

Campbell's artwork begs to be seen

By JENNIFER McFEE
Staff Writer

Salt Spring artist Jill Louise Campbell has been busy painting for projects that will take her artwork around the globe.

One of her most recent endeavors is a collaborative effort with long-time friend and Virtues Project creator Linda Kavelin Popov. The two friends, who have experienced everything together from kayaking adventures to meditation retreats, have recently launched a set of six inspirational "Visions of Grace" cards.

"She and I have a very similar philosophy of life. She communicates through words and I communicate through paintings," Campbell said.

The project began with the six virtues of beauty, joy, courage, love, peace and beauty. The women took these basic ideas and enhanced them with quotes from Popov's books and visual interpretations from Campbell's watercolour paintings.

Popov is bringing the cards with her on a world tour to promote her latest book — A Pace of Grace — and a second set of cards is in the works.

In addition to the virtues cards, eight-foot orca Victoria Rose is fresh off Campbell's full palette. Rose is one of about 50 custom-formed fibreglass orca calves popping up on the streets of Victoria and Vancouver as part of the B.C. Lions Society's Orcas in the City project.

As one of B.C.'s artists chosen to take part, Campbell commuted to her Victoria gallery twice weekly for six weeks to work on Rose.

"It was an amazing experience. She took up the whole middle of the gallery. It was really fun to paint her there," she said.

She painted at night when the gallery was closed, and enjoyed seeing curious onlookers press their noses up against the windows to catch a glimpse of the unique project.

Campbell said her inspiration for Rose arrived from "out of the blue."

"It just came to me. I saw her as an amazing mammal that was leaping out of the inner harbour with the backdrop of roses and fir trees," she said.

Rose was erected centre

court at the Bay Centre in Victoria, where she was also equipped to spout water as a glistening fountain.

"The Bay Centre was my sponsor. They were so amiable and positive. They helped to create the event at the unveiling and they provided a fabulous warm entrance for Rose. I felt really fortunate that she was put in such a wonderful surrounding."

"There were about 50 people involved in my orca alone. It was all the other people who really brought it together."

Orcas now brightening the city streets will be auctioned off in November with proceeds benefitting Easter Seal operations. Campbell encourages Salt Spring residents to bid on Rose and bring her home to the island.

"I put it forward to at least one individual on Salt Spring to bring her forward in a public context," the artist said.

In another recent project, Campbell was one of several artists commissioned to create artwork commemorating Butchart Gardens' 100th birthday. Talented locals Robert Bateman and Carol Evans also created works for the centennial celebrations.

Campbell was given an annual gardens pass and during frequent visits she took over 200 photographs of the gardens. When it was time to create her painting, she spread the photos over the floor to figure out how to best represent its natural beauty.

"It was a really neat project. I was honoured to have the opportunity," she said.

Campbell said she felt a great affinity for the gardens' original creator Jennie Butchart, because both women come from families of cement engineers in Ontario and Quebec. With an eye for the aesthetic, Butchart transformed an exhausted limestone quarry into 55 acres of floral displays.

"I tried to imagine how she felt when she saw this tremendously scarred quarry. The painting is of her looking through a window into the quarry wondering 'What am I going to do?' The garden is just a journey of her eyes."

She said the painting titled Butchart Gardens, which only took four hours to complete, looks beyond the frame of an open wood window that allows the spirit mentor of the natural wilderness to come through.

"Paintings have to come because they're meant to come. They just happen. You get into it and you're totally absorbed and time is elastic," she said.

Campbell noted that it's not easy to describe the painting in words. Instead, she said, it begs to be seen. Those who can't make it to Butchart Gardens will be able to view reproductions of the painting at Campbell's Salt Spring gallery in about three weeks.

"I've already had visitors who've come to Salt Spring specifically to meet me and ask about reproductions," she said.

On top of these artistic endeavors, Campbell's local gallery is undergoing a makeover, with one-third of the space dedicated to original works. A grand re-opening event will take place in September.

"People are invited to come in and have a look now. It's a very noticeable change," she said.

Campbell has also leased space for a Vancouver gallery on South Granville Street and 7th Avenue. Her daughter Tara Campbell will run the artist's third gallery, which is set to open on December 1.

Passion for baskets at ArtCraft showcase

By APRIL CURTIS
Driftwood Contributor

A passion for baskets and desire to push the boundaries of their form is "the common strand" running through the rich diversity of techniques and materials in the next ArtCraft Showcase.

New work by 10 members of the Salt Spring Island Basketry Guild, on display at Mahon Hall for three weeks beginning July 29, shows the creative potential of this traditional craft form.

Guild member Joan Carigan has been exploring the use of arbutus bark as a medium for vessel forms.

These, as well as her cedar bark baskets and several pieces from her entwined series, will be included in the show.

Donna Cochran will present several sculptural reed pieces along with her signature colourful reed and sea grass baskets.

Denise Beck will display her embellished gourds, which incorporate basket techniques and rich patterning.

A basket maker for 10 years, Lorna Cammaert of Pacific Basketry has been working on a series of double-walled baskets with colours and textures inspired by the seasons.

Lynn Logan and Elna Gravelle like to incorporate locally harvested materials such as honeysuckle and driftwood with prepared dyed reeds in ribbed baskets.

Judy Goodman is also known for working natural driftwoods, beach glass or even slices of arbutus into her powerful and large reed baskets, and in this new work she has come to terms with colour, including vivid colour schemes and patterns.

Melanie Thompson has made basket bowls by weaving her baskets onto cedar bark bases and enjoys exploring with a variety of materials.

The Salt Spring Island Basketry Guild has grown to include 56 members since its inception in 1997.

Initiating workshops, gathering of materials, and planning of special events has provided an impetus which has greatly stimulated the development of guild members and led to several special recognitions and requests for displays of work in Vancouver and throughout the province.

Latin 'star' on stage

Eliana Cuevas, a Venezuelan-born and Canadian-based singer-songwriter and band leader, will bring her quintet to ArtSpring on Friday, August 6 for an evening of Latin American music.

A student of music in Venezuela, she continued her studies at the University of Toronto and has performed with a variety of Latin-jazz, reggae, Latin-folk, salsa, samba and flamenco artists.

As a songwriter, she draws from every style that she has practised with a diversity that reflects Cuba and Brazil as well as Venezuela and North America.

Fluent in at least half a dozen Latin American musical forms, her music reflects themes of family, death, love, betrayal and friendship in Spanish, Portuguese and English.

As winner of the 2003 "Vocal Artist of the Year — Latin American Achievement Awards Canada," Cuevas appears to be a rising star of Latin American music in Canada.

Her second CD, called Ventura, was completed earlier this year.

Cuevas will be visiting Salt Spring amidst her summer tour of festivals and other shows across British Columbia this summer.

Touring with the vocalist is Luis Guerra on piano, Goerge Koller on bass and Luis Orbegoso and Daniel Stone on percussion.

The Eliana Cuevas Quintet performs for ArtSpring's Sizzling Summer Nights festival beginning at 8 p.m.

DUO: Don Erhardt and Thorn Adkin of Fretwork play the Tree House Café this Saturday and Sunday.

Fretwork set to gently rock café

Memorable evenings await the music lover this weekend at the Tree House Café in Ganges as Fretwork returns following a notable one-nighter at the café in 2003.

With an eclectic meld of sources from Ellington to Waits, Fretwork is two musical devotees "gently rockin' on the blue side of jazz," says a press release.

Fretwork plays Saturday and Sunday night beginning at 7 p.m.

Don Erhardt's textural approach to electric guitar and harmonica, along with Thom Adkin's timbral vocals and finger-style acoustic guitar heighten the senses.

Erhardt has been playing guitar and harmonica professionally since 1984 and years of touring as a solo act have honed his skills of delivery — whether it's chordal vamps, stinging leads, buttery slide work or soulful harmonica bends.

His yearning for a deeper understanding of music led to Grant McEwan Community College, where he earned a diploma in Jazz Performance. According to Erhardt, "meeting Thom was like putting paint to canvas."

Raised on swing music, Adkins took up a percussive finger style and developed his own take on the jazz and blues genre.

Working predominantly house gigs in British Columbia, Quebec, and Ontario, Thom mines an eclectic repertoire. He brings strong melodic impressions influenced by Tom Waits, Steely Dan, Bruce Cockburn and Joni Mitchell.

Folk trio on tap at festival

The Filippo Gambetta Trio will be weaving musical magic at Lions Hall on Thursday, July 29 at the final event of the Salt Spring Festival of the Arts.

Hailing from the Italian city of Genoa, Filippo Gambetta is a young diatonic accordion genius whose music ambles from the Mediterranean to points far beyond.

According to festival organizers, he is the composer and performer of glorious and lyrical music based in tradition and drawing from other worlds, from classical to global.

Filippo will be accompanied by Michel Balatti on wooden flute and Claudio De Angeli on guitar as they take the audience on a voyage of folk and fusion.

Tickets for the concert are $15 and available at Acoustic Planet, with the show starting at 8 p.m.

Butterfly Effect instigates some pretty deep questions

The Butterfly Effect stars Ashton Kutcher as a troubled university student named Evan who discovers he has the ability to make short jumps back into his own past.

He attempts to use this power to "fix" some of the more unfortunate events of his life (and that of his loved ones), but finds that a single change of the past leads to an unavoidable reassembling of his current life.

As a mainstream film, The Butterfly Effect (at first glance) appears to wear its scientific paradoxes on its sleeve. The title refers to the now cliché notion found in chaos theory that a butterfly flapping its wings can set about a chain of events that leads to a typhoon halfway across the world.

It's not hard to see how this is reflected in the film, so you'd think that everything will be wrapped up in a neat little ending with a easily-digestible message like "don't mess with the past." But there are several clues that suggest that things are not as simple as they seem.

FLICK PICK
WITH JASON TUDOR

One scene brings up the idea that the effects aren't random and might be at least partially dictated by God, while another seems to suggest that Evan's plight is repeating itself much like the Buddhist notion of a soul seeking to escape the cycle of reincarnation in order to find nirvana.

Meanwhile, if Evan is actually changing the past each time he goes back, how is he remembering events from one timeline to another? At times, it seems like his personality actually changes but the film never makes an overt claim that this is so.

Most curious is how what appear to be multiple timelines actually combine to form one single timeline, almost like Evan is actually living out an entire life each and every occasion he makes a jump backward. When one factors in that his ability may actually be hereditary, it becomes hard to tell what's real and what's not.

Just how long has this been going on? And is he the only person playing the game?

Perhaps this is why many viewers are finding The Butterfly Effect strangely, almost compellingly, disturbing. It appears mainstream and simplistic, but its very subject matter opens up an existential can of worms that can't help but point at some pretty deep questions. Call it the Butterfly Effect-Effect.

Voyeurism and the senses seep from Macdonalds' Mountain Park artwork

Nestled in cool green forest is a studio/gallery ablaze with colour and the voluptuousness of paint application.

ART BEAT ON THE ROCK

WITH ANDREA RABINOVITCH

Mountain Park studio/gallery, situated at 125 Teal Place, is the exclusive Salt Spring home for the work of artists John Macdonald and Patricia Murphy Macdonald. John's work is shown in seven galleries across Canada and in New York City's prestigious The Forum Gallery and Patricia's is shown in Toronto.

His large (56 X 66-inch) oils are a series of swim-suited people or nudes grouped together in relationships that question their intimacy. A sense of voyeurism through figures that watch objectifies their relationships and engages the viewer to realize they too are voyeurs. That the watchers are not always obvious makes the work even more interesting.

A fine painter, John's work vibrates with energy while the concepts are once removed — a fascinating dichotomy. The physicality and sense of movement of the paint on canvas, and the sheer size of the work, plays against the very reserved notion of not joining in but watching others engaged in living.

Patricia's art delves into the senses. Realized with cool clear precision in the still life paintings' placement of the objects, the brushwork is more impressionistic and she works in smaller proportions.

Her picnic series looks at the sensual experience of a picnic, referring to the art of 20th-century Impressionists like Manet, while cataloguing the parts of the whole. By deconstructing the elements of the picnic, we see objects highlighted on plates juxtaposed against nature.

Two separate paintings, one of a trout on a plate, the other of a field of grass, stimulates intellectually to clue into the differences: the smell of the fish versus the smell of a field. Once one sense kicks in, the others follow with a sense of delight and the experience of looking at her art is complete.

The studio/gallery is open most afternoons from 11 to 5. For certainty, call for an appointment at 537-9346.

Bill Boyd

Influenced by the Scandinavian aesthetic favouring simplicity and clean lines, and the Asian pottery tradition using classic glazes like celadon, chun, shino and more, Bill Boyd's pottery show at J. Mitchell Gallery is exceptional.

In 2002 the Galiano Island artist became obsessed with zinc-silicate crystal glazes. Relatively new glazes with few examples before the 20th century, crystals are formed in the glaze in a chemical reaction during cooling. Glaze composition, firing schedule and glaze thickness makes different colours and forms. The results, though difficult to achieve, are exquisite.

The crystals play on the surface of the porcelain pots like butterflies and snowflakes in a maelstrom of union. The colours of the background and the crystals are both subtle and deep. Large yet thinly thrown porcelain shapes strike a chord with their simplicity and beauty.

This show is a must see for pottery and art lovers alike. It runs until August 12.

Concordiae singers grace Music & Munch stage

In May of last year, 40 senior members of the Surrey Children's Choir performed in concert at All Saints By-the-Sea to a very enthusiastic audience.

Next Wednesday, August 4, Music and Munch is presenting 11 of those singers who have since formed themselves into an independent choral group named Concordiae Chorus.

Concordiae's members, aged 15-18, have received extensive training in a wide variety of vocal techniques through their experience with the Surrey Choir under the direction of Stephen Horning.

Through their many volunteer community performances, this young group of singers has become well known throughout South Surrey and White Rock, appearing at Rotary Club events, retirement homes, dinners for the homeless, church services, local malls and businesses.

The group participated in this May's Fraser Valley Kiwanis Festival, earning a "silver" in the category of Vocal Jazz. Throughout all this musical activity they sang regularly with the main Surrey Children's Choir, kept up their scholastic commitments and somehow found the time to record two CDs.

In mid-June Concordiae performed in a standing-room-only, first-year anniversary concert at Sunnydale United Church.

Giving half of their proceeds to the church, they still raised enough money to fund a third CD.

Their free performance at All Saints begins at 12:10 p.m. and is followed by an optional delicious lunch for $5.50.

South-end hall set for fifth Art Now exhibit

Both visitors and the art-loving community on Salt Spring will be happy to know that the south-end art show that earned rave reviews is back again this summer.

"Lovely atmosphere and totally enjoyable," and, "I can't leave the same" were some of the remarks from the last Art Now show in November.

Jackie Walker and co-organizer Carola Heydemann are excited about this summer's show and sale — the fifth one titled Art Now.

The creative duo are known for the wonderful job they do, putting all the pieces of work together into a creative, fluid display, which is really a work of art in itself.

"The Beaver Point Hall offers a very enjoyable opportunity to view art," says Heydemann. "It's easy to imagine how the pieces would look in your home because the hall has such a comfortable, home-evoking ambiance."

The show consists of "very fresh" work from an array of talented local artists and craftspeople, including "closet artists" who don't often show their creations in a gallery setting.

Walker also likes to encourage young people, who may be shy of approaching a gallery, to include their work in the show.

You can expect the hall to be filled with sculpture, photography, woodwork, pottery, weaving, painting and more.

There will also be dinner available on Friday evening, from 6-9, complete with scrumptious entrees and delectable desserts by Sabrosa Café. They will also serve light food and hot and cold refreshments for the duration of the show.

Art Now V is opening Thursday, July 29 at 6 p.m. and runs until August 3, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

ONE OF SEVEN: Salt Spring artist Karen Reiss and her clay sculpture works are part of the Pieces of Seven multi-artist exhibit at ArtSpring until July 31. Also featured is a collaborative work by all seven participating artists, titled Harmony in Diversity, which is being sold by silent auction.

Award-winning Moberg plays at United Church

Salt Spring's own Alan Moberg will share his "creative gratitude" for a Western Canadian lifestyle when he performs at the United Church on Sunday night.

Moberg, a British Columbia troubadour, says that "he has lived the West Coast experience to the fullest and his songs convey his love and attachment to the great spaces and unforgettable people of his home turf."

Moberg does for B.C.'s interior ranchland and coastal rainforest what Ian Tyson does for Alberta cow country and Stan Rogers did for the Great Lakes, says a press release about the show.

"His songs paint musical scenes of good times and troubles, loves and laughter which people recognize as their own. For over 30 years, this songwriter and performer has shared his creative gratitude for a Western Canadian lifestyle."

The winner of three B.C. Country Music Association awards, Moberg will perform songs from his three CDs: Song for the Life, Home and Dry, and Northern Love.

Moberg's August 1 concert begins at 7:30 p.m.

Art show opens August 1

Five local artists examine depictions of women in the Point of View art show, which runs from 2 to 5 p.m. throughout August at the barn on South Ridge Road.

The downstairs gallery focusses on motherhood, as Karen Day, Stefanie Denz and Diana Dean consider what it means to be both artist and mother.

Kathy Venter's works contrast reproductive choices of two young women, while Dennis O'Connor's drawings show the relationship between a mother and her baby.

O'Connor and Venter share upstairs gallery space for further displays.

Blithe Spirit back for three shows

Following initial performances staged earlier in July, the final three dates for Blithe Spirit at Festival Artspring are July 29, 30, 31.

Presented by Graffiti Theatre Company, Blithe Spirit drew an enthusiastic response after its first week of shows.

"Exceptional acting and direction by Burton Lancaster summons Noel Coward's delightful drawing-room comedy to full cocktail-hour exuberance," wrote the Driftwood's Mitchell Sherrin.

The Graffiti cast includes Marek Wiedman, Amanda Spottiswoode, Eileen Barrett, Yvonne Adalian, Ann Stewart and Alan Clews.

Shows begin at 8 p.m. Blithe Spirit presents a thumbing of the nose at death and a playful look at spirits who remain stubbornly human.

Mystery author Charles Condomine invites a psychic to his country home for a séance in order to research his latest book about a homicidal medium. His research backfires when the ghost of his former wife, Elvira, appears. As Charles is the only person able to see her, sparks soon fly between him and his present wife, especially as Elvira is determined to get Charles to herself forever.

As the plot thickens, more séances are performed, unwanted psychic forces are released and mayhem rules.

Playwright Noel Coward was born in 1899 in Teddington, Middlesex, England. Coward had no more than a few years of elementary school education. Even so, by early adulthood he was internationally recognized as the personification of wit and sophistication.

Successful as a composer, lyricist, actor, singer, director, novelist, playwright, and painter, he was one of the premiere figures of an era that desperately needed his laughter and charm.

Director Burton Lancaster, originally from England where he directed plays in the West End of London before coming to Canada, has founded theatres across the country, including Stage "C" at Confederation Centre in P.E.I. and Magnus Theatre in Thunder Bay. He has directed three different productions of Blithe Spirit over the years in theatres across Canada.

Tickets are $20 and available at the ArtSpring box office 537-2102.

Hikes of all levels of ease and ability found on Salt Spring

From the leisure walker to the seasoned trekker, the shoreline trails and tree-lined paths of Salt Spring Island offer hikes for all abilities.

According to Charles Kahn's 2004 edition of Hiking the Gulf Islands, Salt Spring boasts 15 scenic hikes of varying degrees of difficulty.

The easy trails at Duck Creek are perfect for nature lovers and casual walkers, says Kahn. From Sunset Drive east to Broadwell Road, the 45-minute stroll follows the creek through the forest, with rest stops and viewpoints along the way.

Ruckle Park, located at the southeast tip of the island, offers 15 kilometres of diverse trails. These easy-to-moderate paths take trekkers past historic farm buildings, towering trees and seven kilometres of shoreline. Hikers can enjoy the mixed forest of maple, arbutus, Garry oak and some of the largest Douglas fir trees on the island.

"Hikers can enjoy the mixed forest of maple, arbutus, Garry oak and some of the largest Douglas fir trees on the island"

The moderate trails in Mount Maxwell Provincial Park bring hikers to Baynes Peak overlooking Fulford Valley, which is considered one of the finest views on Salt Spring.

There are two trails to choose from in the 199-hectare park, either through second-growth Douglas fir forest or past giant cedar trees and swordferns.

Andreas Vogt Nature Reserve was donated to the Salt Spring Island Conservancy in 2002 by Cordula Vogt and Oda Nowrath. The nature reserve offers four kilometres of moderate hiking past arbutus and endangered Garry oak habitats.

On Sunday mornings throughout the summer, the conservancy runs two-and-a-half hour guided tours, highlighting the historical uses of plants, flowers and trees in the area.

Burgoyne Bay Provincial Park houses about 20 kilometres of moderate-to-strenuous trails.

Some paths follow both sides of the shoreline, while others climb Mount Sullivan and Mount Maxwell.

The seven-kilometre Hope Hill trails, accessible from the west side of Musgrave Road, lead hikers through a fir and cedar forest with views of Mount Baker, Fulford Harbour and the other Gulf Islands. Kahn rates the hike as "strenuous" due to its steep inclines.

Another more difficult trail takes hikers on a steep climb up Mount Erskine through arbutus groves, accessible from the east side of Collins Road. Miniature elfin doors sit in front of large rocks and tree stumps in parts of this two-and-a-half-kilometre path, installed anonymously in recent years.

For more information about hiking opportunities on Salt Spring Island, consult Kahn's outdoor guidebook.

Savory Selections

If you love good food, whether it's in the elegant surroundings of a fine dining room, at a funky restaurant that serves up great live entertainment, on a scenic patio on a warm summer's evening, by candlelight at an intimate table for two, or a picnic with family and friends at any one of the fabulous outdoor vistas this island is famous for, you're sure to find the perfect menu to suit. Salt Spring is home to a terrific range of food growers, brewers and wineries, coffee houses, bakeries, pizzerias, restaurateurs and chefs, all passionate about offering only the best. Fresh seafood, organic produce, International cuisine, hearty pub fare: whether you're a visitor to Salt Spring or have lived here for years, you can be sure to find something delectable to eat, in just the right setting, whatever and whenever your appetite demands.

You can start the day sipping rich, frothy coffee, sampling freshly baked goodies and lazing in the sunshine, or treat yourself to an all-the-trimmings breakfast before heading out onto the water or for a day's hike or bicycle ride. If you'll be off the beaten-track for the day, don't forget to stock up on provisions for lunchtime. The local grocery stores offer the finest in Island-grown and produced fruit and vegetables, luscious cheeses, and delicious, wholesome Deli and bakery items. The island's pubs and restaurants have lunch menus and featured specials, so if it's a light, flavourful meal or heart-warming grub you're after, you can be sure it will be tantalizingly prepared, Salt Spring style. Or why not try an ethnic dish? Spicy

Salt Spring is the best place for family gatherings, from elegant dinners to outdoor picnics. No matter what time of year, fabulous food is easily found.

Thai, delicate sushi, or a Mexican feast: it can all be found right here.

And of course, any time is a good time to indulge in real Italian gelato or handmade chocolates, manufactured right here on the island.

Evenings are the busiest time, especially in the summer, so it can be a good idea to reserve a table, particularly if you want to sample the menu prepared by one of the Island's world-class chefs. Seafood features prominently, caught locally and exquisitely served. Island-made and award-winning beers and wines are also available, the perfect complement to your meal. Many restaurants and pubs offer live entertainment by local performers, and all pride themselves on the variety, freshness and creativity of the food they serve.

Whatever your choice, you're sure to enjoy the very best in dining, complete with the warm, friendly service Salt Spring Island is famous for.

One photographer brings nature into her home and takes pictures of it without using a camera.

Another leaves what is arguably the most scenic area of Canada and travels the world looking to record nature at its most dramatic.

Both have one thing in common — Salt Spring Island.

With 19 other photographers from Salt Spring, they will display their work at ArtSpring in an exhibit called Photo-Secession IV, opening Sunday, August 1 and continuing until August 22.

According to a press release, the show's name derives from a movement in the early 1900s which took photography away from the influences of painting, towards its natural aesthetic — reality.

Featured photographers include Janet Dwyer who, for the past three years, has been constructing photographs without using a camera.

Flowers are suspended above a flatbed scanner and scanned into her computer.

The resulting images are merged to make photographs life-sized and so detailed and translucent they appear more real than the real thing.

Steven Friedman flies to far corners of the world and hikes into the wilderness looking for a perfect shot of the sun rising above a range of mountains, resulting in stunning panoramas that are three feet by five feet.

Eric Klemm came to Salt Spring to paint after a 30-year career photographing for the best magazines in Germany and has been an Art Directors of New York award winner.

Howard Fry, Michael Levy, and Osman Phillips are well known on Salt Spring Island.

Their collaboration this year in publishing the book, Salt Spring: The People, the Place, which combines images of the island's scenery and the people, has resulted in a best-seller in local book stores.

Photographers in the show are: Alane Lalonde, Ann Holt, Billie Woods, Birgit Bateman, David Borrowman, Diana Hayes, Eric Klemm, Howard Fry, Janet Dwyer, Seth Berkowitz, John Cameron, John Denniston, June Boe, Kevin Steinke, Kim Kornbacher, Lisa Cherneff, Michael Levy, Osman Phillips, Ron Watts, Steven Friedman and Treana Norrish.

6 DEATHS

LOUISE (ALLISON) SUMNER. Allison (nee Bentley) Sumner passed away peacefully at the age of 87 in Lady Minto Hospital on Tues. July 20th, surrounded by family. A wonderful mother and wife she will be sadly missed. Allison was born in Westlock, Alberta, April 30, 1917. She graduated from Vermillion School of Agriculture in 1939 in Home Economics. She became employed by Tremco Manufacturing in Toronto as their product quality controller. She married Melville Edward Sumner in Toronto, Oct. 6, 1942. Together they raised four children, a task which she took very seriously and to which she devoted her full time until all were independent. She re-entered the business world in Calgary, selling real estate and then with Woodwards and Sears in North Vancouver. Allison was an excellent spinner, weaver, and seamstress, having held memberships in those clubs in Mississauga, North Vancouver and SSI. She loved gardening, the Island lifestyle and her many friends on Salt Spring. She is survived by her husband, Mel, their four children, Sharon (Dan Bell), Murray (Kay), Greg (Col), Colleen (Kevin Edstrom), her brother David Bentley of Edmonton and sister Shirley MacDonald of Salt Spring and twelve grandchildren and nine Great Grandchildren, all of whom loved to share happy times with her playing the piano when visiting-- an accomplishment she learned by herself without reading music. She was predeceased by her mother and father, Grace & Arthur Bentley, of Westlock, and a younger sister Mary Stibbards of Salt Spring. The family are most appreciative of the wonderful comfort and services that Dr. Woodley and the staff at Lady Minto Hospital provided. Any memorial donations may be directed to The Lady Minto Hospital Foundation. A Memorial celebration of Allison's life was held at Ganges United Church on Saturday July 24th.

FRED BROADBENT
1924 - 2004.

He loved to laugh, golf and bowl. Without a doubt, a happy old soul. Hotcakes, sailing and cards with friends. He was a character to the very end. We'll miss you and your zest for life. Rest in Peace. Love, Connie, Myles and Family, Roxanne and Steve Colleen and Allen. Donations to heart and stroke appreciated.

8 CARD OF THANKS

I WISH to thank the many, many friends who sent cards, flowers and other messages about Manson. He would have been astonished, even as I am grateful for so much caring. Mary T. MY SINCERE thanks to all those who sent cards, flowers and condolences after the sudden passing of Marge Byron, wife, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother. Special thanks to my nine children who pulled together so lovingly to give her a beautiful memorial. Terry Byron.

This Week's Horoscope

Tip of the Week:

July 26 marks the Mayan New Year! July 25 is the Mayan "Day Out Of Time" celebration. These dates indicate the alignment of the Sun with Sirius, otherwise known as the Dog Star in the constellation of Orion. While the Mayan Calendar is not very popular in the world, it is increasingly so especially starting about ten years ago. Furthermore, the indications from the Mayan Dreamspell calendar do have remarkable correspondences with actual experiences and events in people's lives. Last year, starting from July 26, 2003 we had the "White Spectral Wizard", which was, basically, about learning to get out of our own way. This includes: stripping away the past to make way for the new; healing imbalances; integrating past cycles with current cycles. Due to the "Seed" Wavespell, this cycle included cultivating sexual maturity, learning how to harness and channel the energy and to release limiting relationships and relationship patterns and acknowledge the role of chaos within nature. Many relationships will have deepened and/or ended during this cycle. As dramatic as this cycle was, there are strong indications that things could get much more dramatic and exciting this year. This year's New Year message and theme is about a much more collective awakening as the "Blue Crystal Storm" influences the collective psyche. The overall theme is much more dramatic on collective levels and will call for cooperation in all senses of the word. Some feel that major earth changes are likely. Tune in next week for more insight on this topic.

Aries (Mar 21 - Apr 20)
Despite some lingering fears and doubts close to the home front, the summer fun is really beginning to escalate for you. As long as you are embracing the flow of change in your life things should be flowing smoothly. The past does not equal the future so do not allow memories of experiences you would rather forget blind you to the opportunities in the moment. This is a good time to brainstorm for creative and practical ideas. Allow for constructive criticism!

Taurus (Apr 21 - May 20)
Nurturing your creative passions is in the spotlight this week. You will want to be close to home for the next few weeks to be able to tend to projects, hobbies and family fun. While doing some major renovations are likely, ideally you will not spend all your time doing that. Outline a plan and/or sketch your designs for best results. The more flexible and versatile you can be during this period the better. Avoid perfectionism and/or excess criticism with yourself and others now. Play!

Gemini (May 21 - Jun 20)
You are in an especially curious and perhaps flirtatious mood. You are at least eager to go shopping. However, you are also in a meticulous mood and are in no mood to compromise. You may negotiate for a better deal. Your world is changing and each new day holds many surprises. You might as well expect the unexpected all summer, at least. You are secretly exploring hidden aspects of yourself, whether you know it or not! You are seeking true security.

Cancer (Jun 21 Jul 21)
Generating practical business ideas, making key contacts and investigating where and how to make sound investments are all themes running through your mind. You may consider merging your talents, assets and resources with those of others, but will proceed cautiously at first. Take an experiential experimental approach where you can without making big promises or commitments. Get ready for a lot of correspondences and short trips over the next few weeks.

Leo (Jul 22 - Aug 21)
With the Sun now in your sign your pioneering and leadership powers are available for all to see. At best, you will express an assertive approach and, at worst, aggressive. You are eager to organize a practical and effective strategy. This may include making a list of all of your talents, skills, resources and possessions. You are eager to clear the old to make way for the new. Meeting new people and establishing a larger circle of connections is high on the list as well.

Virgo (Aug 22 - Sep 23)
A time of retreat and/or work behind the scenes is now in focus. Changes on relationship fronts continue to rumble and you may need a break from it all. Fortunately, your courage is high even though your willpower may seem at an all time low. This will change soon, so hang in there. Besides, your mind and critical analysis abilities are running strong. This is a good time to learn and/or teach new skills. Pay attention to the details, but do not overdo it!

Libra (Sep 23 - Oct 21)
Fun and games with friends new and old is now a main theme. With the summer season here, is there a better time to party? Meanwhile, you feel bold and are in the mood to tempt fate, at least a little. You are ready for change in your overall lifestyle and may even consider making a move to another place. However, little if anything will be very clear for the next few weeks. Double-check all details. Entertain new prospects without attachment. Commitments will deepen in several months.

Scorpio (Oct 22 - Nov 20)
As far as making important moves and decisions goes, now is the time. This is a good time to approach authority figures for well-earned rewards and favours. You feel strong and with focus and determination, you can achieve a lot over the next month or so. Do you homework now and you can play and rest more in a month's time. Meanwhile, the stars say that you could soon experience some exciting romance. Good luck balancing work and play.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 - Dec 20)
You are finally out of Scorpio's lair; well, almost anyway! With all the Leo energies going strong now, you should be able to feel a lot happier about things. You may want to take full advantage of the energy and push for what you want. However, push yourself and avoid pushing others against their will. This is the time to lead by example. Improvements of one kind or another are likely. Pay attention to the details and be realistic in your approach.

Capricorn (Dec 21 - Jan 19)
Merging your skills and assets with those of others continues as a central theme. This may well include business and possibly romance too. This is a good time to exercise constructive criticism and sound judgment; however, avoid being judgmental or critical for its own sake. You may be more afraid to make commitments than you realize and this could be the source of brooding and negativity. Intend to let your special qualities shine. Acknowledge your need for love!

Aquarius (Jan 20 - Feb 19)
With relationships highlighted now, fun in the sun and romance are good possibilities. You are probably more ready for intimacy and close companionship than you would like to admit. You will probably want to outline terms of the agreement. Seeing beyond the blinding lights of love is important to you. However, you are in the mood to play. Meanwhile, investigations into how to create a healthier livelihood are likely. This is also a good time to let go of old approaches and learn new skills.

Pisces (Feb 20 - Mar 20)
For you, love is a central theme and a full-time job! You are willing to make extra efforts these days to realize your dreams and goals. You are also eager to exercise a critical approach to make sure everything is as good as it can be. You would like to work and play more harmoniously with your partner. Expressing your most heartfelt feelings is likely. Ideally, these will be laced with poetry as opposed to drama and charged emotions. Keep your love ideals close to earth!

The INSIDE STORY

Curves celebrates 1st anniversary

Sara Smith
 "At Curves you build up your self-esteem while working on your outside."

Ethel Fraser
 "I like Curves for building bone density and strength, plus losing weight and inches."

Barb Wellman
 "The 'travel pass' makes it easy to stay in shape while travelling."

Many of us - particularly if we're women - tell ourselves we need to join a fitness club for a host of negative reasons (we don't like our appearance, we're tired of being overweight, we can't keep up with people younger than ourselves), and then wonder why we don't have much motivation actually to sign-up. Women with households to keep and busy working lives have no shortage of 'good' reasons for feeling too frazzled to spend one more ounce of energy in their average day, let alone work up a sweat - even when they tell themselves they 'should'. And of course, many of us harbour the secret belief that we have to be toned to perfection before they'll let us through the door of a fitness club.

Needless to say, we have some strange ideas about what it means to be fit and healthy. We think that to be fit means to be supermodel thin, when in fact a woman can be voluptuous and fit at the same time. We think that exercise takes energy away from us, when in fact it energizes and enlivens us. Worst of all, we think that fitness clubs are necessarily unfriendly and intimidating places, and while this last might be true of some facilities, the first thing you'll discover when you visit Curves for the first time is that you're valued and welcome just as you are.

If you've forgotten the positive reasons for joining a fitness club, you'll very quickly find them out at Salt Spring Island's Curves. Curves has been providing island women with an inspiring, empowering and genuinely welcoming fitness and weight loss centre since August 2003. Owners Dona Billingsley and Glen Johnson, club manager Cheryl Leukefeld, and staff Barbara Federici, Beverly Gurski, Marina Roland, Kristi Spencer and Laurie Poulsen, believe that belonging to a health and fitness club should be something that makes women feel great about themselves!

Like the name suggests, Curves is a fitness facility just for women, and it supports women of all shapes and sizes. Beauty doesn't come in just one model, and health is something women are entitled to define and create on their own terms. Curves provides women with a friendly, fun, encouraging atmosphere, and it's open to all ages. Here on Salt Spring, the youngest member to date is fourteen, and the oldest eighty-five. The fitness routine takes just 30 minutes, but these 30 minutes offer tremendous benefits in terms of overall fitness, energy levels and feeling of well-being. Curves is a great place to escape to if you're feeling in need of a boost. There's a wonderful community of women members, who, through joining, have built strong friendships and taken part in a range of community events - from 10K runs to the Sea Capers Parade.

Says Cheryl, "Our club has become a social club for a lot of members - meeting new friends who have moved to the island and visitors from all over the world. We have a wonderful staff who are truly involved with all our members and consider them all to be friends. We have had many, many success stories. All of our members are truly inspiring with their motivation and commitment! Curves is the largest fitness facility for women in the world. Four million women can't be wrong. Come in and see for yourself!"

Veronica Hylands
 "I enjoy the fun, non-competitive atmosphere at Curves."

Gretl Dobner
 "Curves helps keep me fit and flexible."

Cheryl Leukefeld, Manager, and Curves staff

Brenda Opel
 "I go for the exercise and enjoy the social contact."

Come celebrate our success with some of your own.

We're celebrating our 1st anniversary.

That's how long we've been helping women in our community achieve their fitness goals. And there's a lot of success to celebrate! So stop in and join us for games, prizes and fun at our Open House. It's time to have a success story of your own.
