Evils of the Victorian era

Public speakers, hooligans

BY FRANK RICHARDS

It was another era and a very different era. It was the turn of the century. Queen Victoria was still regina-imperatrix and consols were selling like hot cakes in America.

The Westminster Gazette published a letter on March 31, 1900, written by J.M.G., deploring the inability of most British businessmen to speak in public.

Mr. G. entreated the unknown head of the education department to give consideration to the improvement of public speaking. He thought of the "nervous nonentities which have bored us with their twaddle at church meetings and political meetings and school board elections."

"The common reasons assigned for defective speaking are natural nervousness, natural ignorance, natural incapacity and a number of other natural peculiarities, but the truest and deepest reason is that speakers rarely get the chance of repeating their speeches as singers do their songs."

"Every speech has to be specially prepared, perhaps spoken to a miserable audience on an utterly uninteresting subject."

LIFE-SAVER

He advocated the formation of a public speaking association to raise the quality and standards of public speaking. The association would revolutionize life, asserted the writer. "It will save the lives of many who would die prematurely through indigestion and nervous debility produced by the present state of their incompetency for public speaking."

One final improvement suggested by the speaker was the elimination of the melancholy look to be found at so many dinners, all suffering from the agony of an undelivered speech.

Public speaking may have changed. Other things have not.

Running through a long list of turn-of-the-century clippings is the sad tale of vandalism.

VANDALS

The same publication on Friday, Jan. 11, 1901, reported on a conference at Mansion House on Hooliganism: its Cause and Cure.

At the insistence of an association which has adopted the title of the Twentieth Century League, and which includes such well-known people as Sir Henry Burdett, the Rev. Stewart Headlam, the Rev. A.W. Jephson, the Rev. Scott Lidgett, Miss Honnor Morton and others, a meeting is to be held at the Lord Mayor's residence on the 30th inst. to consider the best means of combatting the hooliganism evil.

A preliminary statement listed those factors which were considered as contributing to the problem.

• Overcrowding in the home or neglect by parents which sends boys and girls into the streets.

• Irregular attendance at school. Over 140,000 children absent themselves from school every day; 12,000 never attend school at all. Enquiries show that these form the nucleus of some of the notorious gangs of street toughs.

• Absence of opportunity for healthy exercise and organized amusement.

• Insufficient police control in many districts and the inadequate lighting of many streets.

• The early age at which working class boys and girls become wage earners.

• An improvident industrial system, in which boys are engaged in unskilled labour and become casual labourers or permanent loafers on approaching manhood.

• The atmosphere of vice and crime, which surrounds a proportion of the poorest class from infancy. Such children are educated in a contempt for law and order.

The report on hooliganism suggests that a complete cure can only be found in the amendment of the social surroundings from which it springs.

The social problems of the Victorian era in Britain, both active and passive, appear to have gained a new hold in the Elizabethan soil of the New World.

George the magic dragon

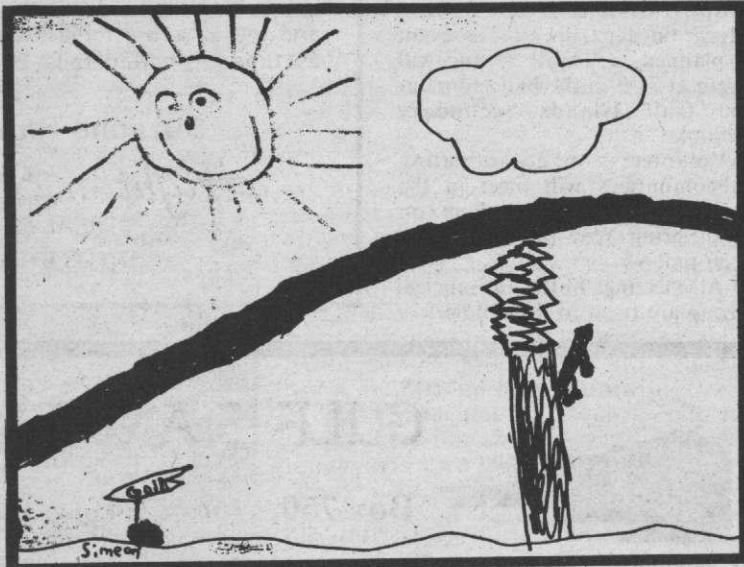

CHRISTOPHER DAFOE
Grade 3
Fernwood School

Once there was a magic dragon and he was lost. So he disappeared and ended up in a little boys room. The boy said, "Hi!" Shivering, the dragon said hi. "What's your name?" "Fred." "What's your name?" "George."

But you have scales that doesn't matter Fred said Hi so I am your friend yes said the dragon. Fred said, "Well my mom and dad are away so let us go away too."

So the dragon snapped his fingers and there were Fred's mom and dad. "Uh oh," said Fred, "there's my mom."

But at that time the dragon knocked the plant down. Fred's mother saw him. She said "Fred!" and George disappeared. So Fred had supper with his mom and dad.

The new world

CHELSEA ELDSTROM
Grade 3
Fernwood Elementary School

Dear Smart Alex,

This is my dream. It is called: "The New World"

One night, when I was asleep, this funny little man came down on my bed. He said, "Why don't you come with me to a new planet." I said, "I'd like to." So he took me in his space ship to the planet stars.

The little man was green with white polka dots. He said, "Come out with me, this the planet stars." I said "Look this planet is a mess!" He said, "I know but this is what we eat." I looked around and I saw everybody eating garbage, because it was lunchtime.

He said, "Why don't you have some lunch?" I said, "I would like to but this is not what I eat back on earth." He said, "Why don't you go home and get some lunch." I said, "That would be a good idea."

So I went home and when I got home I heard someone saying "It's time to get up!" It was Mom. Breakfast was ready and I had to get ready for school.

The Dragon

TANYA KONIG
Grade 3

Once there was a dragon. His name was called John. He was a mean dragon. I said, mom can I go into the woods and my mom said yes. The dragon lived in the woods. So she went into the woods. As she was walking in the woods she met the dragon. She was very, very scared. She called mom, mom the only answer she got back was her echo. The dragon said, what is your name. She had to tell the dragon so she did. My name is called Jenny. Then she said, are you nice. No but I will be nice and

Islanders plan action against arms

A group of Salt Spring Islanders wants action from governments on the problems of proliferation of armaments.

About 50 people met recently at the home of Hank and Maggie Schubart to discuss the subject and familiarize themselves with actions of similar groups elsewhere.

An anti-nuclear rally will be held in Vancouver on April 24, the group was told, and another is slated for Victoria on April 25. An anti-nuclear group in Victoria, Headway, will sponsor the rally in that city and is currently working out details for a demonstration to greet the first Trident submarine to enter the Strait of Juan de Fuca this summer.

The local group attempted to decide on wording for an anti-nuclear referendum to be held in conjunction with the civic elections this fall. The group had a resolution written by the Ottawa-based Operation Dismantle. Several persons wanted stronger wording to the resolution locally and they decided to wait until more people could comment on the proposed wording before making a decision.

The group will sponsor an evening of film and discussion on nuclear war in partnership with the school district's continuing education department. The event is planned for April 21 and will begin at 7:30 in the band room at the Gulf Islands Secondary School.

Volunteers on co-ordinating subcommittees will meet in the home of Peter and Lorna Pentz on Salt Spring Way on April 15 at 7:30 pm.

All meetings of the anti-nuclear group are open to the public.

Taxes due July 15

The tax bill for rural areas of B.C. is not due until July 15 this year and payment after that date will have an extra five per cent added to it.

The large number of assessment appeals kept the court of revision in session until March 31. In a normal year the court sits only in February.

The bills will be mailed by the ministry of finance on June 15 and taxpayers will have a month to pay.

The busy time for the court of revision pushed back the date for completing the tax rolls to April 15 from March 31.

The second deadline for payment of taxes remains at October 31 when another five per cent will be added to overdue bills.

Rural areas of B.C., including the Gulf Islands, lie outside of organized municipalities and include up to 300,000 properties around the province.

Handicapped parking only

Parking spaces for handicapped people have been created in Ganges. The spaces are clearly marked for use of the handicapped only. Executive director of the Gulf Islands Handicapped Society, Bryan Smith, puts the finishing touches to a sign outside the entrance to K & R grocery store. The other spaces are at the post office and at the Trading Company.

Camping fees increased

Camping in Gulf Islands provincial parks will cost more this year after the ministry of lands, parks and housing raised fees recently.

The fee structure adds $1 to the cost of accommodation in various parks with the price on staying at Mout or Ruckle Parks on Salt Spring being $4 this year compared to $3 in 1981.

Prior Park on Pender Island costs $4.

The fee for overnight docking at Montague Harbour has been boosted to $4, the same price as at Sidney Spit or Newcastle Island.

For those wishing to stay in the park at Montague Harbour, the price for this year will be $6 per night.

The price structure ups the cost of camping to $4 in 54 of the provincial parks and $6 in 76 other B.C. parks. Two of the province's parks will be charging $10 per night while the camping is free in 15 other parks.

In a prepared statement the minister, James Chabot, said "The new fees reflect some of the increasing costs we must meet in the operation of our extensive provincial park campground system."

He continued by stating that the fees compare favourably with those charged in private camps, national parks or in parks in Alberta or Washington.

Senior citizens will continue to enjoy free camping and most other charges in various campgrounds will remain the same as last year.

Program to provide 121 jobs

There will be 121 jobs for students with the federal ministry of fisheries and oceans in British Columbia this summer.

Students from university, college or a technical institute can apply for the positions through the Public Service Commission's career oriented summer employment program.

Pay ranges from $5.38 per hour for a first-year technical institute student up to $9.11 for post-graduate university students. The undergraduate maximum is $6.90 and the jobs will last from six to 18 weeks.

Students in science, especially biology, chemistry, engineering and surveying, will get more than half of the available jobs. At least 35 of the jobs will be in the field with DFO scientific parties, Canadian Hydrographic Service surveys and in fisheries inspection and operations.

The B.C. jobs are part of the almost 600 positions available across Canada and some of the jobs will be carried over to next summer. The jobs are a means of attracting youth to the ministry's recruiting program.

Increase in payments.

The ministry of human resources will be paying more to the handicapped and seniors in the G.A.I.N. program as of April 1, 1982.

The increase in payments gives a single person a maximum of $505.74 and a couple who qualify, both being either handicapped or over 65, will receive up to $926.24.

G.A.I.N. payments go to help the handicapped or people over 65 who do not qualify for federal benefits.

Preparing for World Relief Tea

Organizing the World Relief Tea takes time and these three Salt Spring clergymen are participating. John Bailey, Anglican minister, left, discusses the event with Al Skinner, United Church minister, centre and Serge Hildebrandt of the Community

Gospel Chapel. Father Patrick Bergin is also involved in the event but was in Victoria when this photo was taken last week.

Rescind permit—Valcourt

There was a list. "This could be a list of the employees they have laid off in the last two years," countered Valcourt.

The letter from Ganges Auto-Marine stated that they were closing down part of the marina, she added.

"I would like to know who the persons are."

"It's none of our business who is laid off," interjected Ken Hill.

"We have a policy that everyone has to follow," continued Valcourt. "What are we doing? Window dressing?"

The regional meetings always lead to Salt Spring Island and sewage, protested Hill.

SATISFIED

Don Wakelyn told the meeting that his staff had checked the water consumption and the emptying of the sewage tank and that they had been satisfied that the permit was being followed.

The health department bases its estimates on water and sewage flow and not on the number of persons in the building, he added.

The sewage flow had been excessive last year; but it proved that the excess had been due to faulty operation of the plumbing by tenants of the apartment above the store, pointed out Wakelyn.

Shirley Wilde was confused. She examined the department report on the sewage and water consumption and found that half the year the flow is high and half the year it is low. She also asked for a clarification of new construction and additions.

Dr. A.S. Arneil, medical officer of health, explained that interior changes are not new construction. NO MORE WATER

"A building is of a certain size and you put a wall down the middle. It does not relate to the consumption of water. And the sewage discharge cannot exceed the water consumption."

If a project means added accommodation, then it is considered new construction, he told the committee.

What happened in this instance, asked Wilde.

Remodelling, submitted Wakelyn.

Increased usage, asserted Valcourt.

Hill moved that the committee endorse the action of its staff in issuing the certificate.

There was no seconder.

Robin Blencoe, declining to second the motion, told the meeting that he was not clear as to the meaning of the figures on the Ganges Auto-Marine water usage submitted by Director Valcourt.

In 1981, explained the Island spokeswoman, average daily water consumption by the offending business was 305 gallons per day. The sewage permit is for 250.

UNSEWERED WATER

Some water could be used without going into the sewer, observed the chairman.

The staff should check if there has been increased usage and report back, suggested Wilde.

There is nothing with which to compare, explained Arneil.

"Do your best!" said Blencoe.

The certificate was issued contingent on the letter stating that six men had been laid off, warned Valcourt.

"What use will the library be put to?" asked Wilde.

Health department will study flows and report back to the next meeting.

Decision to monitor the system was approved by a 3-2 vote, with Valcourt, Wilde and Blencoe supporting the measure and Hill and Cumming supporting the staff decision.

Canoeists rescued

The Ganges coast guard crew swung back to action over the Easter weekend after a relatively quiet spring.

The crews were called up to rescue four canoeists from Brackland Island near Portland Island in Satellite Channel. The four people had gone out in two canoes for a weekend of enjoyment but when the time came to leave Portland the wind and waves were high.

They made Brackland and put up to wait out the storm and the coast guard picked them off the small island.

In other activity, the men from Ganges went out to escort a power vessel which was taking on water in the Strait of Georgia. The vessel had lost its hatch cover and the waves were coming over the side.

The vessel had been escorted to Active Pass by the tug, Jacques Cartier, and the local crew took over from there to get the vessel into Sturdies Bay.

Islanders lose home in blaze

Fire destroyed the home of Randy and Faye Cocker last Wednesday.

By the time the Salt Spring volunteer firefighters arrived at the Dukes Road house at 8:45 pm, the flames were well on their way to consuming the structure.

The Cockers, who have three children, lost almost all of their possessions.

A campaign has already been started for the family and donations can be made at Greenwoods, the Bank of Montreal or Gulf Islands Driftwood. An account has been opened at the bank and cheques can be made payable to Fire Fund.

Donations of household items are also sought and inquiries may be made to Greenwoods to determine what is needed.

Meanwhile the cause of the blaze is still being investigated by the fire department.

Visitors asked to leave

Police were called to Mouat Park on Salt Spring Island over the weekend on several occasions.

They were answering complaints of noise and disturbances in the early hours. Three visitors to the island were asked to leave because of the complaints.
