath donated by Mr. Saunders went to the lucky lady from Holland, Mrs. Grace Schat.

Mrs. A.S. Deas won the decorated cake made by Mrs. A.H.R. Howell.

Mrs. Earl Hardie and Mrs. E. Richardson with an able staff catered to the crowds at the refreshment tables. They were assisted by girls from the High School under Mrs. H. Shopland who included Susan Mouat, Michele Larson, Barbara Woodley, Lynn Coombes and Monique Coombes.

Regent Mrs. E.J. Searles and every member of the

I.O.D.E. deserve credit for the most successful and remunerative event of the year which will enable them to meet their commitments in the field of education, citizenship and aid to others, locally and abroad.

Info-Health

BY DR. BOB YOUNG

A small child or infant screaming in the night, the distraught parents, and the arrival of the doctor is an oft repeated drama. Now that I think of it, I guess that I have played all three roles! The disease that is perhaps most frequently the cause of this scenario is acute otitis media, better known as an earache.

Although adults do get earaches, acute otitis is much more common in the young. This is due partly to anatomical features in this age group, and also because of the greater incidence of upper respiratory infections, colds, and sniffles in children.

The eardrum lies at the inner end of the ear canal. It forms one wall of the middle ear space, the space that contains the tiny hammer, anvil, and stirrup bones we all learned about in our high school health course. The middle ear compartment is joined to the nasopharynx (at the very back of the nose) by the eustacian tube.

The purpose of the eustacian tube is to keep the pressures on each side of the eardrum equal and also to provide drainage for the middle ear space.

Blockage alone allows the space to fill with a clear fluid under pressure - a serious otitis. If infection is present, pus fills the space - a purulent otitis. Both stretch the eardrum and cause severe pain.

The doctor can view the eardrum with an otoscope, not always an easy task when the young patient is squirming and crying. The drum has a characteristic appearance with the different types of otitis. It may be bulging under the pressure, or may have ruptured, which relieves the pressure to a certain degree.

Treatment consists of various decongestants to open the eustacian tube, antibiotics to combat the infection, drugs for the pain, and frequently myringotomy, a surgical incision in the drum which allows drainage and gives pain relief. Often tubes are placed in the myringotomy to keep a drainage path open.

Complications, now seldom seen in treated cases, include hearing loss, mastoiditis, and meningitis.

SALT SPRING ISLAND GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB

GOLFING

BY PAT DOHERTY

Fourteen ladies were out in the nine-hole division to congratulate Eloise Andrews for her hole-in-one on number 2 hole on June 21. We celebrated with her at lunch, and also presented her with the weekly prize for her achievement.

The winner of the consolation prize was Mary K. Thomas, and on the previous week the same prize was won by Ruby Grant.

On the junior scene, on June 13, John Delafriere won the ball for best putts, Lyle Brown was runner up. Loretta Dods and Brian Anderson teamed up to win the pairs competition on June 20.

On Thursday the school trophies were played for with Jill Johnson (net 69) Loretta Dods (net 71) for the girls. Doug Elliott won the boys' trophy with a net 71, runner-up was Kevin Noble.

Least putts was a new junior with 16 putts, Steven MacPherson. Lyle Brown had low net for those who played nine holes.

Two junior boys, Kevin Noble and Doug Elliott will be playing at Victoria Golf Club and Cedar Hill on Wednesday and Thursday in the Zone 1 Junior Championships.

Jill Johnson and Loretta Dods are playing in the Surrey Junior Tournament on Wednesday, July 29, and at Beach Grove in the third Centennial, then Jill will be leaving for California with the Canadian team, and then she will compete at the Junior World of Golf in San Diego.

LADIES' DAY

On ladies' day, on June 21, in the first division, low net winner was Irene Hawksworth with a 69, and Dolly Whorley second division winner with a 66. Our second team played the return match against the Cowichan team this week and won, with total points 24 1/2 to 23 1/2.

On Thursday the first team won the return against the Colwood team, but lost by two points in the overall total points.

The other flights of the Rose Bowl competition which was won last week by Dorothy Kennedy have now been played off. The results are as follows, first flight, Connie Hardy; second flight, Charlotte Cooper; third flight, Dolly Whorley.

In two-ball play on June 22, it was men's low net, Gordon Hutton and Bob Marshall; ladies' low net, Marg Fisher and Ada Woodley; closest to the pin on number 2, Irene Hawksworth and Gavin Reynolds; hidden hole, Dolly Whorley and Marg Mills with a 3 on number 6.

Everyone is respectfully reminded that starting Wednesday, June 29, tee-off time for the mixed two ball will be 6.30 pm.

Ada Woodley asks us to thank everyone who participated in any way in Junior Golf Week, whether it was matching your score against the Pro, or merely buying the golf balls that the juniors had on sale at the clubhouse.

The response, according to Ada, was "just wonderful".

Maybe

When people talk about you
You might get in a stew:
You might rave and shout,
You might even pout,
But remember when you do,
When people talk about you
What they're saying might be true.

HOARY MARMOT

MARMOTA CALIGATA 5

The Hoary Marmot, so called because of the mantle of white fur which covers his shoulders and back, is well known to hikers in the western mountains of North America. A high-pitched whistle often welcomes visitors to the alpine country and warns the members of the colony of approaching danger. Fattened by a summer of feeding on lush alpine plants, marmots, like some other members of the squirrel family, spend the 7 winter months in hibernation, far beneath the snow.

These animals, sometimes called "whistlers" are slightly larger than their relative the woodchuck, and can weigh up to 30 lb.

In early summer Marmots spend hours engaged in playful wrestling matches. Though the pushing and grappling can be quite vigorous, Marmots, like Olympic wrestlers, have only to give the right signal - in this case a sharp yelp - to end the bout and prevent injury.

SATURNA SCENE

BY KUKLOS

A rainy Friday afternoon did nothing to dampen anyone's spirits as Saturna School held its annual Awards Day. Flowers from the gardens of Flo and Dave Jack, Myrtle and Steve Maskow and Laura and Em Coombs provided colourful decorations, and a tempting display of home baking, arranged through the efforts of Juanita Hutton-Potts and Terry Siemens awaited all who attended the ceremony.

A series of songs in French and English started off the afternoon, followed by individual readings by members of the primary class and French skits. Then the awards were announced.

In the younger grades, Kaliya Muntean was given a book award for outstanding achievement in all subjects. Also, Cory Boser and Anya Neumann were singled out for commendation for working a good part of the year in the intermediate room.

Of the senior students, Lana Corkill was presented with a book prize for scholarship, and excellence of work habits; Tammy Stewart for achievement in mathematics, and Cory Boser, for being chosen by his classmates as the writer of the best term-end essay. Cory read his composition, as part of the programme.

All book awards were courtesy of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., Victoria, the Parents Group, and Women's Club.

On behalf of Money Brothers and Pederson, Taimi Hindmarch presented 'money' envelopes to the students with the best attendance records: Clifford Crooks and Douglas Money in the primary room; and their siblings Shelley Crooks and Jimmy Money in the upper grades.

SATURNA CUP

On behalf of the Women's Club, Priscilla Janszen, as president, presented to Shelley Crooks the Saturna Cup, for noteworthy leadership, scholarship and sportsmanship.

It was a remarkable week for Shelley, who celebrated her 13th birthday, won much acclaim at the Awards Day, and is the only Saturna student going on to Grade 8 at Mayne Island in September.

Lorraine Campbell, as president of the Historical Association, Gulf Islands, presented the winners of their recent essay contest with their just rewards. Jimmy Money received first prize in his category. Lana Corkill second in her age group, and Erin Boser, honourable mention.

Finally, the last draw of the Fire Department Lottery was held during the proceedings with Shelley Crooks picking the winning ticket. Alex Close became richer by $500. (Shelley's parents, Barry and Bernice, had won the May draw) had been given to Hilary Spicer, for her enthusiastic French programme and Lorraine Campbell for all her stimulating science projects during the year, the audience adjourned to the senior room for refreshments, and to watch 'home movies' and filmstrips made by the older children during the year. Highlights were efforts in animation, Bionic Teacher and Doomsday, footage of their trip to Vancouver, and finally, a Tour of Saturna the class had prepared for their twin classroom in Mississauga, Ontario, with whom they had corresponded and exchanged ideas all year.

HOME MOVIES

After special thanks and gifts

It was a most enjoyable afternoon for the children, parents, friends, official and unofficial relatives.

Barbara Scoones, social worker from Sidney, was happy to have her regular visit to the island coincide with Awards Day.

VISITORS

Other families also brought their visitors along. Laura and Em Coombs had their family, with grandsons Chris and Richard, as did Polly Howarth. Bill and Irene Lawson loved the company of their granddaughter all week; as did the Barry Crooks and Dave Crooks families, the company of their grandmother from Victoria. For the Maskow family, all was in preparation for the visit of Myrtle's brother, plus their daughter May, from the east, and grandsons from the Mainland.

Returning from a trip to Vancouver were Jack and Evelyn Saunders, still caught up in the charm of the Victor Borge concert they attended with their family. Daisy and Walter Bavis are back from their time up Vancouver Island. En route home they made a stop at salt Spring, and visited our island's own Clarice Warlow.

Newcomers to Saturna, resident for at least a month this year, are Robbie Robertson, with friends Bev and Miles. Rumour is that Robbie will be taking the bingo concession at the barbecue.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Ongoing workbees to surface the tennis courts.

The Women's Discussion Group, will have a tea and rummage sale on July 16th (proceeds to pay for speakers and workshops).

And, of course, the Annual Lamb Barbecue at Saturna Beach on July 1 --- a tradition with many, many visitors.

A century of salmon canning

—At Port Edward

BY GLADYS BLYTH
It's 'Year 101' for salmon canning at Port Edward, the small fishing village on British Columbia's northwest coast.

And with a century of fish processing and packing behind it, this community of less than 2,000 remains confident that the sea will continue to be their great provider.

While British Columbia's multi-million dollar fishing industry began on the Fraser River in 1870, the first northern plant was established six years later on the Skeena River's north arm at a site then known variously as Woodcock's Landing, Skeenamouth, Willa Clough and Inverness.

Today, two plants operate along the six-mile Inverness Passage and Porpoise Harbour: the Cassiar Packing and the British Columbia Packers.

TOURS

The latter provides informative tours through its fish processing plants to busloads of visitors off tour ships and ferries docking at nearby Prince Rupert and to tourists driving across the province on Yellowhead 16 and points east.

An enterprising missionary, Archdeacon W.H. Collison, suggested the site for the first cannery at Port Edward to a visiting emissary of the fishing industry at Columbia River, Colonel Lane.

Collison, who had stepped ashore from a canoe at the landing, was introduced to Lane by William H. Woodcock, inn and store owner at Woodcock Landing. Lane arrived by the Hudson steamer, "Otter".

Lane, a salmon packer, informed the missionary of his intentions of establishing a fish cannery in the area if salmon stocks proved good. Thereupon Collison led the visitor to the water's edge and pointed out the abundance of salmon in the Inverness Passage.

Lane was sold. He immediately started negotiating with Woodcock for the purchase of the property and the Inverness Cannery was built.

OPERATED FOR 74 YEARS

Although government records state the first 3,000 cases of red salmon was processed in 1877, the plant did operate briefly the previous year. The Inverness Cannery operated continuously for 74 years before it closed down in 1950.

In 1889, the North Pacific Cannery was built adjacent to the Inverness Cannery. It was taken over three years later by H.O. Bell-Irving and became known as the Anglo-British Columbia Packing's North Pacific Plant. Except for two seasons this plant operated continuously for 77 years.

Here are some gillnetters of the Port Edward fishing fleet.

In early 1969 it was purchased by Canadian Fishing and after a year or two of canning, the machinery was removed. It is now used as a reduction plant for fish meal and oil and for

THAT'S ONE WAY

So perish all slimy slugs!

BY LILLIAN HORSDAL

On my return trip from Watson Lake I had to spend the night in Vancouver.

This is always a pleasure since I'm able to visit an old Ottawa friend, now residing there. She was describing an invasion of slugs in her garden.

Slugs are such revolting things! I had never seen one until we came out west to live. They're so slimy!

My hostess explained her method of meting out a suitable end to them. After all, they don't seem to do any good and certainly they damage plants in gardens.

One night, they all come out of their hiding places at dusk, she rid her garden of two hundred of these disgusting abominations.

How? She goes forth armed with her scissors to do battle with the army of slugs.

While there, another friend joined us and she, too, had been having trouble with the slow progress of slugs eating their way through her garden.

The three of us went out. Gwen had the weapon: the scissors: while Joan and I were the scouts.

The slugs varied in size from one to about seven inches.

We would call out, "Here's one!"

Gwen would pounce, her scissors poised for action. Quickly she'd cut them in two and go on to where the next one had been discovered.

In less than 15 minutes we'd rendered 73 slugs helpless. At any rate, that is what we hope.

I doubt that the revolting creatures multiply by division.

The trusted salt method is too costly with so many to destroy.

Valentine travels long way

When a Valentine appeared in a Toronto newspaper, addressed to "Trudy" on Salt Spring Island a curious reader of the Globe and Mail clipped the valentine and sent it to Bob Gall of Ganges. Mr. Gall brought it to Driftwood and it was re-published here.

Trudy proved to be the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buckley, of Ganges.

In due course, a copy of Driftwood reached Stanley J. Smith, of Ingersoll, Ontario. He wrote to Bob Gall, explaining that Trudy is his great-niece. Stanley Smith is a free-lance journalist in Ingersoll.

Islander is visitor on island

Darryl Byron, home from Germany on holiday, is spending his fifth year with the Candian armed forces in Germany.

Mr. Byron told Driftwood that he has so thoroughly enjoyed his stint abroad that he has signed on for extended service several times.

He lives in permanent married quarters, where his neighbours are all Canadian. Despite the isolated living, he reports that he has learned German and has frequent occasion to speak that language.

Byron is an entertainer as well as a serviceman. He has recorded a number of songs to his guitar.

Camera Club on Salt Spring attracts 11

Last Thursday evening the Salt Spring Camera Club held its first meeting at which eleven enthusiasts showed up. Meetings will be held monthly: next meeting will be on July 14. The place will be announced in the coming events column of this paper.

While many of Port Edward's residents are employed by industries in Prince Rupert, the village remains predominantly a fishing community today.

In its 101 years it has experienced all the transitions and growth of one of British Columbia's leading industries; from a small, isolated, hand-operated outpost employing fishermen in open dories to the present highly-mechanized plants employing skilled processors and vast fleets of modern, far-ranging vessels.

Graduation ceremonies with band and choir

Salt Spring Elementary Choir led off the evening with the Gulf Islands Secondary School Band on Friday when the graduating ceremonies took place in Gulf Islands Secondary School.

There were 40 graduates in this year's lists.

Guest speaker was Ivan Mouat, who recalled incidents of his own education and graduation of Salt Spring Island, 40 years ago.

He also recalled that it was some 40 years ago that Mrs. Florence Hepburn introduced the ceremonial graduation that is familiar to island students today.

Principal R. D. McWhirter opened the ceremonies and introduced the various speakers of the evening.

Rev. Fr. P.A. Bergin called the invocation and was followed by Trustee Tom Davidson, who spoke on behalf of the Gulf Islands School Board, wishing them happiness and success in whatever pursuit they may take up.

Superintendent Bob Huestis expressed the hope that the graduates would be successful, each in his own way. He spoke for the ministry of education.

FAREWELL

Farewell to the graduates was expressed by Kitty Byron and the salute to the graduates was given by Lori Wood.

Trevor Murray was Valedictorian.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the graduates were introduced by the principal and Mrs. Mhora Zelter.

Graduates were: Margaret Anderson, Marlene Archer, Arno Bangert, Robert Barnard, Geoffrey Besler, Michael Cannon, Ann Chatwin, Megan Davies, Trevor Dixon, Rudy Dobovcnik, Mark Dodds, David Fairweather, Brien Foerster, Warren Grant, Annette Hacking, Wendy Horel, Rebecca Jameson, Stephen Jarman, Robina Kinnear, Ian Kyle, Janet Lacy, Mark Lowe, Jo Anne MacDougald, John Melhuish, Brenda Mouat, Trevor Murray, Steven Pallot, Barbara Pidcock, Susan Rowell, Daniel Royle, Brenda Russell, Heather Simpson, Deanna Sollitt, Kathleen Taylor, Roland Temmel, Francis Trice, Karen Truscott, Isabel Van Gogh, Terrence Webb, Ann Wilson, Lori Wood and Deborah Woodley.

The After-grad party was held on Ernie and Brenda Lowe's property, where about 200 people were entertained by the Bogwater Back-up Band. Appetites were satisfied by 80 pounds of beef roasted over an open fire.

ARTS AND CRAFTS DISPLAY

Art has reached the ferries. This summer there will be booths set up at ferry terminals on Vancouver Island and the mainland for the display and sale of handcrafted articles.

The craftsmen must be Canadians or landed immigrants. Booths, measuring 10 feet square, will be rented to craft workers on a weekly basis, from Sunday morning to Saturday night. There will be power available to enable craftsmen to work on the spot and there will be a chest and display table in each booth. Renters must provide their own chairs.

Booths will be located at Swartz Bay, Tsawwassen, Horseshoe Bay and Nanaimo.

Interested artists and handcraftsmen may call or write, Terri Haggart, 1519 Cedar Glen, Victoria, V8N 4N5, 477-1653.

Space will be allocated for one-week periods only.
